NO. 248—SEVENTY-SECOND YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, SEPTEMBER 27, 1930 | TWENTY PAGES

$4,000,000 TO BE SPENT BY OTTAWA IN DIRECT RELIEF

One-Fifth of Emergency Vote Will Be Allocated to Extreme Needs

WILL CONTRIBUTE TO MUNICIPAL WORK

Machinery for the Administration of $20,000,000 Fund Set Up by Gov't

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—Now that the Dominion Cabinet has definitely decided to what undertaking the $20,000,000 voted at the special session of Parliament for unemployment relief is to be applied, the next question for decision appears to be the apportionment of the fund among the provinces.

Announcement was made today that $4,000,000 is to be employed in direct relief, and that the Government is prepared to share the cost of public works undertaken by municipalities throughout the Dominion.

MANITOBA'S NEED

Premier John Bracken, of Manitoba, is expected to reach Ottawa tomorrow to describe the programme of public works contemplated in his province and the amount needed for direct relief. Deputations are also on the way to the capital from Alberta, Ontario and New Brunswick to speak for those provinces.

No definite scheme of division as between provinces has been laid down, it is understood, and the amount expended in each section of the country will probably depend on the local situation.

AVAILABLE AT ONCE

The maximum set aside for direct relief is $4,000,000. While early expectations were that it would only be expended as a last resort in localities where suitable work could not be found for the unemployed, later indications are that the situation is pressing in many places and that a portion of the fund at least will be made available almost at once. This portion of the $20,000,000 is to pay one-third of the expenditures of municipalities for direct relief and one-half of the cost in unorganized districts.

DIVISION OF FUND

From the balance of the fund provision is made for the Minister of Labor to enter into agreements with the provinces to pay one-fourth of the cost of public works undertaken by municipalities for alleviation of unemployment. The balance is to be borne one-fourth by the province and half by the municipality. Where municipalities find themselves unable to bear one-half the cost, provision is made to vary the terms of the agreement so

VANCOUVER IS PLEASED WITH RELIEF PLAN

Mayor Malkin Says Government Proposals Framed in Statesmanlike Way

REQUESTS REFUND FROM GOVERNMENT

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26.—"Generally speaking, the terms of relief laid down by the Dominion seem at first glance to be eminently fair and workable," Mayor Malkin stated today after perusing the regulations in connection with the administration of the unemployment fund created at the recent session of Parliament.

"They have, I think, met a very difficult position in a wise, broad, statesmanlike way. We shall know more about the details when we come to work them out."

PROVINCIAL CASES

Dealing particularly with Vancouver, the Mayor said: "When I saw Dr. Tolmie, the provincial Premier, last Sunday, I pointed out to him that no matter what British Columbia's share of the $20,000,000 would be, I wanted him to remember that the City of Vancouver had borne, and was bearing, 80 per cent of the unemployment problem of the province, and that therefore, in apportioning the amount of the grant the Dominion Government made to the province, he should bear that ratio in mind.

British Financiers Announce Demands For Aid of Industry

LONDON, Sept. 26. — The political programme of a strong group of financiers, headed by Sir William Morris, British automobile manufacturer, was laid down at a public meeting. It is summed up by the three demands, protection of industry, drastic reduction of taxation and a common Empire fiscal system. The group includes Lord Melchett, Sir Hugo Hirst, Sir Hugo Cunliffe-Owen and other leading industrialists.

U.S. TARIFFS BLAMED FOR TRADE DROP

Democratic Leader Says Exports Will Show Billion-Dollar Decline

PREDICTS POLICIES OF RETALIATORY NATURE

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 26.—Europe, with her industries rehabilitated, with the agriculture of Dominions and Colonies well organized, is in a position to make retaliatory policies against the United States tariff effective. So declared Representative John Garner, of Texas, Democratic leader of the House of Representatives, in his address last night.

Roundly blaming the Hoover administration and the Republican party for conditions in the United States, Representative Garner accepted the challenge of Representative William Wood, of Indiana, chairman of the Republican Congressional committee, to fight the Fall elections on the tariff issues.

TRADE LOSS IS HEAVY

"During the first seven months of this year," he said, "the exports of the United States decreased more than $670,000,000, indicating that the decrease will reach the total of $1,000,000,000 before January next.

"It is natural," he continued, "for the business interests of any nation to refuse to buy the products of another nation which raised an embargo against the products of their country."

Industry, he said, had fared no better than agriculture. Canadian purchases of American cars during the first seven months of the year totaled 14,700 as compared with 35,000 during the corresponding period in the previous year. The Republican party could not evade or shift responsibility for present conditions, Representative Garner said, although Republican spokesmen were endeavoring to do so.

Alberta Bank Robbed Of $1,400 by Bandits

LETHBRIDGE, Sept. 26.—At 1 p.m. today two masked men held up the Bank of Nova Scotia at Queenstown and escaped with $1,400. There were four clerks in the bank at the time, whom the bandits tied with rope. The bandits were armed with sawed-off shotguns and escaped in an automobile.

FEAR RETURN OF HAPSBURG HEIR

Fall of Schober's Government May Be Part of Monarchist Plot

VIENNA, Sept. 26.—Fears that an attempt will be made to restore the Hapsburg monarchy were expressed today by various Austrian leaders.

The press bureau of the powerful Farmers' Party issued a warning that the fall of Chancellor Johann Schober's Government yesterday was manoeuvred by former Chancellor Ignaz Seipel as a preliminary threat in a monarchist plot.

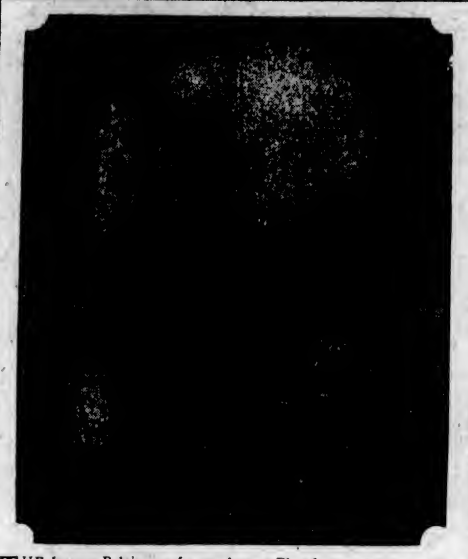

Karl Vaugoin, who was vice-chancellor under Schober; also gave cognizance to talk of a legitimist movement when he addressed a large meeting of railway employees last night.

It is known that certain circles in Vienna are constantly in communication with the former Empress Zita, the Hungarian legitimists and the Bavarian monarchists. Ex-Chancellor Seipel has been recalled from Oslo, and some observers believe he is destined to resume an important role in Austrian politics.

SILESIAN DIET DISSOLVED

WARSAW, Poland, Sept. 26.—The local Silesian Diet has been dissolved and six deputies, including Adelbert Korfanty, Nationalist leader, have been arrested.

To Seek "Stratosphere"

THE famous Belgian professor, August Picard, contemplates a flight into the "stratosphere." He will use this specially constructed globe-like balloon, with a cabin full of scientific instruments, for he intends to ascend to a height never before attained by man—over 50,000 feet towards the firmament.

British Press Is Gloomy in Regard To Empire Meeting

London Weekly Reviews Stress That Equality of Dominions Should Be Demonstrated by Helpful and Constructive Endeavors

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Most of the English weekly reviews devote considerable space to discussing the Imperial Conference, and a theme common to most of the reviews is that equal relationship being already a fact it now remains to be seen how the equality will be used.

"A common ideal will have to be regarded," says The Spectator, "as being immensely more important than any pedantic legislative conception. Any scheme of Imperial development representing the greatest measure of common agreement is bound to be largely a patchwork in which tariffs will play a part, though, we hope, not a predominant part."

PERMANENT STAFF

The Spectator believes the most crying need of the Imperial Conference is to have a permanent secretariat.

The Saturday Review describes the conference as meeting in an atmosphere of good will, though amid gloom and doubting expectation rather than definite hope. The omens, says The Review, are frankly unfavorable. The weekly goes on to say that the Canadian Premier, fresh from his victory at the polls, has replied to the United States tariff by fiscal action which will, no doubt, be effective on the land frontier of the Dominion but will incidentally, make the import of sea-borne British commerce more difficult.

ENGLISH-BRED STOCK ARRIVES AT VICTORIA

Consigned from the King's flocks at Sandringham, and from other titled estates in England, a shipment of purebred sheep arrived in Victoria yesterday aboard Ss. Pacific President, of the Furness Line.

The majority of the shipment, which comprises twenty-three head of sheep and one Red Poll bull, is for Vancouver Island Flockmasters' Association members, for farms in Saanich, Metchosin and at other points on the Island.

The animals will be taken off the boat at Vancouver, for the customary inspection on entry into Canada, and returned here later to be used as foundation stock. The movement was arranged with the co-operation of the Empire Marketing Board and the Department of Agriculture.

Cheviots, South Downs, Kerry Hill and other well known types of sheep are included in the blue ribbon consignment.

WILL CLASSIFY WATERED LANDS AFTER SURVEY

Federal and Provincial Governments Unite on Regrading Plan

TO DETERMINE SOIL AND CROP PROSPECTS

Under arrangement between the Federal and provincial authorities, reclassification of irrigated lands within the province will be effected after an intensive study of soil conditions and the suitability of the land for various purposes, it was announced yesterday by Hon. William Atkinson, Minister of Agriculture. The plan will affect 30,000 acres within the province, and the cost of the survey will be shared.

While Premier Tolmie was at Ottawa recently he took up the question of reclassification of irrigated lands in the province with a view to establishing their suitability for different crops, and their ability to produce returns from cultivation. As a result, assurance has now been received from the Federal Department of Agriculture that it will cooperate on a fifty-fifty basis with the Province in the institution of the necessary survey incidental to the reclassification of the land. The provincial Department of Agriculture, Mr. Atkinson continued, is now to proceed with the project by the carrying out of the investigation.

H. D. Twigg Discloses Shocking Conditions Under Liberal Administration

IGNORED PROTESTS OF COMPTROLLER

Also Questioned Sale of Queen Charlotte Islands Timber by T. D. Pattullo

IN plain, unvarnished language that elicited exclamations of surprise and ejaculations of indignation from the large attendance at the annual meeting of Ward Five Conservative Association last night, H. D. Twigg, M.P.P., disclosed something of the "story behind the Liberal administration of the Sumas reclamation project," which, originally planned to cost in the neighborhood of $1,000,000, aggregated an expenditure of roughly $4,000,000.

He charged that although hundreds of thousands of dollars were paid out in wages on the works no one was asked to sign payroll receipts; that repeated protests were made by the comptroller-general against the loose manner in which the business was being conducted, but that these protests were completely ignored, even when backed up by the deputy minister of public works. He described the whole affair as "nefarious" and declared that it should be the subject of full inquiry, as should also the sale of 60,000 acres of pulp timber on Queen Charlotte Islands by T. D. Pattullo as Minister of Lands.

He declared that the administration of Hon S. F. Tolmie had been too lenient in respect of these affairs, upon which the public should be informed.

Mr. Twigg's attack was occasioned by the remarks made by Hon. Ian Mackenzie in the House of Commons recently, when he characterized the Tolmie administration as "inept, extravagant and inefficient."

ANSWERS MACKENZIE

"I have been shown the Hansard report of Hon. Ian Mackenzie's speech in regard to the Tolmie Government," Mr. Twigg stated. "According to him it is most inept,

NATIONALISTS DRIVE REBELS ACROSS CHINA

Government Forces Expect Complete End to Civil War Shortly

ARE GAINING GROUND WITH GREAT RAPIDITY

NANKING, Sept. 26.—Nationalist troops, said Government dispatches tonight, smashingly defeated Northern Alliance rebels on a wide front in Honan Province, hurling them back into their base at Cheng Chow. End of the civil war, which, with it blood brothers, banditry and famine, has devastated China since May, was promised within a fortnight.

Headed by their president and generalissimo, Chiang Kai-Shek, the Nationalists plunged westward along the railroad from Kai-Feng, captured Wednesday. The demoralized insurgents gave way rapidly, but turned to fight a brief, sharp engagement in the environs of Cheng Chow before taking refuge behind the city's high walls.

IN HOT PURSUIT

Pursuing, the Nationalists hammered at the gates, while their airplanes dropped bombs on the rebels, with intent to drive them across the Yellow River, ten miles northward.

Feng Uy-Hsiang, rebel leader, defeated in batle by Government troops and disheartened by armed intervention of Chang Hueh-Liang, Manchurian dictator, was said to be planning retreat to mountains of Shansi Province.

There, it was believed, he would be safe from Nationalist pursuit and be able during the coming Winter to rest and reinforce his weary army for another descent next Spring upon whatever Governments may be in power.

NORTH COUNTRY MOVES QUICKLY

Moose Factory, Once Beyond Civilization, Will Soon Be Railway Terminus

CORRESPONDENT AMAZED

By CHARLES LYNCH
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—Only a few years ago three American balloonists were blown up to Moose Factory on James Bay, and the whole world thought they had drifted beyond civilization. As a matter of fact, they had. Moose Factory then contained nothing but snow, a Hudson Bay outpost, a few Indians and fur trappers.

Now the steel of the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway, owned by the Ontario Government, will be carried to Moose Factory by next August. The place is to be a railway terminus and a port that is to have a modern hotel with 200 rooms.

No part of the world moves faster than the North country. The Ontario Government's railway has opened up and developed resources of which past generations never dreamed. A hotel at Moose Factory! And when Kloor and Hinton and their companion came down in their balloon ten years ago they thought it was the end of the world.

Foreign Gov'ts Are Barred From Chicago Market

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The board of trade determined today to bar foreign governments from selling grain futures on its exchange.

Aroused by the short selling of wheat on the Chicago market by Soviet Russia, directors of the board ordered its business conduct committee to put an end to bear raids and price manipulations. The committee was advised that unduly large short sales might be regarded as prima facie evidence of manipulations distinguished from ordinary hedging sales.

POLICE CHECK RIOTS IN INDIA; SEVENTEEN DEAD

MEETING WAS HELD TO PROTEST CONFERENCE

BOMBAY, Sept. 26.—Seventeen persons were killed and fifty injured during a fight between a mob and police at Panval, forty miles from Bombay. An angry crowd clashed with a small police squad and on trying to quell the trouble the town magistrate and senior forest officer were killed. Police were forced to open fire, killing seventeen persons and injuring ten.

The Nationalists held a meeting in the Moslem quarter in demonstration against participation in the round-table conference, and a crowd of hostile Moslems gathered and stoned them.

The assailants became increasingly aggressive as the demonstrators began to disperse. The police charged with their lathis, or staves, but were said not to have inflicted any serious injuries.

IRISH AVIATRIX PLANS LONG HOP

LONDON, Sept. 26.—In spite of stern parental frowns, Mrs. Spencer Cleaver, daughter of Hugh M. Pollack, Deputy Prime Minister of Northern Ireland, will sail tomorrow for New York to attempt a transcontinental flight, starting October 12. She flew from London to Bagdad last year.

GOVERNMENT ROAD SCHEME AIDS FARMERS

Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe States Highway Policy Will Benefit Producer

EIGHTY PER CENT OF SUMAS LANDS SOLD

In a vigorous address in which he defended the Tolmie administration against the attacks of critics who had sought to belittle the efforts of the Government in its attempt to clear away some of what he termed "the messes of the late Liberal Government," Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, gave a resume of what the Government of British Columbia had already accomplished in rectifying the mistakes of the former Liberal administration in addressing members of the Ward Five Conservative Association at the annual meeting last night.

The minister discussed the Peace River Block and told of the details leading up to the return of the lands to the province. He explained the action taken by the present Government in connection with the "Sumas scandal." He dealt with the Government's road policy, the liquor situation, the school teachers' superannuation scheme and the three and four-year high school courses.

PEACE RIVER BLOCK

In his remarks concerning the Peace River, the minister declared he did not wish to create any impression that the late Government had not done anything in connection with the return of the lands to the province, but he instanced the terms which the Liberal ad-

Tribunals Have Been Appointed

OTTAWA, Sept. 26.—Appointments to the pensions tribunals, provided for under legislation passed at the last regular session of Parliament, were made at a Cabinet meeting this evening. The names of the appointees, however, were withheld until tomorrow, when the order-in-council will have been signed by the Governor-General.

The legislation, which was the subject of extensive investigation and consideration by a special committee of the House of Commons on returned soldiers' problems, provides for the setting up of machinery to afford the returned man an ample opportunity to present his case for pension. Four regional tribunals, each consisting of three members, are provided for. Of these the present pension commission is to constitute one, and the other three are appointed. The tribunals are to travel and hear representations within their respective districts.

In addition to these tribunals, provision is made for the establishment of one appeal court, to be located in Ottawa.

Six Planes Fail to Find Trace of Missing Flyer

"Mike" Finland, Victoria-Born Geologist-Aviator, Still Lost in Northern Saskatchewan—Three More Machines to Join Search

PRINCE ALBERT, Sept. 26.—Weary airmen, tired with a day's exacting search of Saskatchewan's northern barrens, straggled into Lac la Ronge at dusk tonight without a clue to report of the missing "Mike" Finland, companion pilot, who disappeared on a flight ten days ago. Six pilots, who all day had scoured a country where Finland might have crashed or been forced aground on his flight from Lac la Ronge to Wollaston Lake a week ago Tuesday, reported no sign of the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company pilot-geologist.

Tomorrow the search from the air will be intensified. All available aircraft was massed tonight at Lac la Ronge and it was expected nine planes would take off in the morning. A huge Vickers-Vancouver fourteen-passenger suppression plane, owned by the Royal Canadian Air Force, arrived today and will be placed at the disposal of P. E. Osler, Consolidated pilot in charge of search operations.

Finland had food sufficient to last him for two weeks when he disappeared and if his machine did not crash, he is thought to be waiting somewhere on the barrens to be rescued

RUSSIA NOT BIG FACTOR IN MARKET

Soviet Wheat Insufficient to Seriously Affect Canadian Exports, Says Banker

PESSIMISM IS NOT BASED ON FACTS

Dominion's Sales for Last Season Were Higher Than Generally Believed

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—Canada's wheat situation, both as to marketing and prospective price and also as to the wheat-growing future, fundamentally is such as to discourage pessimism. That is the verdict of B. P. Alley, assistant general manager of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in charge of the bank's business in Western Canada, given in a lengthy interview which will appear in The Toronto Mail and Empire tomorrow.

The newspaper will say in part: "The Russian bear, judged by facts and past performances, is something of a bogey—for Russia would have to increase her wheat exports over last year by roughly 500 to 600 per cent to succeed in cutting world shipments in two for just one bare month this year.

SALES WERE GOOD

"Contrary to those who think Canada sold very little wheat last year, figures reveal that Canada sold the equivalent of one year's entire crop.

"She did so against a price so high as to discourage consumption, a declining world purchasing power and stiffer competition than she is likely to encounter this year, unless Russia should loom up as more of a factor than seems physically possible.

FINANCIERS CONFIDENT

"That is how the people engaged in the financing of the crop, whose institutions are behind the movement of it and who furnish a large part of the cash with which the pools and private traders operate, appear to be looking at it."

DENMARK CELEBRATES ON BIRTHDAY OF KING

COPENHAGEN, Sept. 26.—Denmark today celebrated the sixteenth birthday of King Christian X. Danish colors floated everywhere. Schools and public offices were closed and loyal Danes paid homage in various ways to the popular monarch. New stamps and silver coins bearing His Majesty's features were issued today.

British Columbia Will Enter Fully Into Ottawa Plan

Details of Public Works and Relief of Unemployment Now Being Prepared for Province Under Co-ordinated Scheme

DETAILED plans for coping with unemployment in the province in co-ordination with the Federal programme announced from Ottawa, are nearing completion by the Provincial Government, and will be announced shortly, it was stated yesterday by Premier Tolmie. British Columbia will co-operate to the fullest extent in carrying the scheme into effect.

"This Government has recognized its responsibility in the unemployment situation from the beginning, and is prepared to meet it to the maximum extent of its ability, in co-operation with the Federal Government and the municipalities," Dr. Tolmie stated.

"When I was at Ottawa the general plan was outlined to me in confidence, but until we have had time to examine the details we cannot say definitely how we propose to deal with the matter," said the Premier.

EARLY DECISION LIKELY

Early decision is expected on what public works will be carried out this Winter, with the aid of Federal contributions. As three agencies are to be incorporated in some of the proposals, Federal, provincial and municipal, negotiations must precede a start on any particular project. Adjustments in this connection will likely be made through negotiations to be carried on for the full operation of the Federal scheme.

From the list of possible undertakings which might be commenced under the plan will be selected the most necessitous projects, the consummation of which would best serve the interests of the province.

PLANS PREPARED

This phase of the subject has been receiving the careful consideration of the Cabinet for some time past, and little time will be lost once a decision is made on the actual programme of work to be carried out. Tentative plans for Winter relief work have been prepared by the Department of Public Works, and await only the adoption of a definite programme by British Columbia in its participation in the Federal scheme.

Meanwhile all details of the Ottawa proposals are being studied and a constructive programme will be announced by the Provincial Government without unnecessary delay. Such a programme is likely to contain two main elements, namely necessary works that may be started at this time and which will give employment while effecting useful purposes, and relief measures in cases where no suitable form of work can be devised.

most extravagant, and the most inefficient government in Canada. So far as I can make out he entirely disapproves of that Government receiving any of the twenty millions to be used for unemployment. He does not suggest who should be given the disposal of our portion, but no doubt he had in mind the good old Liberal ring in Vancouver which swayed the destinies of his party for so many years, when he would see to it that no Conservative ever received a nickel. The speech was in that noisy member's best style and gave the Ottawa House some idea of the sort of thing we have suffered from for some years back. However, they have a way at Ottawa of putting people in their place and I have no doubt that the Hon. Ian will be lightly judged and correctly placed before he has been there very long.

"I would not mention the matter at all save that the leader of the Opposition here was guilty of somewhat similar utterances in the East Kootenay election. He imported provincial politics into that campaign, but did not get very far. He toured with J. W. deB. Farris, late Attorney-General of British Columbia. They made a very good team, for I imagine that they know enough about each other to hang each other politically.

LIBERAL SCANDALS

"It is all very well for Mr. Pattullo to garb himself in innocence and declare that he is not bound by the happenings of the past, and that he refuses to be bothered with what went before. To do this his feet must be clean, and no Liberal minister in the late Government could have trailed through the mire and filth of the twelve long years of Liberal misrule and expect to leave no marks on the pavement now. No government in British Columbia ever had to run the gauntlet of so many commissions and inquiries instituted for the sole and only purpose of making them technically clean, but which each in turn left them dirtier than before, until an outraged public swept them out of office. Liquor scandals, beer scandals, railway scandals, patronage scandals, contract scandals, each disclosing an inward rottenness, followed each other in quick succession, each having a common factor for inquiry—the honesty or dishonesty of the then Government. It is out of this political midden that the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, as he likes to call himself, rises in airy innocence and denounced the Tolmie Government. It is merely the start of a campaign of mud-slinging, which, it is hoped, will in time damage our party.

INQUIRIES NEEDED

"There are two scandals which escaped commissions but about which it would be well that commissions were held," went on the speaker. "I refer to the so-called sale by tender to the Powell River Corporation of 60,000 acres of timber lands on Queen Charlotte Islands as one, and to the Sumas reclamation as the other. Mr. Pattullo is altogether responsible for the first, and as a member of the cabinet is defacto responsible for the other. Each is shocking in its political depravity and the carrying through of each cost the people of British Columbia very considerable sums. I intend to refer very slightly to the Sumas matter, but I hope at some later date to deal more fully with it.

"The Tolmie Government has been to o lenient. There are political crimes which deserve punishment, or at least condemnation, just as there are political friends of the late Government and now in the employ whom it would be better for the Government to be without.

POLITICAL FRIENDS

"But to get on with Sumas: What do you think of a cabinet which, through two of its members entered into an engagement with a number of farmers that certain reclamation work would be carried through at the cost of $1,800,000, which the farmers agreed to pay by assessments on their surrounding property, and having thus interested the farmers they turned the contract over to a concern with hardly a dollar of capital but which stood politically well with the Government? Without notifying the farmers until too late the Government involved them in an expenditure of over four millions and then calmly proceeded to assess them illegally for this amount. I say the Government did these things: for camouflage it as you will, the Government put up the money and was responsible by legislation for the result.

DESPITE PROTESTS

"What do you think of a Government and Cabinet, of which Mr. Pattullo was one, which allowed this company to involve the treasury without any let or hindrance and this in spite of the protests and warnings of its own comptroller-general and in spite of the concurrence in this protest of its own deputy minister of public works?" Mr. Twigg demanded.

"What do you think of payrolls for hundreds of thousands of dollars not one of which was signed by the recipient of the money? I could read you the letters and reports of these two gentlemen, but the late Cabinet allowed the nefarious work to proceed and so far as one can find out without protest to the contractors. Engineers left the work in disgust. Plans and estimates that should have been drawn were not drawn but the political job went on until nothing more could be made out of it and the farmers now properly disillusioned were left to foot the bill.

DISGRACEFUL MATTER

"An assessment was made, but the farmers refused to pay," Mr. Twigg explained. "Instead they instituted an action having for their counsel a man who at one time sat on the Liberal side of the house. Apart from the refusal to listen to the warnings and advice of the comptroller-general we now come to a phase of this disgraceful matter which almost staggers belief.

"Under our form of Government, and by the custom and tradition of the British race, the courts are open to all for the settlement of wrongs. You would be shocked if at any time you were deprived of this right. This is what happened and this is what Mr. Pattullo was responsible for and voted for. The action charged fraud; it charged every other contractual crime that could be charged against defendants —and the defendants in this case were the Government though not so named. It asked for a revision of the assessment. Beyond all doubt it would have won its action. The evidence was all too clear. The Cabinet seeing that the farmers meant business and realizing what the exposure would mean accordingly laid its plans. Through its head, the then Premier, it wrote to the farmers' solicitor and in effect said if you will withdraw your action we will bring in legislation to afford you the relief you ask. The farmers were lulled to sleep and the action was withdrawn.

"The session soon came on. It was part of the sleeping draught administered that there should be a select committee which would report and recommend remedies to the House. The farmers gave their evidence and went home trusting to the promises made to them. No sooner were they gone than legislation was brought down and rushed through the House which took away their right of action and, worse still, exonerated the Government and everybody else for every evil act in connection with the contract. Just try and conceive the mentality that would think out such a traitorous plan and the mentality of the complaisant members of a Cabinet, of which Mr. Pattullo was one, which would endorse it.

ONLY AN OUTLINE

"They apparently, as a Government, paid the contractors what money they asked for without any inquiry as to whether it was properly earned. It was a contract without tender. It was cost plus and then some. And when found out and faced with a lawsuit which would have shewn them up they, as a Government, robbed the plaintiffs of their right of action after doping them with promises they never intended to keep. A traitorous deception.

"This is merely an outline of the story. The details are worse.

RIGHTING WRONGS

"The Tolmie Government has to clean this mess up," added the Victoria member, "and Mr. Pattullo has the effrontery after his actions in regard to the subject matter to accuse our Government of extravagance because in this item amongst others it has done what is right and proper by the farmers.

"Mr. Pattullo cannot, by loud shoutings backed up by Mr. Mackenzie at Ottawa, dry clean his political skirts in this manner. He has too much to answer for. His sense of proportion has gone wrong. He must come into the court of public opinion with clean political hands and it is difficult for those who know the facts of the last fourteen years not to be amused when he uses the expressions he does about this Government.

"I hope I have not kept you too long but it is about time someone said a word in answer to the stuff that Pattullo & Company are putting in the papers," concluded the speaker.

that a greater proportion shall be borne by the provinces and the Dominion.

MACHINERY SET UP

In the administration of the fund the Minister of Labor will have associated with him the Minister of Railways and the Minister of Public Works. A separate unit is to be set up in the Labor Department to handle the details of administration. It will be headed by Harry Hereford, who is registrar under the Industrial Disputes Act in the Labor Department.

Elimination of railway grade crossings and hastening of railway construction works to provide work have also been under consideration. Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor, today explained that municipalities may appeal to the Board of Railway Commissioners seeking elimination of grade crossings. If approved by the board 40 per cent will be paid out of the Dominion grade crossing fund and the balance will be apportioned between the municipality and the railway company.

RAILWAY WORK

Officials of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the Canadian National Railways were yesterday in conference with Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, in connection with railway construction which might be brought on within the next few months. The expectation is that within the next few days they will communicate to the minister their schedule of building for the Winter. It is considered highly probable that several schemes of construction that ordinarily would be left in abeyance for a period will be brought on at an early date.

The reception ceremonies marking the beginning of the ferry service will commence with a luncheon at noon at the White House, following which the invited guests will be conducted on a tour of the island, transportation arrangements being in the hands of a committee of Salt Spring Island residents. The uncertain characteristics of the Salt Spring Island golf course will appeal to the golfers in the party, and tea will be served at the clubhouse on the return of the guests touring the island. The day's entertainment will conclude with a dance at the Harbor House, Ganges.

"I am glad to see that $4,000,000 has been set aside for direct relief," the Mayor continued. "Since the first of the year we have paid out $160,000 in direct relief for what we consider provincial cases, so that we are hopeful that this amount will be repaid to us by the province.

QUEBEC DISSATISFIED

QUEBEC, Sept. 25.—"You will find that municipalities in most cases will be unable to take advantage of proposed relief," Premier L. A. Taschereau, of Quebec, today wired Senator G. D. Robertson, Minister of Labor in the Dominion Government, in response to a telegram from the minister outlining the Government's plans for unemployment relief.

The Quebec Premier, after stating in his wire that he was awaiting a further communication from Hon. Mr. Robertson, said he thought "your plan hardly practical and regret to find that, after having promised to stop unemployment, in first case you put two-thirds, and in second case three-fourths of burden on provincial governments and municipalities." He regretted that provincial governments and municipalities, "which are altogether more heavily called on to contribute than the Government of the Dominion, have not been consulted in regard to the plan."

ministration had been prepared to make to the Dominion Government for their return. "Those terms," he said, "could never have been approved by the province and could not have been given by the people of British Columbia. It was only through the determined stand made by Premier Tolmie that the lands were returned with so little sacrifice by the province of British Columbia."

Mr. Hinchliffe stated that it had been said that no Government but a Liberal Government could secure the return of those lands. He mentioned that the terms under which the lands would have been transferred were almost impossible. He also paid high tribute to Hon. N. S. Lougheed, Minister of Public Works, for the part he had played in the negotiations.

SUMAS PROPERTIES

With reference to the Sumas reclaimed lands the minister said that people had lately been concerned as to why the Government had not informed the public of what had been accomplished. "We are now in a position to tell you what has been done with this very terrible mess left by the late Government to us to clean up—and for the people of British Columbia to pay for. The late administration did all that it possibly could do to sell those lands, but failed in every attempt. They were warned repeatedly that they could not hope to secure the amount of money for the land that had been expended.

"We tried every inducement to dispose of the lands, and we did devise a plan whereby we have been able to dispose of over 80 per cent of the reclaimed lands of Sumas and bring them into revenue-bearing properties. We all knew that the longer we kept those lands the greater would be the amount the people of the province would have to pay."

SAVING TO PROVINCE

Continuing, the minister said: "We have been charged by members of the late Government that we sold the land too cheaply. They could not sell it at all. It was costing the Government about $19 per acre annually to keep that land. We have been able to clean up that mess. The province has already lost a lot of money, but had we held the lands longer the loss would have been tremendously greater."

Mr. Hinchliffe next referred to the Government road policy and stated that the Tolmie administration, when it came into power took over a network of highways badly in need of repair, with new bridges to replace those worn out through years of service. The Government not only had to work out a plan for new highways, but had to do what the previous Government should have done with the existing ones. He stated that in building new highways the Government had adopted the policy of constructing new roads to districts where they were badly needed for the transportation of the products of the districts served. He said that through that work the Government had not only cheapened the product to the consumer, but also had increased the profit of the producer over and above the extra amount of taxes levied against him.

LIQUOR SITUATION

The minister touched briefly on the liquor situation and said that the Government had been able to clean up that matter in so far "as it was possible to clean up a liquor situation." He mentioned the creation of the former liquor commission and stated he had no criticism to offer concerning its personnel. He said the appointment of a liquor commission by the Legislature had been altered and that within a very short time " we will have the liquor situation put into a position that any just, honest and competent commission can put it."

In his reference to the policy of the former administration relative to the superannuation of school teachers, Mr. Hinchliffe charged that the policy of the late Government, if enforced, would have meant that governments of the future would have had to pay all pensions for teachers. It would, he said, have caused an expenditure of large sums of money annually. He said that under the policy of the present Government teachers would practically provide their own superannuation. "Under this scheme, he pointed out, the Government, in years to come, will save many thousands of dollars of money. "It is wise and ... legislation and has been effected after careful consideration of all angles of the question."

HIGH SCHOOL COURSE

The minister mentioned briefly the four-year course in high schools of the Province and mentioned it had been approved at the recent convention of the British Columbia School Trustees' Association. He stated that the main opposition to the course had arisen through some misunderstanding of the motive for the change and when that had been overcome the opposition had disappeared.

Other speakers at the meeting were J. H. Beatty, M.P.P., and R. Hayward, M.P.P. Mr. Beatty predicted that the coming session would prove highly interesting and that "things would be flying in a very few months." Mr. Hayward mentioned that he would attend the sessions of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

The speakers were introduced by W. C. Winkel, chairman of Ward Five Association. R. A. Wootton, president of the Victoria Conservative Association, also spoke.

Popularity of Travel by Motor Coach Has Gained To Extraordinary Extent

Harold Husband Tells Usadians of Modern Transport System on Island

An interesting and illuminating address on the subject of "Motor Bus Transportation on Vancouver Island" was delivered by Harold Husband, manager of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, Limited, at the luncheon meeting of the Usadians Club in the Dominion Hotel yesterday.

Mr. Husband said that people as a whole realize that the motor coach as a means of transportation has come to stay, but few persons were familiar with the ramifications of the present motor coach operations on the North American Continent.

In the United States alone, said the speaker, that industry has invested approximately 800 million dollars, and the largest of these organizations, the Pickwick-Greyhound Lines, is at present operating interstate to every part and point of importance in the United States of America. In route mileage this company operates over 35,000 miles of scenic highway. That is equal to twelve times across the United States, or more than one and one-half times around the world. This transition from an experiment to control of the greatest route mileage of any of the world's transportation companies has occupied the short space of only a few years.

SPEEDIER DEVELOPMENT

Continuing, Mr. Husband said, "These coaches render accessible and put daily schedules into out-of-the-way places, which previously have had no public carrier transportation, consequently many of such places are capable of much speedier development than heretofore.

"Operation is efficient on all these Greyhound Lines, and their time-table covers at least 100 per cent more territory than any railroad in the United States. They operate from coast to coast, and from Canada to Mexico, with a network of branch lines everywhere.

"Owing to the mobility of their route they operate into the heart of the parks and show places and right to the centre of towns and residential sections, thereby having a distinct advantage over rail companies tied to a right of way.

"Motor coach transportation on our continent has developed into a thoroughly dependable service and at rates which average 33 1-3 per cent below any other method of transportation.

OPERATED BY RAILROADS

"Transcontinental railway systems in the States for some time ignored the new industry, but eventually such inroads were made into the rail passenger traffic that at the present time practically all the large motor coach companies in the United States are controlled and operated by the railroads.

"Recently many refinements and improvements have rapidly made their appearance. Westinghouse air braking has increased the safety factor of motor coach operation tremendously of late, and has put the efficiency of this equipment in the same class as the railroads. In a recent test without passengers, we stopped one of the eight-ton safety coaches from forty miles per hour in eighteen feet, or about half the length of the coach. If viewed from the side this is practically a dead stop. The nite-coach has become more than a curiosity. There are now numbers of these vehicles operating all over the States.

FIFTY-THREE PASSENGERS

"They are double-dack, fully-enclosed coaches, which are similar to Pullman cars and are made up for daylight travel during the waking hours and are converted into sleepers at night. These cars have an accommodation of fifty-three passengers, and have a steward and porter, and serve meals en route. They are quite safe and efficient and, as in other branches of motor transport, the reason for their existence is that they are economical by comparison.

"To get down to our own operation on Vancouver Island. Through circumstances, with which most of you are familiar, Mr. Matson made an entry into the motor transportation field on Vancouver Island and commenced buying up, in March of 1928, several of the small bus routes operating in the Municipality of Saanich, such as the Gorge, Burnside, Douglas Street, Lake Hill, Gordon Head, Cadboro Bay, etc., and later acquired the West Saanich and Keating lines.

"Mr. Matson then negotiated a plebiscite granting him a franchise on all bus services within the Municipality of Saanich for a period of twenty-six years, which agreement was successful by one of the largest majorities ever polled in the district, and which was later ratified by the Provincial Legislature in a bill dated March 6, 1929.

"The Victoria-Nanaimo and the Victoria-Sidney lines were then acquired, and subsequently every stage line of any importance on Vancouver Island. In every case and on every transaction where previous operators were bought out, it was on terms agreeable to themselves, and in the great majority of instances the old truck classes with wooden box bodies and lengthened touring cars then utilized were scrapped and replaced by modern equipment.

CAPITAL EXCEEDS $450,000

"We are, at the present time operating a rolling stock equal, if not superior, to anything on the Pacific Coast, and our capital investment in our fleet of operating equipment alone is in excess of $450,000.

"We operate to Jordan River, Sooke, Metchosin, Langford, as well as the other lines mentioned, out of Victoria, and a regular network of lines out of Duncan to Deerholme, Hillcrest, Mayo, Cowichan Lake and Youbou, all lines north of Nanaimo, including Alberni, Port Alberni, Sproat Lake Great Central Lake, Courtenay, Horne Lake, Cumberland, further north to Campbell River, and more northerly still to Forbes Landing Elk Falls and Bloedels.

"Our policy is to provide service to all new territories on the Island as they are opened up. We follow the road crews in, supplying them with transportation and communication as they progress, and then immediately the road is completed a service is established to the end of the line. As an example, this season a road has been completed from Campbell River to within three miles of Menzies Bay. It is just possible to negotiate these last three miles over an old logging train roadbed. Taking our sedans with luggage racks over this route, we have established communication and are operating a regular service.

ANTICIPATE DEVELOPMENT

"Our policy in connection with schedules has always been to anticipate growing business, and we have frequently initiated extra trips on various lines in excess of the requirements in the hope of development, and which in most instances has been fulfilled.

"We operate one hundred and three units of equipment, covering approximately five thousand miles per day, or 1,750,000 miles per year. During 1930 we will have carried upward of two million passengers on our services. We use about 250,000 gallons of gasoline per year and our tire account alone amasses a yearly total of $25,000. Here is an interesting figure. A coach leaves our Victoria depot for some point on Vancouver Island every six minutes for sixteen hours every day of the year, on an average.

LAUNCHES OPERATED

"We operate launches and freight boats on regular service to logging camps on several of the Up-Island lakes, including Cowichan and Horne Lakes.

"We own and operate depot buildings at Victoria, Duncan, Cowichan Lake, Nanaimo, Port Alberni, Countenay and Campbell River, and have in these locations land and building assets of approximately $250,000.

"We have up-to-the-minute maintenance and repair shops at Victoria, Nanaimo and Campbell River, equipped with the very latest tools and plant for efficient maintenance of equipment.

"We employ 110 drivers and thirty mechanics. Our monthly payroll is approximately $14,000.

"We are a million dollar corporation, and are the fifth largest motor transportation company in Canada today.

"These are quite interesting figures when you consider that we are only two years old.

REMARKABLE SAFETY RECORD

"One of the most generally accepted methods for determining the efficiency of operation of a motor transportation organization is on its public liability accident ratio experience. We have since inception of our company carried over four million passengers without one single fatality and with remarkably few accidents of even a minor nature. Recently the insurance company carrying the majority of the public carrier business on the Pacific Coast cancelled practically all policies which they were carrying in Canada because of high loss ratio. We asked for reasons for cancellation of our risk, and they stated that they were cancelling Canadian business, but on again looking over their records, they sent one of their representatives to go over our operation, and then offered to carry us on with them.

"The rate promulgated for our operation, which rate is directly figured from accident experience, is one of the lowest rates on the Pacific Coast for a public carrier.

EFFICIENT REPAIR SHOPS

"Our Shops are second to none and all equipment is maintained on a unit repair schedule basis. That is to say, at seventy-five thousand miles, each of our coaches is run in the overhaul shop and entirely torn down. The motor is replaced. Transmission and clutch are removed, checked and renewed. Wheels, axles, universals, differentials, drive lines, and springs are inspected and repaired. The body is gone over and repainted and the coach is turned over to the operating department after one week's work, to all intents and purposes a new vehicle, ready for work.

"The Victoria shops are a very complete working unit; of all classes of mechanical, body and electrical work is capable of being taken care of. We are building our own bus bodies, doing our own machine and lathe work, and even refining our own engine lubricating oil from crankcase drainings. Some vehicles have been operating on the same oil, which is drained and reclaimed every five hundred miles for over twelve months. You understand it is practically impossible under any ordinary conditions to break down the inherent properties in a good motor oil, the necessity for removal and replacement in the crankcase is due to the presence of distillate, gasoline which has blown by the pistons, water in the oil, and the presence of carbon grit, metal fillings, and sludge. When these collected impurities are removed by evaporation and straining through sieves, the oil is as good as new, for lubricating purposes.

"Every vehicle is checked over for any possible troubles in connection with steering mechanism, tie rods, wheels, tires and brakes after every trip on the long lines and after every shift on the street car lines. Our mechanical crew, with a competent superintendent in charge, is a smooth, careful department and operates twenty-four hours every day, including Sunday.

COURTEOUS DRIVERS

"Our drivers are our front line trenches. They meet all of our patrons first, have them in their care during their journey, and are the last to leave them, with a smile at their destination, and much of our success or failure depends on their behaviour. Our aim is that they should be careful, clear-eyed and confident, courteous to passengers, and fellow-motorists, giving consideration to the other fellow's right to half the road, always ready with a smile to help. They are graded and promoted on a merit system and our top drivers, the names of whom a good many of you know, are second to none on the North American Continent. They are mostly comprised of local men who have developed on our own operations, and many of them have very enviable driving records.

"You can picture the many difficulties with which they are confronted in a day's work. Wet, slippery, treacherous asphalt, snow and ice, fog on the Malahat, mountainous roads with sharp blind turns, and in some cases approaching vehicles coming around such turns in the middle of the fairway at excessive speeds, a few nervous and high-strung passengers, and the responsibility of thirty or more people in your care to bring into port in complete safety and in good humour. And to smile and have a cheery word at the end of such a day takes a mighty good man and they're doing it well.

CURIOUS COMMISSIONS

"The operator today is in a good many cases and on some routes, the only communication with the outside, and we have had many strange commissions, such as a nice order of corned beef for one lady, and the best color curtains for another lady's front room, and once even a glass eye to match for an old farmer.

"You would be surprised and delighted to know the good will engendered by the services on the upper parts of the Island. The big orange safety coach invariably pulls through on time, with wives and children at the fences at stage time to watch them swish by with a friendly wave and sometimes a toot of the big air whistle. There is something majestic about one of the big stages purring along the highways.

"Schedules have been maintained without cessation under all weather conditions. During three-foot snow conditions on the Malahat and Alberni Mountains the year before last we had crews out all night getting coaches through, and in one case last Winter in which a coach slid off the road in the snow, the thirty-two loggers who comprised the load, by combined effort with two Government tractors, had the coach out of a three-foot ditch in very bad footing in two hours, and on its way.

TRANSPORTS FIRE-FIGHTERS

"The coach lines transport fire-fighters to the various fires on Vancouver Island, through arrangement with the Provincial Government, and our men and equipment are on tap for this emergency at any time of the day or night.

"We have been awarded the Saanich schools contract for three years in succession and on this and other school contracts on the Island, have handled approximately a thousand school children to and from school every day, this apart from school traffic on regular cars.

"The large majority of our Up-Island trade is the ever-moving logger business. Knowing the logger's usually improvident nature, arrangements are in effect with our company whereby if an operating company desires men, they phone the loggers' agency in Vancouver to send them over. The men are almost invariably broke. C.P.R. boat fare, stage fare and launch fare, if necessary, to go into a lake camp, are all paid by our company, and advanced to the logger, and deducted for us by the logging company from the man's first pay cheque. This means that the transportation of loggers to the camps is handled practically 100 per cent by our company, and we have seldom lost a fare, and the logger is inclined to use our service when going out.

PROPOSED ROAD EXTENSION

"The road extension at present being considered from Sproat Lake to Tofino would be one which will be watched with great interest, especially because of the enthusiasm and interest of E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, frequently voiced, in Long Beach on the West Coast as a resort. I heard an account of the journey of Mr. Beatty and his distinguished party into Long Beach, over fourteen miles of terrible road in an old dilapidated Ford, the only method of transportation, and it must have required a very pleasing vista on arrival at Long Beach to have compensated the party and left them as impressed as they appeared to be. The completion of this road will open up great possibilities.

"With the coach lines are the allied services of the Empress Taxi & Sightseeing Company, operating the Gray Line, the Zone Cabs, limousines, C.P.R. Hotel and Dock, Dominion and other hotel concessions, which company has had a very successful year in Victoria, when other cities, even to some extent in Vancouver and Seattle, are suffering decreases as much as 35 per cent on tourist traffic. This, in a year such as the one just past, with the country in the throes of an economic depression, would tend to substantiate the opinion that Victoria and Vancouver Island are yearly becoming better known as a vacation playground, and we can look for a much larger volume of business than ever before when the depression ends.

TAXICAB FLEET

"In the Gray Line Company we intend this Fall to initiate a new fleet of taxicabs in metered service. The name and operations of this new company will be announced shortly, and we feel that there is ample scope for a meter cab service by a reliable company with reliable equipment in Victoria at the present time.

"Also, allied is the Island Freight Company, operating fifteen trucks handling freight to and from all sections of Vancouver Island, handling commodities direct to the ultimate consumer, and the freight tonnage handled by the company to and from Island points is daily increasing.

SALT SPRING FERRY

"Tomorrow will see the inception of another service pioneered by Mr. Matson. After repeated requests for help in the matter of transportation from Salt Spring islanders, Mr. Matson was prevailed upon to purchase for the operation from Swartz Bay on Vancouver Island, to Fulford Harbor on Salt Spring Island, a boat in Seattle which was, before purchase, pronounced satisfactory by a local shipping authority. After purchase and transfer to Victoria, and months of harangue and inspection, it was condemned by the Ottawa Department of Marine and Fisheries. Mr. Matson had then commenced something, and with characteristic energy, he proceeded to put it through, regardless of cost.

"The present ferry, which is the reconditioned Island Princess, will cost in the neighborhood of $50,000 and will handle fifteen cars and fifty passengers. There will be a stage operating in conjunction with the ferry making two complete round trips per day between all points on Salt Spring Island and Victoria. This service should be of especial interest to all of you business men, since it is transferring the Salt Spring Island market from Vancouver to Victoria, and gives you 1,500 new customers whom you can reach twice daily by stage and daily by truck through the Island Freight Company. Many of the people on this island are now potential customers of you all.

SUPPLIES CRYING NEED

"I feel that Victoria is fortunate to have a man of Mr. Matson's vision and energy, who has the courage of his convictions and is willing to risk his resources in backing enterprises such as these, supplying a crying need and providing service and equipment unexcelled anywhere on the continent.

"A great and new industry has grown up and prospered in your midst, and we who are connected with it are awfully proud of its record, and all that it stands for, and we want to be joined in our pride by all residents on the Island, because we feel that the undertaking is a credit to Mr. Matson, to the community, and to Vancouver Island as a whole."

ALBERTA PLANE CRASH UNDER INVESTIGATION

CALGARY, Sept. 26.—Investigation into the first fatal air crash in Western plane-mail service, was being conducted today by Inspector H. C. Ingram, of the Department of Civil Aviation. Three persons were killed in the accident, which occurred early yesterday when a machine manned by Pilot "Pat" Holden crashed near a beacon light at Southesk, ninety miles from Calgary.

Report of H. Hollick-Kenyon, air pilot, who first spotted the wreckage after apprehension had been roused by failure of the Holden plane to report on its Calgary-Moose Jaw flight, stated the crack-up was due to causes unknown.

TRADE WITH WEST INDIES

Under the benefits accruing from the Canada-West Indies Treaty the housewives of Eastern Canada are able to buy such commodities as bananas, oranges and grapefruit at a cost of $4,000,000 per annum cheaper than they paid before the trade pact took effect. This benefit is not enjoyed by the housewives of the West. The fact is that Western Canada is only experiencing advantages of a minor character through the operation of the Canada-West Indies Trade Treaty.

Western Canada imports from the United States annually some 1,000,000 stems of bananas at a cost of $2,400,000. On these imports there is a duty of 50 cents a bunch. All these bananas could be imported direct from Jamaica at a cost of $800,000, plus freight charges. British Columbia alone, to say nothing of the rest of the West, has apples, canned fish, fresh fish, flour, cement and processed small fruits which it could export to Jamaica in exchange for imports from that island. The trouble has been the lack of adequate transportation facilities. The Dominion Government has failed to insure that Western Canada will enjoy the same trade benefits under the Canada-West Indies Treaty as are enjoyed by Eastern Canada.

This is a matter that should be taken up with the utmost vigor by trade interests in the Province, by our Provincial Government, by shipping companies and, more particularly, by the Federal members of Parliament for British Columbia. A way can be found to provide the shipping necessary and to educate our people about the trade that can be developed and the results that will inure all the time to the benefit of this province. Columns of publicity on the subject are appearing in the newspapers of Kingston. The people of Jamaica are showing a commendable enthusiasm about trade development with Western Canada, in fact, a far livelier interest than has developed at this end. Canada, however, is by far the richer country, and the West Indies very logically expect that the Government at Ottawa will insure that all parts of the Dominion are put in a position to share as equally as possible in the advantages bestowed by the trade treaty.

VOCATIONAL GUIDANCE

The most superficial student of educational problems is familiar with the obvious distinction between vocational training on the one hand and general or liberal education on the other. While general education is intended for the human being as such, as a prospective inheritor of the intellectual patrimony of the race, vocational training aims at increasing the practical skill and earning capacity of the individual as a member of some gainful trade or profession.

The idea of vocational training assumes at the outset that the learner has already made his choice among the many vocations open to him and is ready to enter upon the study of the materials, processes and tools of his chosen calling. Vocational guidance, however, is not so much concerned with vocational methods and shop practice after the fateful choice has been made as it is with making the right choice so that a square peg may not lose itself in a round hole. Clearly the vocational guidance expert has on his hands a problem very different from that of the manual training teacher or the trade school instructor.

Moreover, vocational guidance is readily distinguishable from that intellectual, moral and social guidance which it is the true function and purpose of general or liberal education to supply. In this respect a liberal education is, indeed, highly practical in that it states the problems of life and suggests plans for their solution. It stops short of solving them. It takes a wiser course, that of furnishing knowledge, holding up ideals and supplying a code of behaviour, and having thus given general illumination, inspiration and direction,—guidance in short—it leaves the individual a free agent with room for initiative and development. General education seeks to direct the individual into the right way of living. Vocational guidance aspires to select for him the best way of making a living.

The idea of vocational guidance is thus a highly attractive one and optimistic people believe that the phrase stands for a concrete fact in our educational arrangements, that it denotes a dependable educational routine, that scientific intelligence-testing, expert psychoanalysis, and experimental tryouts in the manual training shops furnish authentic vocational guidance to young people and place the square pegs and the round pegs in their appropriate holes. Less optimistic people find themselves oppressed with doubts as to whether vocational guidance in the present state of educational science is anything more than a vague inspiration, an attractive but extremely hazy ideal. How does it come about they ask, that there are certain persons who possess the mysterious divining power of vocational guidance and upon what authentic body of knowledge do they depend for their skill in divination? If psychology possesses some secret which cannot be discovered by ordinary insight, it would be wise to utilize it. Modern psychology, it is true, uses many long words and has much to say of impulses, stimuli, reaction times, and complexes, but can it tell us anything of the behaviour and tendencies of young people that cannot be sufficiently observed by old-fashioned parents and schoolmasters? After all, success in any given vocation depends quite as much upon moral as upon mental and physical qualities and the insight and personal interest of the parent is likely to be more useful in vocational guidance than the psychoanalysis of the laboratory.

In short, although the friends and advocates of vocational guidance have set out ambitious programmes and made large promises, it has yet to be proved that there is in existence any organized body of doctrine, based on psychological science and supported by definite records of successful application, which will enable vocational advisers to furnish real "guidance" to young people in choosing their life work.

THE TORONTO STAR

Premier Ferguson of Ontario has adopted a course that will not meet with public favor in attempting to ban The Toronto Star from the receipt of Government news. It is a step that is reprehensible in the eyes of every newspaper in the Dominion inasmuch as it is a gesture against the liberty of the press. The Toronto Star has many thousands of readers, Liberal and Conservative, those, in fact, of every political faith. Everyone of them is entitled to the belief that the organ they affect is not, through avowed governmental action, handicapped in presenting to its readers policies and happenings and information relating to the maner in which the taxpayers' money is being spent by the administration in Ontario.

The public press has an especial duty towards its readers in keeping them informed. Where a Government goes out of its way to discriminate against any newspaper it immediately lays itself open to suspicion; either the suspicion that it has something to hide, or else that it wants news interpreted in its own way. It may be true that The Toronto Star published an erroneous report affecting governmental policy or action, but the remedy in that case lies in the hands of the Government itself. The Ontario Government had the privilege of issuing a denial through the columns of The Star. It took the stand that The Star should retract what it said, irrespective of The Star's belief that its statement was based on reliable information. When The Star refused retraction the banning order was issued. It has created an unwholesome impression. Public sympathy would not have been with The Star because it refused a correction of its statement. On the contrary, a newspaper is picayunish in its outlook when it will not correct any erroneous statement made in its columns. In the present instance, however, sympathy has veered round to The Star because of the dictatorial attitude of the Ontario Government. In days of democracy no Government can afford to play fast and loose with the forum of public opinion.

In the ranks of male golfers Mr. Robert T. Jones maintains his supremacy. So many have been his triumphs that he is held to have almost uncanny precision in a game where the rub of the green plays such an important part in competition among those who are in the front rank. There is no question that Jones has uniformly got the best results in golf, but he does not admit that he is the best golfer in the world. He is too modest for that. In fact he awards the palm to Miss Joyce Wethered, with whom he played a foursome in pre-championship practice at St. Andrews this year. Of her he says: "Accounting for the unavoidable handicap of a woman's lesser physical strength she is the finest golfer I have ever seen. She did not miss one shot. She did not even half miss one shot, and when we finished I could not help saying that I had never played golf with anyone, man or woman, amateur or professional, who made me feel so utterly outclassed."

The New York Times says that the coming of the talking picture has led to a steady falling off in the attendance of children at the movies. The reason assigned is that the modern child finds it difficult to understand the talking picture, which is far from being a compliment either to the producer or to the present-day advances being made in education.

Rudy Vallee, a microphone artist, says Canadian girls are not as beautiful as they might be. There need be no qualification in describing his singing. The sentiments he enunciates could not be more sloppy and their rendition is in whining melodies.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

Adopted as a temporary expedient for emergency conditions, the dole has come to stay in England. Let it stay there. The dole by "unemployment insurance" or any other name costs just as much and smells the same. All Canadians will applaud all wise efforts made to alleviate unemployment and meet the present situation in Canada. Wise efforts do not include the dole. "Dunning and the dole" was the last gasp of the King Government's dying breath. Canada got rid of Mr. Dunning and his dole project on the 28th of July last."—Toronto Telegram.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

Alas, poor Yorick! I knew him, Horatio: a fellow of infinite jest, of most excellent fancy.—Shakespeare (Hamlet).

Base envy withers at another's joy,
And hates that excellence it cannot reach.
—Thomson.

In the old days when newspapers and publication houses in America were young, there were "funny men." There were Mark Twain, Bret Harte, Bill Nye, Artemus Ward, Bob Burdette, and many other less "humorous cusses." They were all contributors of "funny articles" to the newspapers. In these new days there are no "funny articles" worth speaking of published in the newspapers. There are only "funny pictures." Some of the writers of "funny articles" will live long in the land, if they have not actually achieved immortality. Most of them are dead and forgotten.

* * *

The "funny articles" of other days had at least one merit that the "funny pictures" of the present day do not possess; they did not go on forever; when the time came for them to die, having exhausted whatever vitality they possessed, they died. The "funny pictures" of the present day do not die with the artists who originally created them. They are adopted by other gifted artists, and apparently the pictorial stories they tell and the morals they preach will never end.

* * *

In the old days there was one "funny story" which was very popular in the United States and Canada, at least amongst a certain class of readers, readers who were either immature in mind or in years. That story was called "Peck's Bad Boy." The author of the bad boy is dead and the story is finished. Whenever we read a new story about the conditions in Russia, or some new speculation about the future of Russia, we think of Peck's Bad Boy. In the days when Peck's Bad Boy was always in some mischief in America, everybody who read the story about the doings of that boy wondered whether the boy would "come to a bad end" or would live to be a popular and successful politician.

* * *

Russia is the bad boy of the world today. When Russia is not actually up to something of a mischievous nature, she is suspected of conspiring to produce conditions in the world which will lead to consequences of a serious nature. It is said that truth lies at the bottom of a well. The truth about Russia lies deeper than that, apparently, for nobody, not even the most accomplished and inquisitive newspaper man, has been able to sound the depth of the water and bring the facts to the surface. There are observers and writers who say that the Soviet Government of Russia is accomplishing marvellous things for the people of that undiscoverable country (in a political, social and economic sense). There are critics who declare that the condition of the people of Russia is deplorable, and that the Bad Boy of the world will come to an untimely end in the not remote future.

* * *

So the truth about Russia lies too deep down in the water for any mere commentator to sound the depths and fish out the facts. But one fact we are sure of. The Soviet Government of Russia is conducting the affairs of the country with an iron hand. The Soviet Government has abolished capital punishment; but when anyone in Russia is caught saying anything derogatory to the administration or is suspected of circulating rumors to the discredit of the administration, he is taken out and summarily shot. Russia has abolished capital punishment for the purpose of making an external impression, but it reserves the right to administer capital punishment for purposes of internal repression. Two score and ten offenders were summarily executed by a firing squad a few days ago. The tyranny of the Czar and the nobles was maintained through the agency of the knout. The tyranny of the proletariat, personified by about half a dozen individuals, is maintained through the instrumentality of the rifle.

* * *

The internal affairs of Russia, of course, are the exclusive business of the Russian people. It is said that the people of any country always get the kind of government they deserve. The former government of Russia was destroyed by violence. The present government of Russia was established by violence and is maintained by violence. We who believe in freedom of speech and responsible government may think than the sins of the Russians are being visited upon the heads of the Russian people. But we are not so much concerned about the people of Russia in a political sense as we are about the economic effects upon us of the Russian methods of doing business with the rest of the world. It is said that Russian economic methods have completely upset the business equilibrium of the world.

THE COLONIST IN NEW YORK

The Colonist is delivered to the principal New York hotels, on order only, by the Long Acre Newspaper Delivery. Order may be given to the Mail Clerk of your hotel, or telephone to Longacre, 4649.

IN LONDON

It is charged that the Russian Government is deliberately starving its own people for the purpose of dumping wheat and other products upon the markets of the world and producing conditions which will promote national resolutions.

* * *

The truth as to these charges may lie as deep in the water as the truth about the actual state of affairs in Russia. There is a movement on foot in the United States calling for an investigation into the business conditions in Russia and the effects of those conditions upon the business of the rest of the world. In the meantime the story of the Bad Boy of the world will be continued in our next.

DARDANELLES

Sir,—I am giving the opinion of about a dozen taxpayers on the above. All agree that the widening would be an improvement; ditto Dallas Road improvement. But all the question, Why saddle the whole of Victoria's property owners with the expense, besides mortgaging posterity with the costs? Personally I think the expense might very well come out of the motor licences (and I have very serious doubts if our Council has any right to purchase the strip required by allowing taxes on the property).

WALTER J. DANDRIDGE.
1612 Fell Street, Victoria, B.C., Sept. 24, 1930.

ALPINE GUIDE AND HORN

Sir,—In The Colonist of Sept. 23 appears a picture of a Swiss peasant in a short-sleeved costume blowing a long wooden horn. This is headed "Alpine Guide and Horn," and anyone who knows about the daily life of Swiss peasants must know there is something stupendously wrong in this heading. The man shown in the picture is a herdsman, who lives on the high pastures looking after all the cows of the commune in the Summer. The horn is used by him to bring the cows in each evening.

Again, examine the man's dress, the short-sleeved jacket and short-sleeved white shirt and a skull cap. These all point to work amongst cows and not amongst tourists.

A Swiss mountaineering guide carries a ice-ax and a rope, and certainly has no use for a seven-foot cow horn. His party consists of one or two tourists, certainly not more.

HUNTING ACCIDENTS

Sir,—The yearly crop of accidents is coming off with the usual regularity. I cannot help not feeling a great amount of sympathy with the victims. They went out to shoot usually perfectly harmless creatures and got themselves what they intended to mete out to others, quite in accordance with the Good Book. The mistake these would-be heroes make is that animal life is not of the same Divine origin as human life. The difference is one of degree, of evolution, not one of principle. To go out killing "for pleasure," where there is neither urgency for the obtaining of food, nor self-defence, shows a coarse character, indifferent to unmerited suffering of other beings. Who causes pain will harvest pain. Be not deceived, Gor is not mocked, whatsoever thou soweat, that shalt thou also reap.

In a so-called Christian civilization one might expect the churches to teach that wanton killing is a crime, that the law of cause and effect is an irrevocable Divine law; instead, as we see now sometimes the type of the hunting parson, a blot on the creed of the Philosopher of Pity. People who think that animals have no soul will find themselves strangely but terribly surprised when their own souls, by death deprived of the heavy vesture of flesh, become aware of the fact that the pain they have caused becomes their own pain and the persecutor the victim of persecution. Swing the pendulum one way and it will surely swing back the other way.

I could from my metaphysical experiences quote most interesting proof of the above contentions, but space prevents going into details. I write this for the benefit of such youngsters as believe that they should go out shooting where there is no provocation and no self-defence. They would do better to reflect instead of acting hastily. Have we no "Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals?"

H. GENTIS.
Metchosin, B.C., Sept. 24, 1930.

MOUNT DOUGLAS PARK

Sir,—We are forced to recognize the truth of an observation, and must admit an occasional exception. Thus we find an almost estranged position in which the parks and beaches committee finds itself in reference to recent happenings in Mount Douglas Park. First, there is the removal of gravel and its dire result—a great breach in the side of the hill, a remembered blemish in the minds of scenic lovers.

It has been found necessary to build a detour, parallel to the present road, presumably to enlarge the playground. To my mind an easier grade could be found at the next slight turn in the road below the present surveyor's post, thereby obviating the necessary high banks on either side of the new road.

I would suggest the immediate remedy of a very dangerous corner turning into Ash Road from Shelbourne Street. Here I was a witness of what were almost serious accidents, the overturning of two motors. One conveying children turned completely over on its side. Happily only a few bruises and cuts was the result.

Again there is the probability of a scenic motor road to the near top. This road could wind along those beautiful slopes, where many mossy banks would invite afternoon tea parties, and amongst those beautifully inlaid monarchs of the forest, from the top of Mount Douglas, we could view with wonderment this ever-changing panoramic view which no pen can describe.

The approach to the beach could be improved. Steps should be constructed offsetting its course to conform with the natural slope of the ground. Quite recently I saw an elderly lady receive a severe shake-up trying to descend these still natural approaches.

May not the stress of our hopefulness urge the committee to make passable the present road on the south side of Mount Douglas. This beautiful, cool Summer drive in a real sylvan atmosphere finds many motors taking a chance to get through this almost impassable rough road.

May I suggest an addition to the present parks committee, of two well known citizens from the Saanich district and two citizens from the city, who hold no official position in either councils, and whose additional advice may be the means of shaping the future destiny of this majestic park.

WORLD'S LARGEST SHIP

I see that the American liner, Leviathan, is still advertised as "the largest ship in the world." One does not so much resent the pertinacious publication of this effete fable as deplore the indefensible credulity of the numerous persons who are deluded by its decrepit plausibility. For the enlightenment of such it may be worth while to adduce a few salient facts to expose again the clumsy fiction propagated by the United States Shipping Board.

It is, of course, a mathematical verity that the Majestic, flagship of the White Star Line, is the biggest boat yet built, as the following figures, authenticated by Lloyd's Register, will testify. The Majestic is 100 feet wide, fifty-eight feet deep, and 915 feet long. The linear dimensions of the Leviathan are identical as regards breadth and depth, but the American ship is eight feet shorter than the British, her length being but 907 feet.

The registered gross tonnage of the White Star boat, measured in accordance with the rules laid down in the second schedule of the Merchant Shipping Act of 1894, is 56,621: that of the Leviathan, similarly measured, is 54,282 tons. Parenthetically, it may be noted that the British rules for the calculation of tonnage have at various dates been adopted by France, Germany, and Italy, and some half dozen other European countries, and Japan. They were, too, for many years accepted by the United States, and have only lately been superseded by special rules devised by the U.S. Shipping Board.

To this circumstance may be attributed the flimsy sophistry by which it has been attempted to argue that the Leviathan is the largest ship extant. For in popular books of reference the tonnage of this vessel is commonly recorded as 59,957 tons, but it is not so commonly disclosed that this inflated figure is obtained only by application of the unique rules by which the tonnage of American merchantmen is now reckoned. If the Majestic were measured according to these novel rules, her registered gross tonnage would be 61,206!

No one, of course, has the slightest right to object to the United States measuring her own ships exactly as she pleases, but that country has even less right to claim that comparisons drawn between ships so measured and ships of other nations, measured by a different system, should be recognized as legitimate. In any case, whether her tonnage is computed by the American method or according to the rules accepted by the rest of the maritime world, the Majestic merges as a greater ship than the Leviathan.

Even though the childish pretension of the United States Shipping Board cannot for a moment be entertained—much less substantiated, Americans can, at least, fairly claim to possess a genius for indomitable bombast and unflinching bluster unexcelled — nay, unapproached—by any other nation.

LAKE HILL'S COMMUNITY HALL

Sir,—I would call to your attention an article which appeared in your paper on the twenty-fifth instant under the heading, "Celebrate Birthday of Community Hall at Lake Hill." This article would give the impression that this hall was for the use of the young people of the district. This is far from being the case. A new gymnasium has been added to the hall and it is for the use of a particular few who wish to form a basketball team and a badmington team. The Mission Hall Sunday School of Lake Hill have tried to get the use of this gym for at least one hour a week for basketball practice but the committee do not wish to rent it. I think this hall should be re-named as it is not for the community in general at all.

I trust someone with authority and with a community spirit will look into this and save us going to the city to hire a hall.

This Week's Great Day

September 27—The First Steam Railroad

(By CHARLES CONWAY)

One hundred and five years ago, on September 27, 1825, the first public railroad train in the world to be drawn by a steam locomotive made its initial trip in the North of England.

As far back as 1676 there were lines of wooden rails in many of the English colliery districts, known as tramways, over which trucks laden with coal were hauled by horses for short distances, and in 1738 rails of iron were used for the first time. In 1803 the first railroad on which passengers were carried was opened on the outskirts of London, but the coaches were drawn by horses. During the next few years several steam locomotives were constructed for haulage work in the collieries, but they all proved less satisfactory and far more expensive than the horse-drawn tramways.

When the Stockton & Darlington Railway scheme was sanctioned by Parliament in 1822 it was intended that horses should be used to haul the wagons, but George Stephenson, the great engineer, succeeded in impressing the promoters of the line with the great advantages to be derived from steam traction, and Is was given a free hand. He solved the many problems which had baffled the cleverest scientists and engineers of the day, and constructed a locomotive which proved not only highly efficient but very economical.

FREIGHT COST REDUCED

At the opening of the railroad on September 27, 1825, Stephenson drove his locomotive on its first jorney, and hauled a train of thirty-four wagons, a total weight of ninety tons, at a speed ranging from ten to fifteen miles per hour. The line was originally intended only for the conveyance of minerals and freight, but passengers were carried from the very first trip, and the public demand became so great that a regular passenger coach with accommodation for twenty-one people, six inside and fifteen outside, was added to the daily train a fortnight after the opening run.

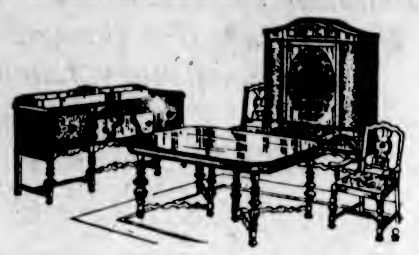

The great advantages of the new form of transportation were immediately apparent, and the carriage of merchandise between Stockton and Darlington fell from fivepence to less than a halfpenny per ton mile, while the cost of coal in the latter town dropped from eighteen to eight shillings per ton.

The opening of the new railroad aroused little beyond a local interest, and although several other short lines were soon afterwards built in various parts of Britain, very few persons seemed to have realized the great future awaiting the steam locomotive, and it was not until the opening of the Liverpool and Manchester Railway in 1830 that the world awoke to the fact that a revolution in the methods of traveling had taken place.

"THE ROCKET" CONSTRUCTED

It was for this railway that Stephenson constructed his famous iron steed, "The Rocket," which embodied most of the principles of the locomotive as we know it today, the numerous changes effected during the past century being chiefly a gradual increase in size and power with an improvement in design, material and mechanical construction.

For many years the general public evinced a marked distrust of the safety of steam traction, and when Queen Victoria made her first railroad trip from London to Windsor, the Master of the House, whose duty it was to superintend all royal journeys, went to the station in advance and subjected the locomotive to a critical, but meaningless, inspection. On the arrival of the Queen at the station her coachman insisted upon traveling on the engine in order to see that it didn't run away, but his resplendent livery of scarlet and gold, white kid gloves and powdered wig suffered so much damage from soot, grease and flying sparks that he waived his prerogative on all future railroad trips of his royal mistress.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tides are of falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot.

KENYA DELEGATION ARRIVES AT LONDON

Will Make Representations for Closer Union of East African Territories

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The Kenya delegation, headed by Lord Delamere, one of the pioneer colonists of the colony, which has come to England to make representations to the British Government regarding the closer union of East African territories, and to protest the Imperial Government's policy of considering native interests in the territories to be paramount, today interviewed Prime Minister the Rt. Hon. J. B. M. Hertzog, of South Africa.

SOUTH AFRICA'S STAND

General Hertzog, it is announced, expressed complete sympathy with the aspirations of the East African colonists. While the Union Government, he explained, was reluctant to interfere with other parts of the Empire, his Government could not help but feel strongly on questions relating to the native problem of the African colonies and protectorates. South Africa was bound to feel the repercussion of any change in such policies.

The South African Prime Minister considered it was necessary, in the interests of inter-Imperial relations, that South Africa's views on the subject should be heard at the Imperial Conference, and he hoped to discuss the matter with the Government.

ISSUED "WHITE PAPER"

The controversy which has arisen within, and beyond the borders of East Africa regarding the Imperial Government's pronounced policy of dealing with the natives, was precipitated by a recent "white paper" issued by the Colonial Office, of which Lord Passfield, the idealistic Sidney Webb, of other days, is the head. The white paper set forth that the interests of the natives of a country were to be considered first and their rights guaranteed at all costs.

COLONISTS PROTESTED

Replies to this white paper were soon forthcoming. The other colonizing nations which hold Africa in fee were diplomatically silent. So were the silence-bound Governors of Kenya, Tanganyika and Uganda, but leading colonists protested vigorously and they found support in South Africa.

General Hertzog has before drawn attention to the divergency between the white paper's expressed policy and that of the Union in dealing with its native problem.

CANADA CHOSE GREAT LEADER SAYS SENATOR

Hon. R. F. Green, Back From Ottawa, Predicts Better Times Ahead

CONSERVATIVE POLICY RESTORES CONFIDENCE

SENATOR R. F. GREEN

Canada made no mistake in displaying confidence in Hon. R. B. Bennett as a leader with courage and ability to carry through effective plans for rehabilitation and ultimate prosperity of the country, Senator R. F. Green stated last night on his return from Ottawa, where he attended the special session of Parliament.

"Premier Bennett has clearly demonstrated that he had the ideas needed by this country, and the courage and backing necessary to put them into effect," observed Senator Green. "I do not think there was ever anything like it before in the history of Canada, or the Empire for that matter. He has made it plain to the people of Canada that they made no mistake when they made him their leader.

"I think the tariff will unquestionably do a great deal to restore industry, and to give employment. There is no doubt that it has already restored confidence and paved the way for the conservation of home markets for Canadian producers. The undertaking given by manufacturers and others not to raise prices I believe to be a genuine one, and will be lived up to.

"Manufacturers are already making plans for the extension of their plants and for the employment of additional workmen. This will undoubtedly have its effect on the restoration of more prosperous times generally in Canada," Senator Green concluded.

RIVER CHANGES COURSE

Fulfilling the prediction made by Sven Hedin, the famous Swedish explorer, twenty-five years ago, the lonely Tarmin River, in the Interior of China, has left its bed in the sands of Karakoschun and moved 90 miles to Kuruk-daria. The river, choked with sand and earth, recently completed its long journey.

Peace River Area Shown As Treasure House With Wheat, Coal and Timber

Hon. R. R. Bruce Gives Glowing Picture to Women's Canadian Club

A fascinating picture of the Peace River country, painted as "one of the richest areas of arable land in Canada," a treasure house of wheat, coal and timber for the generations to come, was presented by the Hon. R. Randolph Bruce, Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, in the course of the address which he gave before the 500 members of the Women's Canadian Club, who gathered for the twenty-first anniversary tea at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

His Honor, who with Miss Mackenzie recently visited the Peace River Block, spoke with glowing optimism of the promise contained in the Northland annexed some years ago by this province, and bespoke the interest of the Women's Canadian Club in the Red Cross, which was doing such a splendid work among the pioneer settlers out on the northern frontier. His appeal was supported by some graphic portraits of nurses and other women who were helping to make life easier for the people in the new country.

TRIBUTE TO CLUB

His main theme was approached by way of the Women's Canadian Club, which he, as a representative of the Crown, heartily congratulated on achieving its coming-of-age.

"I have been requested by your president to tell you something of the Peace River country which I visited in July last. It seems singularly appropriate that I should say a few words on this district, as the development of our ports on the Pacific Coast depends upon the progress of our hinterland," said His Honor in introducing his subject.

British Columbia had added materially to the diversity of her natural resources by coming into possession of the Peace River district, and the Dominion Government had shown fine foresight in acceding to the Provincial Government's request for the return of this block, thus making possible a uniform system of settlement and development.

3,500,000 ACRES

The block contained some 3,500,000 acres, many thousands arable and blessed with soil of the finest quality. Within the province and surrounding the block to the north, the west and the south are an additional 7,000,000 acres, unsurveyed and unclassified, which undoubtedly would be found also to contain large areas of excellent farm lands.

For the preservation of the watersheds and for the necessary supply of lumber, it was very essential that the timber lands within this area should be reserved, and the range lands set apart for their specific use.

BENEFIT FROM EXPERIENCE

The settlement of arable lands in the present initial stages of their development afforded, thought His Honor, an excellent opportunity of benefitting from the experiences of the past. The disadvantages of promiscuous occupation, with its attendant miseries, such as poor roads, lack of railway facilities, schools, churches and social contacts generally, were already self-evident. Instead there might be achieved the ideal system of successive compact areas opened by roads previously constructed and equipped with hospitals, schools and churches on townsites carefully selected in proximately to available domestic water.

The route taken was defined. They had traveled from the boundary over good roads to Fort St. John and from Fort St. John up the Peace River to Hudson Hope. Generally speaking the country was as yet sparsely settled. Clearings and cultivated portions showed uniform evidence of fertility. Excellent crops, the result of abundant rains, were everywhere to be seen. Anthracite coal of the finest quality, measured by the square mile, occured at Hudson Hope and promised, with adjacent water power, to become a great factor in the future development of the north. In this connection His Honor prophesied that some day a great industrial city, with great wheat mills, would spring up here.

HISTORIC YEAR

"This is an historic year for the district for, by December the railway will have crossed the border and will have established a new rail head some forty miles within the Province," the speaker noted. About one million bushels of all kinds of grain were hauled to Hythe in Alberta at a cost of between ten and twenty cents a bushel. Settlers were thankfully looking forward to the shorter haul to railhead this year and also to the ultimate extension through British Columbia of the Northern Alberta Railway to connect with the existing railways leading to the ocean ports of Prince Rupert and Vancouver which would shorten the present rail haul to seaboard by about half.

At Pouce Coupe, at Rolla, at Dawson Creek, at Fort St. John and at Hudson Hope the party had been met and entertained and shown over the country by the settlers. Notwithstanding the inevitable hardships accompanying pioneer settlement and the slender resources of the average settler, there was everywhere evident a spirit of optimism and a cheery atmosphere among both the men and women satisfied with their land of promise. It was gratifying to note the fine type, the neat homes already surrounded with flower beds and gardens, and the prevailing spirit of sympathy and comradeship.

LUSCIOUS GROWTH

They had been much impressed with the forward condition of the many varieties of vegetables being grown in the district. In this connection His Honor paid a tribute to the invaluable services rendered to the North by W. D. Albright at the Experimental Farm at Beaverlodge where horticultural products, shrubs and flowers were to be seen in profusion.

The North also owes a debt to Herman Trelle who, by producing the wheat and oats that won the world's championship focused the attention of the agricultural world on the suitability of both the soil and the climate of the Peace River District for grain growing.

B.C.'S VAST IMPORTS

Each year, in increasing quantities, we have been importing agricultural products for consumption into the Province of British Columbia. Last year this had reached the enormous total of $22,000,000, mainly made up of meats, grains and dairy produce. With this new area, the Province's needs could and would be supplied from within its own borders, thereby keeping the bulk of this great sum within the province to the obvious advantage of the merchant, the lumberman and the consumer."

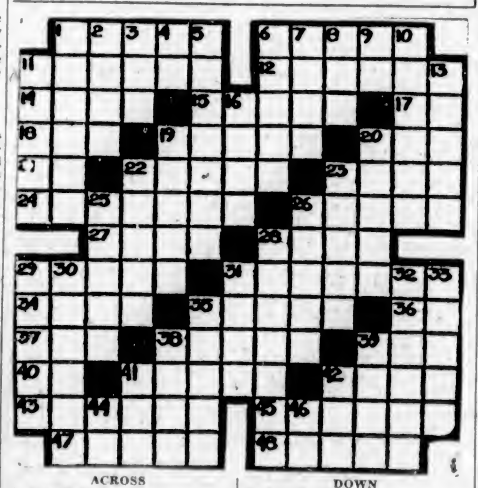

"But this" commented the speaker, "will only materialize to the full when and after we get direct road and rail communication with the wholesale houses at the Coast."

OFFERS OPPORTUNITIES

The average production at present in the Peace River District was between twenty-five and thirty bushels per acre so that it was not unlikely that British Columbia would ultimately export many millions of bushels grown within its boundaries.

"We of the South will have to revise our preconceived notions of this vast territory of the North, not only to the British Columbia boundary but extending to the far away Aklavik and the mouth of the Mackenzie River," said His Honor. The Peace River District, including those sections of it in Alberta and in British Columbia, last year produced over eleven million bushels of grain. Reports of fertile valleys and rich mineral areas still farther north were reliably confirmed, indicating that this great uncharted area was a land of attractive opportunities to the youth of this generation and of generations yet to come, the Governor declared.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'S PUZZLE

PREMIER OF AUSTRALIA DENIES REPUDIATION OF DEBTS IS PLANNED

LONDON, Sept. 26.—When the Rt. Hon. James Scullin, Prime Minister of Australia, met representatives of the British press today, one of the first questions asked of him concerned certain Australian assertions regarding possible repudiation of the Commonwealth's war debt.

"I am disappointed," replied Mr. Scullin, "to note the prominence given to such utterances in the newspapers of Britain. These statements represent merely a few people who do not stand for any section of Australian opinion.

"If it were to be suggested in Australia," continued Mr. Scullin, "that Britain might not live up to her reputation of paying what she borrows, the persons who spread such tales would be denounced. As ninty-seven per cent of us are of British stock we in Australia expect to be accorded the same fair treatment."

The Australian Prime Minister declared his belief that the time is ripe for "something to be done" regarding the expansion of inter-Empire trade.

MEETING ASKS FOR FEDERAL JURISDICTION

Government Should Have Control of Second Narrows Bridge

ONLY ONE BID FOR REPAIRS RECEIVED

NORTH VANCOUVER, Sept. 26—Resolutions urging the Dominion Government to take control of Second Narrows Bridge and to implement the recommendations made by the Court of Inquiry following the accident to Ss. Losmer last April, were approved after two hours' deliberation at a meeting of representatives of the three North Vancouver Councils, the Vancouver City Council, the Harbor Board, the Merchants' Exchange and the Board of of Trade of Vancouver, here last night.

SPECIAL GATHERING

At a special gathering of the North Shore representatives after the general meeting a resolution was passed unanimously supporting any efforts which the bridge company directors take to re-establish connections with the South Shore.

The North Shore representatives also urged the directors to investigate the feasibility of making temporary repairs so that the bridge may be used for vehicular traffic while permanent repairs are being made.

ONLY ONE BID

The general meeting, however, did not favor Commander B. L. Johnson's proposal that a temporary structure be provided by three barges or pontoons. The cost would be nearly $30,000 and the bridge directors are not prepared to pay any such sum, it was intimated.

Directors of Burrard Inlet Tunnel & Bridge Company, owners of the structure, decided at their meeting Thursday afternoon to postpone for one week the award of a contract for a new 300-foot span. This action was taken in order to permit additional tenders to be received. Only one—that of the Dominion Bridge Company—was in hand when the meeting opened.

BRIDGE COMPANY WILLING

The directors also went on record as being prepared "to enter into negotiations with the Federal Government with a view to having the Government take over Second Narrows Bridge upon terms and conditions mutually acceptable."

CONSERVATIVES HEAR OF SPLENDID WORK

Ward Seven, Saanich, Association Holds Successful Annual Meeting and Elects Officers

That much interest is being taken in Ward Seven, Saanich, in the policies of the Conservative party was indicated by the large attendance at the annual meeting of the ward association held Thursday evening in St. Martin's Hall, Obed Avenue.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Honorary presidents, Hon. R. B. Bennett, Hon. S. F. Tolmie and C. H. Dickie, M.P.; president, F. Appleby (re-elected); vice-president, Mrs. Bates; second vice-president, P. Vest; third vice-president, Mrs. F. Osborn; secretary, E. D. Murphy.

The newly elected members of the executive committee are Major Hibben, Captain Goss, Messrs. Wallace, White, Bryson, Kershaw, Blair and Mesdames Street, White Campion, Dealy, Briar, Appleby; delegates to central association, Messrs. Briar, Roberts and White.

FEREAL ELECTION

In opening the meeting, President Appleby thanked the members for the support he had received during his year of office. The Ward Seven organization had done splendid work, especially during the recent Federal election, the women especially doing more than their share. "Let us continue the good work," Mr. Appleby said in conclusion, "and when another election comes we will show even better results in Ward Seven than we have done in the past."

W. O. Wallace, president of Saanich Central Conservative Association, took the chair during the election of officers, and in a brief address stated that had it not been that Premier Tolmie had a previous engagement, he would have been at the meeting. Mr. Wallace said that with Premier Bennett at the head of Dominion affairs and Dr. Tolmie in charge in the Province, the country was on the eve of prosperity and things were working out to the credit of the Conservative party.

DICKIE TO SPEAK

The speaker thanked the ward members for their efforts in electing Mr. Dickie, and at some future meeting Mr. Dickie would be pleased to address them personally. Mr. Wallace urged the members to support their president. He said Mr. Appleby had worked hard and consistently for the ward, and he felt sure he would have their co-operation during the coming year.

A musical programme was much enjoyed. Those contributing were: Mrs. M. Corbett, Mrs. F. Osborn, Mrs. Steele, Charles Roberts and J. Mathieson. Dancing followed, and refreshments were served, with Mesdames Bates, Campion, Appleby and Dealey assisting at the table.

LARGE CROWD SEES PAGEANT AT ARMORY

Record Audience Packs Big Auditorium for Colorful Rotary Spectacle

WILL BE ENJOYED FOR FINAL TIME TONIGHT

The spirit of Rotary, with its great and international responsibilities and its magnificent ideals of service and citizenship, has been incarnated in the Pageant of the Nations, which is being staged at the Armories by the Victoria club this week.

Last night the building was packed to the doors, every available seat being taken and many people being glad to stand in order to see the blaze of color as the 300 perfectly drilled girls formed various kaleidoscopic groups or went through a number of intricate and artistic manoeuvres.

Tonight will be the final opportunity to witness the splendid spectacle which the pageant affords, and there is little doubt, judging from the crowds which flocked to the Armories last night, that the support for the crippled children at the Queen Alexandra Solarium will be even greater than given last evening.

SATISFIED CUSTOMER

It is generally accepted that the best advertisement is a satisfied customer. This adage was never more clearly demonstrated than by the Rotary Pageant. The audience has become larger every night, in which is proof that the patrons, although only too happy to contribute towards a really deserving cause, are drawn to the Armories, not only from a sense of duty or because they have friends and relations in the pageant, but also by a genuine desire to see and enjoy an exhibition which reflects the greatest credit upon L. C. Besanta, the director, and everyone associated in making the production so notable.

Only an artist could have designed the dresses, planned the movements and tableaux and directed the entire production.

PERFECT DRILLING

If there was any room for improvement on the opening night, which is open to doubt, it has taken place; and the girls themselves, while paying the strictest attention to the wonderful accuracy of movement, which is of tremendous advantage in a spectacular parade, evidently appeared to enjoy the whole affair as much as the audience.

The Y.M.C.A. team of athletes put up a magnificent performance, and were applauded again and again. Some of their pyramid work defied description. They proved themselves to be masters of equilibrium, and moved with a precision which showed how faithfully they must have rehearsed in order to reach their present standard of perfection.

MIDWAY ATTRACTIONS

At the conclusion of the pageant itself, the attractions of the midway, which are many and various, were liberally patronized. There were slot machines, always a never-failing source of joy; there were fortune tellers, where the doubter could learn anything from the reasons for avoiding a "dark man" to the winner of next year's Derby.

And not the least of the attractions offered was that the small price asked for an evening's entertainment which is unsurpassed in the annals of Victoria, will help the crippled children who, like the lame boy in Browning's "Pied Piper," "could not dance the whole of the way."

BRITISH PRESS IS GLOOMY IN REGARD TO EMPIRE MEETING

Australia. The Saturday Review goes on, has met her difficulties by similar action, while Prime Minister J. B. Hertzog, of South Africa, "appears to be thinking along political rather than economic lines."

GLOOMY VIEW

"When men are thinking in terms of secession they are unlikely to put forward suggestions favoring economic co-operation," submits The Saturday Review. "And the home position appears even more unpromising. With luck we shall avoid a rock, but we do seem likely to run aground whether the navigators are wondering whether to set the vessel towards free trade or protection or towards some unknown and uncharted Socialist haven, where young professors will be found to believe they can control the world's trade in wheat and wool from an armchair in Whitehall."

The New Statesman, representing the intellectual democrats, after admitting the conference will doubtless concern itself primarily with economic matters, asks if the "old conclusions will hold good when all the premises are different."

SPHERE OF EXPEDIENCY

"The logical conclusion to be drawn from the present economic state of the Empire," says this weekly, "is that it is worth while to take risks in order to foster the development of interimperial trade. This does not mean, necessarily, that we ought to imitate the Dominions in resorting to preferential tariffs, for there may be 'other methods which, from our viewpoint, would be better. We doubt if even the most confirmed free traders really desire the Dominions to remove the preferences which they now grant to British goods or would propose the repeal of the Colonial Stocks Act, under which the Dominions enjoy a preferential position in the British capital market, and so the entire question is removed from the sphere of principle to that of expediency.

"As a workable alternative to a stronger fiscal policy there is the proposal to regulate trade by means of import boards and the bulk purchase of Dominion products. This scheme, at present, appears to be favored in governmental circles.

"The scheme admittedly has its difficulties, but we venture to predict that Great Britain will very soon take to either higher tariffs and more preferences, or the purchase boards as a means of stimulating Empire trade.

"If the present Government," concluudes The New Statesman, "lets slip the opportunity to lead the way towards a constructive policy it will leave those who favor protective and preferential tariffs in undisputed possession of the field."

At present irrigated land is classed under one grade, irrespective of the nature of the land and its suitability or otherwise for the production of high value crops. Under the new plan it is expected there may be four grades of land, verging from areas capable of producing fruit and vegetables to those suitable only for rough pasture. In addition there would be the land on which alfalfa and Fall-sown serials could profitably be raised.

Preliminary investigation along the same line is now being carried out by the Provincial Department of Agriculture, to solve some practical difficulties standing in the way of the economic application of irrigation to lands upon which settlement exists.

W. H. Robertson, director of plant industry, is now in the Okanagan Valley on this mission, accompanied by Maurice Middleton, district horticulturist; Ben Hoy, district agriculturist; F. G. de Wolf, of the fruit industry commission, and other experts who have been instructed to make an investigation of the areas in question, Mr. Atkinson stated.

RAILWAY BOARD OFFICIALS SEE ENGINE TESTS

Experts Watch Spark Destroyer Device for Coal Locomotives

Pending a full report to the Railway Board of Canada and the coal research committee of this Province, no official statement can be made as to the results of the tests carried out by the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway with the new Brown-Cyclone spark destroyer device in trial runs carried out here this week.

Tests made on Thursday with a coal-burning locomotive specially fitted with an adaptation of the new device were watched with interest by officials of the railway, representatives of the Province, the railway commission, and the makers of the device.

Declining to discuss the results of the tests at this stage, J. M. Cameron, manager of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway, stated yesterday that further trials will be held with the newly-equipped locomotive on Sunday. Full reports would have to be made in official circles before any public statement on the results, he intimated.

MOTORSHIP KARISE HAS REACHED NOME

NOME, Sept. 26.—The motorship Karise, of the Swanson Trading Company, Seattle, which was thought to be ice-locked near Cape Serdge, Siberia, arrived here yesterday, having been successful in finding her way through ice floes to open water.

Escape of the ship from the threatened ice grip was due, navigators said, to information radioed back to the ship from Teller, Alaska, by Pilot Frank Dorbandt, who flew to Cape Serdge to bring Captain Jocquimsen, master of the fur trader, here for medical treatment. On the return trip, Dorbandt noted the leads through which the Karise might pick her way to open water in Bering Strait.

The emergency flight probably saved Jocquimsen's life, physicians said. The mariner was reported in greatly improved condition at the hospital here.

AL KARASICK WINS FROM DEMETRAL IN VANCOUVER BATTLE

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26.—Al Karasick, the Russian, and Harry Demetral, the Greek, gave the mat fans just what they wanted at the Arena last night. They slugged, kicked, scowled with inhuman ferocity and protested with the injured innocence of a pair of babes, and in the end the Russian was the victor, by accident. Demetral leaped at Karasick in true Sonnenberg style, but without that deadly accuracy that carried the Dartmouth footballer to the world championship, and he landed on a cauliflower ear outside the ring. The shock rendered him null and void so far as wrestling was concerned for at least ten minutes.

The Chicago veteran, John Freberg, took one fall from Jack Forsgren to defeat the Vancouver fireman in a fast an interesting semi-final match, while Jack Strong, of Australia, defeated Billy Spencer, of Vancouver, in the first set-to of the evening.

CLAIM TO LAND AT KITSILANO IS NOT ABANDONED

Vancouver Reserve Issue Will Be Referred Direct to Ottawa

PROVINCE HAS LARGE INTEREST IN PROBLEM

No waiver of its rights in the Kitsilano Indian Reserve issue will be entertained by the Province, Premier Tolmie stated yesterday, in commenting on a movement launched on the Mainland to have the Government withdraw its claim to $300,000 expended at a time the Province sought acquisition of the Kitsilano lands from the Federal authorities.

Vancouver requests for use of the lands in question must be threshed out with the Dominion authorities directly by that city, Premier Tolmie intimated. In any event, the Government here has not considered abandoning any part of its case for reimbursement in the event of the lands being vested in other hands.

As the circumstances of the case occurred prior to the recent settlement in which the Dominion ceded ultimate control of Indian reserve lands in the province which may in future revert to the Crown, the Kitsilano reserve issue does not come within the scope of that settlement.

Lands in the province now used as Indian reserves, and which, in future, may not be required for this purpose, will come at such time under the control of the Province. This will eventually make available for settlement large and rich areas of arable lands of considerable potential value.

SOCCER TEAMS WILL HOLD LAST WORKOUTS

Local Clubs Busy Getting Players in Shape for League Opening Next Saturday

With the opening of the First Division Football League only a week away, local teams are wasting no time getting their clubs lined up and their players in shape. Today a number of practises are being held by the various clubs who next week will swing into action in league fixtures.

Esquimalt will meet the Garrison at Work Point at 2:45 o'clock, while the Jokers' senior and junior elevens will play at Central Park, commencing at 2:30 o'clock. At Beacon Hill Victoria West and the Saanich Thistles will play in a friendly game which will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Despite the fact that today's games are only of a friendly nature, it is expected that a number of interested fans will be on hand to get a glimpse of the players in action.

ANOTHER MINIATURE COURSE WILL OPEN

Wee McGregor Golf Links Ready for Play Tonight at 7:30 o'Clock

At 7:30 o'clock tonight will be held the opening of an establishment that is of more than passing interest to the devotee of miniature golf, and greater inducement than ever before to the novice to try his hand. The Wee McGregor Golf Links, situated on the corner of Blanshard and Broughton Streets, directly opposite the Royal Victoria Theatre, has now been completed and today is the date set for the public inspection.

Under the management of A. W. Carter, of this city, this indoor course includes the full eighteen holes of carefully planned and original hazards, the unusually roomy building giving ample scope for the laying out of these. The greens are of felt and a novel feature is that of the imitation "turf" in the roughs, which forms a test of skill. The entire floor, which at one time was occupied by a garage, has been resurfaced, and the walls have been decorated with landscape paintings, splendidly executed by Boyd McGill.

The building will be heated, making it pleasant to play upon even on the coldest nights, while the flood lighting precludes any possibility of shadow or darkness. The course will remain open every week night until 12 o'clock and judging by the interest already evinced the attendance will be steady on this popular course.

BLIND WILL NOT BE CHARGED CAR FARES

B.C. Electric Makes Generous Concession in Favor of Sightless of Victoria

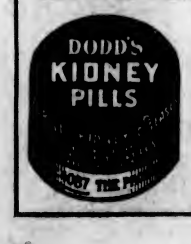

Frederick Landsberg, local chairman of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, has announced that in future sightless men will travel free of charge on the street cars of the British Columbia Electric Railway Company in Victoria. Through this generous concession on the part of the company, blind men, traveling with guides, will be enabled to do so at no greater cost than if they were traveling by themselves.

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind, on behalf of the blind people of Victoria, wishes to publicly express its sincere appreciation and gratitude to the B.C. Electric Railway Co. It is generous actions such as this of the B.C. Electric Railway Co., which enables the institute to render greater service, and to bring to the mind of the public generally, the necessity of assisting the blind in whatever way may be possible, in order that they may be placed on an equal footing with their sighted companions, and to assist in enabling them to travel and live generally, at no greater expense because of their unfortunate handicap.

Already the Canadian National Institute for the Blind, Western division, with headquarters at 205 Royal Trust Building, Vancouver, has issued sixteen passes to the blind of Victoria, and any other blind person wishing to receive a pass, upon proof of eligibility, may obtain one by applying to 737 Fort Street, or to the above address.

She Was Able to Resume Her Work
By Giving Dodd's Kidney Pills a Trial

"I work quite a lot out of doors and any heavy lifting seems to pull the backbone apart," writes Mrs. Boyles, R.R. No. 1, Cavan, Ont. "About seven years ago I suffered terribly. I couldn't bend to pick up anything. Liniments did not seem to do any good so I remembered my father had used Dodd's Kidney Pills for his Lumbago and I tried them and it is hardly necessary to say I found relief. A few weeks ago I felt my back strained and could not do any work until I purchased some Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Making good time from Los Angeles, the Furness motor liner Pacific President, Captain H. Campbell, docked at Rithet Piers yesterday morning at 10:30 o'clock. Five passengers left the ship here and seventy-seven tons of general cargo were discharged for local merchants, the ship leaving for Vancouver late yesterday afternoon.

Carpenters Attention!

All carpenters and woodworkers are urged to attend a meeting called to discuss the advisability of forming an all-Canadian organization of carpenters for Victoria and district at Harmony Hall, 734 Port Street, on Monday, September 29, at 7:30 p.m.

Come and hear of the benefits of an all-Canadian union by a representative from Vancouver. Your interests are affected.

Rotary Pageant Visitor Gives Some Impressions

"Certainly nothing better has been done in Victoria—I doubt if anything as good has been attempted before—to give pleasure to the public and to raise money to assist the Solarium and its unfortunate kiddies and for other noble work for children. The Victoria Rotarians may be justly proud of their most colorful and characteristically charming pageant.

"It is superb! And as there may be some few people in the city who have not yet been out to the Armories and as the "Pageant of Nations" has still one performance to give tonight, a few lines of genuine appreciation by a delighted visitor may not be out of order and may help to swell the grand receipts total.

"Don't let Saturday go by without a visit to the Armories, corner of Bay and Douglas Streets. The Pageant of Nations is really magnificent, and it helps kiddies! Rain or fine—go and see it, and go early. There is no use missing the first item on the programme, an excellent exhibition of real merit by the boys of the Y.M.C.A. That institution has always given us a good 'show,' and Archie McKinnon has built a series of pyramids that rise and tumble to perfection, and which prove that the coming race is 'fit' for anything.

QUEEN OF ROTARY

"Then the Queen of Rotary arrives, and she is most queen-like, and with her little pages makes courtiers of every man in the audience. Her prologue is well spoken and incidentally extremely well written and worth hearing and bearing in mind. It is the text of poetry itself.

"After her welcome to the audience there arrive the representatives of the newer nations who have embraced the ethics of Rotary—Venezuela, Panama, Switzerland, China, Cuba, Mexico, Bermuda and Peru—and the small people who represent these countries are graceful and quite heart capturing. There were four others—Bolivia, Chile, Columbia and Belgium.

"But, as Rotary covers the world, so the greater nations have also sent their charmingly-costumed representatives to greet Queen Kathleen, and here words utterly fail, me. Some 200 beautiful girls, dressed in their respective national flags, conduct a march, parade and ceremonial display that baffles description. It is so charming that it would be a pity if any child or grown-up in Victoria failed to see it.

"The international leaders—Miss Dorothy Basanta, whose father 'fathered' the whole display and certainly deserves the warmest congratulations, and Miss Byrd Luney—are to be most heartily congratulated on their exquisite poise and deportment. But how to describe the multifold evolutions of 200 of Victoria's best-looking young girls—go and see it all for yourself.

"After the performance is over, and when you have recovered from your amazement at the fairy-like dancing of Victoria's premier quartette of youthful ballet sprites, visit the 'Midway,' and if you go 'North' to the 'Bingo' pyramid you will no doubt win one of the many lovely prizes there to take home as a souvenir of Victoria's great attraction.

"There is dancing on the expansive floor of the Armories for the public after the performance, and music to charm the most savage breast by the most efficient Girls' Band, whose continuous playing throughout the long parade is itself a marvel and a proof that the fair sex can do everything well. See the Pageant of Nations tonight!"

Mules Are Important Item of Wardrobe

The mule, for all its workaday name, is a point of elegance in the boudoir costume, and as much importance is given it as to slippers for evening wear. Cinderella's slipper was never more romantic than the latest models to be worn with a negligee or dressing gown. Every sort of material known to footwear makers is used—kid, suede, satin, plain and brocaded; crepe, plain and printed; velvet and metal cloth. The less ornate mules, that may be worn with more than one negligee, are usually rather simple in design, and the woman who is fortunate enough to have a collection of negligees, elaborate and otherwise, has almost as many pairs of mules.

The old-style mules in which French women are more successful in walking than Americans have been superseded by a more comfortable model. This has a heel strap which holds the slipper secure instead of the unprotected quarter that left it flopping and the heel clicking along the floor. Some have also a fitted quarter exactly like that of the ordinary shoe, and have no ankle or heel strap, but are open at the sides, sandal fashion. Heels are moderately low, others are the extreme Louis Quinze. The most exotic types are lined with silver or gilt to match the heel or with satin of a shade to contrast or harmonize with the outer material. These are interesting as artistic bits, even in the hand, and the lining is suggested subtly when the mules are on the feet.

Housewives May Shortly Use Radio for Cooking

SCHENECTADY, Sept. 26.—The day when the housewife can tune in her radio cookstove to bake the next meal is foreshadowed by a little glass dish in the General Electric Laboratories here. This dish hangs at the end of a wire. Believe it or not, without flame or means of heat of any visible sort in the same room, this dish has cooked the following:

One sausage, one fried egg, one baked apple, a batch of cookies, and water was boiled in the dish.

It was all done with the new short wave vacuum tube, which sends out a radio wave about twenty feet long and having a frequency of fifty million cycles a second. The dish is suspended so that its contents pick up this intense radiation.

Prince of Wales Asked to Attend U.S. Celebration

RALEIGH, N.C., Sept. 26.—Secretary of State Stimson has been forwarded an invitation to the Prince of Wales to attend a celebration at Kitty Hawk, N.C., next November in commemoration of Orville and Wilbur Wright's first airplane flight.

Judgment Is Given

Mr. Justice Gregory yesterday refused to override the wishes of the father of Patrick W. Newton, a minor, and allow him to marry. The matter came before his lordship some time ago when permission was sought from the court to allow the marriage of Mr. Newton to Mary I. Pollock. Their ages were given as nineteen and thirty-seven, respectively. Mary E. Newton, the aunt of the young man, at whose residence he has lived since the death of his mother, was agreeable to the marriage, but the father refused his consent.

In giving judgment, Mr. Justice Gregory expressed himself as being loath to rule against the wishes of the father and pointed out that it would be only a matter of a little less than eighteen months until the young man will be of age and will then be at liberty to choose for himself.

CHAPTER XXV

From the night when Redford had glanced down into the hall of his house to see the police there, the search after him had proved fruitless. The car had been found at the back entrance, but neither Gustave nor anyone else could say what had become of its owner, and a fortnight had elapsed since Beatrice and her mother quitted London.

Only the aftermath of the sensation remained, although that provided plenty of conversation between Beatrice's former associates, who felt their loss acutely, but even that gradually subsided. Lady Montrose could not be perpetually answering questions about Mrs. Henshaw, she declared pettishly—all she knew was that Mrs. Henshaw turned out a 'wrong 'un' (her ladyship was rather addicted to the use of slang) and she preferred not to discuss her.

Dick was occupied with his lawyers, whilst meanwhile Joyce had more than enough to do, so that even her precious needlework got neglected. Dick had been let into the secret of it and his satisfaction at recovering a fortune, paled before the importance of what Joyce told him.

Only he and Joyce knew where Beatrice was living, who outwardly had become resigned to her fate. She never spoke of her husband and was always very reserved, finding a solace in household duties or attending to her flowers, and the quietude of her changed life restored her health as the uneventful days went by.

The cottage stood a little distance from the little town, and Mrs. Beresford after a vain protest that she might as well be living in a wilderness, had succumed to her solitary existence with the firm determination of going back to Bleakhaven as soon as Beatrice came to her senses.

"I have done nothing to be ashamed of," she complained fretfully to Joyce who paid Beatrice a visit. "That dreadful man's wickedness cannot be laid at my door, and poor Beatrice—well, I've given up trying to bring her to reason."

Joyce let her grumble on, and presently went out into the garden that was shielded from the road by a hedge with a white gate before the path leading to the cottage, finding Beatrice engaged upon her flowers.

Someone had looked over the hedge, but neither of them noticed the face that disappeared as Joyce came into the garden.

"I'll have to say good-bye, Beatrice," said Joyce. "Dick will be here directly to take me back in the car."

"You'll come again—soon?"

"You know I will, dear."

"I want you, Joyce. I've no other friend." And there were tears in Beatrice's eyes as she said this. "Only you and Mr. Hardy care for me. Have you though me ungrateful for what you've done for me? You wouldn't if you knew what my heart says, you wouldn't think that."

"I shall want you to be with me some day, for there is something . . ." and she bent forward whispering a word which brought a glow to Beatrice's sad eyes, and it was as if Joyce's sunny smile had been left on Beatrice's face as she moved among the flowers when she was alone.

Until she had turned suddenly, shrinking away from the approach of a man, at the sight of whom as he came through the gate, the memory of that night when in her jewel-eled dress she had heard her husband reveal his villainy, every detail of his look, every word he had uttered, returning to her memory bringing back the agony she had felt which had held her mute.

"You!".

The word had sprung impulsively from her lips, and Redford gave a harsh laugh that restored her self command.

"I expected to surprise you," he answered, "but you won't have the pleasure of seeing me for more than a few minutes. You would never have seen me again unless it had been necessary."

"Do you know that the police are searching for you. That I've only to tell someone that you are here and you would be taken to prison?" she asked indignantly.

"I am only too well aware of it," he answered, coolly. "Do you intend to give me away?" and he took a step nearer to her, glaring into her eyes.

"Why should I not? Why should I shield you? You've ruined my life, disgraced me, and wronged me as never a woman was wronged before. Stand back," and her flashing eyes caused him to retreat. "I'll hear you, but I'll do no more."

"I must have some money or the worth of it," he exclaimed, and a wolfish look came over his face. "Do you understand?"

"Only that you have no right here."

"Listen to what I have to say," he hissed, and the sound of a passer-by on the outer side of the hedge made Redford pause and lower his voice, until they died away. "I know the risk I'm running in being here, and the sooner I go the better; but I'm not going empty-handed."

"I have no money to give you" "You've the diamonds you used to wear. Go into the house and bring them to me."

"Everything was left when I came away from London. The jewels were never mine—they would burn into my flesh if I ever put them on again."

"Do you suppose I believe you?" he snarled. "That any woman would have given them up."

"I know nothing of what other women would have done, but I'm not a thief," replied Beatrice "Haven't you hurt me enough? Haven't you insulted me sufficiently by thinking I'm as bad as you are, without trying to disgrace me more?"

"Go and get the things," he exclaimed, raising his hand. "The jewelry is in the house, and I'll not go without it. Do you think I'm deceived by your denying you have the diamonds?"

"I have no more to say," and Beatrice was about to leave him when she suddenly stopped and held up her hand.

"Hark!"

Redford had shrunk to the hedge, for her voice, low as it sounded, was like a knell of doom to him. "Mr. Hardy is coming to take Joyce home, and though such a man as you is not worth saving, I warn you to go before it is too late," and at that moment Dick's car was heard drawing up at the door of the cottage.

Mrs. Beresford did not inquire the reason of Beatrice's decison to leave their cottage and return to Bleakhaven, being only too thankful to hear it, and she began packing up immediately. They were not to go back to Paradise Villa for some time, as that would have been too trying, but too somewhere quite different from the humble place where they had been exiled when the London house had fallen about her ears, as she described Beatrice's tragic fate.

"Thank Heaven we've got enough to find us bread and cheese," she told her daughter, and Mrs. Beresford spoke in this pious way of her future food that would be so different from the dinners she had been accustomed to, of many meats prepared by an artist cook. "That I do not mind, but it will be hateful to be talked about when we get back to Bleakhaven.

"Does it matter what people may say?" replied Beatrice. "They'll soon get tired of discussing us."

She spoke with her old firmness, and Mrs. Beresford was glad to hear her. It proved that Beatrice was not crushed completely, although she would never again be the same as formerly.

"I've been buried alive in this dreadful cottage," continued her mother, "and am only just coming to life again. I shall need a good change before settling down in Paradise Villa, and so we will go to Brighton for a week or so first."

"Very well. Anywhere will do, but I shall be sorry to leave the cottage—it is so peaceful; but I daren't stay."

"It's like a graveyard."

"That is not the reason," and Beatrice was seeing once more Redford's unshaven face and dust-laden clothes, with a dread of his repeating his visit. He was a murderer and there had been murder in his eyes as he commanded her to give him her jewelry. It was a useless demand for she had resigned everything she possessed on leaving London, from which time all that had happened there was never referred to, although Mrs. Beresford cherished a sort of grievance against her.

"Well, whatever the reason is, we're going back to civilization," continued Mrs. Beresford, "and the sooner I'm ready to start, the better," and she went up the banisterless bare staircase (she always complained bitterly of it) to her room, beginning her preparations for leaving at once.

When in the garden yesterday, Beatrice had silenced Redford by warning him of the approaching car to the cottage; he had shrunk down under the hedge; a pitiful sight of terror and the imminent peril of being discovered caused him to lose his hectoring tone and creep away when the danger had passed. There had been a breathless interval between the sound of the stopping vehicle and Dick's going into the cottage, a silence full of possibilities; and then the hunted man had leaped the hedge and disappeared in the gathering dusk. What Redford's life had been from the time when he glanced down into the hall of his house to see the police there, only he could have said.

Fearing to use the car which Gustave had been ordered to take to the back entrance, Redford, after gaining the street, had hailed a taxi and been driven to the East End, where in a squalid lodging house he found a refuge. The money he had secured would enable him to take a passage to America, but more was needed and having made some cautious inquiries, he discovered where Beatrice and her mother were living, as he determined to obtain the jewelry he was convinced Beatrice had brought away. Hence his fruitless visit to the cottage.

As he went along the lonely road after his foiled attempt, no one would have known him, for a month's growth was on his cheeks and lip, the greying hair adding ten years to his haggard face; this, and the coarse clothes in which he was dressed, proving an excellent disguise. He had always been a well-groomed man, very careful of his appearance, and the fear of being recognized now was groundless.

He was making for a railway station some miles beyond the town. There was less danger in doing this than venturing to the station at which he had arrived, and at length he came in right of his destination. His toilsome walk and disappointment made him regardless of danger, and getting into a carriage he nursed his rage, making fresh plans for leaving the country.

On reaching London he felt safe amid the busy streets through which he made his way to his sordid room. He had sufficient funds for carrying out his plans, and complete confidence of being able to get more after that had been exhausted. He was an adroit card sharper and gambler, a clever schemer, reckless in carrying out his schemes, full of resources, and America would provide ample opportunities for getting money. His well laid imposture had come to an unfortunate end certainly, but there were new prospects in his mind, and, after all, he had had a very good time. His only regret in killing Prebble was that it had brought an unnecessary peril to his chance of getting away, but on the whole there was no occasion for anxiety. He had a hundred pounds in the belt in which it was carried for safety—Buller's Court, E., was not a healthy place for anyone known to possess money—a hundred pounds, carefully used, would go far.

It is possible that he would have delayed his flight if a chance conversation overheard by him had not hastened it. People were talking in the room below his—they were speaking of the murder in the Royal Angel, and the voice of a half-drunken man made clear to Redford that the hue and cry after him had been revived.

"The 'tecs are after that blighter Henshaw," went on the coarse husky voice, and Redford strained his ear to catch more of the East End jargon, which brought a fresh fear to him. Suppose the police came to the house—that a hand were laid on his shoulder—that he was taken away to stand presently with a white cap drawn over his face, his eyes never again to see the light, and callous-hearted as he was he pictured his fate unless he fled—now—without being seen again.

He was holding the open door of the room in his hand, hearing the blatant talk more distinctly as he waited for an instant, and then with that wild fear tearing at his heart of being hindered, went cautiously down the rotting stairs and gained the street, hurrying away, nor did he slacken his speed until a safe distance had been put between himself and the house, for his flight from it might have betrayed him.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE Juliette Compton, member of the all-star cast of "Ladies of Leisure," the Columbia all-talking road show attraction showing at the Playhouse Theatre for the last times today, made her screen debut in London. She was cast in "Nell Gwynne."

COLISEUM THEATRE For the first time in film history, a P. & O. liner was placed at the disposal of British International Pictures at Tilbury Docks during the production of their "talkie," "Atlantic," directed by E. A. Dupont, and now showing at the Coliseum Theatre. Several barges were moored around the liner for the accommodation of a series of cameras, and Charles Rosher obtained a most fascinating shot from a motor launch in which he took from below a boat that was being lowered.

McCORMACK'S MAGIC VOICE TO BE HEARD

John McCormack, who comes to the Dominion Theatre on Monday for a six-day run in his first starring audible Fox movietone production, is today doing for song in America what Dante did for literature in Italy and what Spenser did for literature in England.

There are no indifferent audiences when John McCormack sings. McCormack audiences are composed of the really cultured men and women of the communities where he appears who listen spellbound while a great artist sings great songs and proves to them that an artist and a song may be great without being mysterious.

STRONG CAST COMES TO CAPITOL THEATRE

Gouveneur Morris, who write the newest Ruth Chatterton-Clive Brook original story on which is based the starring picture, "Anybody's Woman," opening Monday at the Capitol Theatre, is a direct descendant of Gouverneur Morris, revolutionary hero, statesman and United States senator.

Morris, one of America's best-known fiction writers, is a great-grandson of the man for whom he was named. He began writing in 1897, shortly after he was graduated from Yale with a B.A. degree. One of his novels, "The Penalty," was a picture success several years ago.

"Anybody's Woman" was directed by Dorothy Arzner, who directed "Sarah and Son," Miss Chatterton's famous dramatic play of motherlove.

Cathedral A.Y.P.A.

The Cathedral A.Y.P.A. held its regular weekly meeting in the guild room of the Memorial Hall, with about forty members present. Mr. Jack Aylwin assumed his official position of president of the A.Y.P.A. Miss Shirley Maynard, the secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting and also those of the executive, which were approved by the meeting.

The president reported the receipt of a letter from the St. Paul's, Nanaimo, A.Y.P.A., requesting the Cathedral branch to help in putting on a play in the Memorial Hall about October 20, in aid of the reconstruction of the Nanaimo church recently destroyed by fire. The meeting approved of the executive's action in giving full support in this matter.

The installation of officers was carried out, Rev. F. A. Ramsey conducting the ceremony.

The evening was successfully concluded by playing games.

There will be no regular meeting next week on account of services in the Cathedral, but on Wednesday, October 8, it has been decided to hold a welcome night, which all new and prospective members are most cordially invited to attend.

Clubs and Societies

Canadian Daughters

Far West Assembly No. 30, Canadian Daughters' League, held its regular meeting this week in the New Thought Hall. An interesting feature of the evening was a talk on "What Canadians Owe to Canada," given by Mrs. Barr, convener of the educational committee. Various members were then called upon and several interesting and profitable discussions ensued. Plans were made for a tea to be given at the home of Mrs. W. B. Moore, 2829 Colquitz Avenue, on Wednesday, October 1, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. Arrangements were made for a rummage sale to be held on Saturday, October 4, under the convenership of Mrs. Briers.

The Native Daughters of British Columbia, Post No. 3, met recently at the Alexandra Club. After an initiation ceremony a most enjoyable social was held, with Mrs. R. Grant, Mrs. F. Webb, Mrs. D. During the evening the Chief Factor, Miss Ettie Neelands, on behalf of the post, presented Mrs. H. King with a gift of engraved silver. Miss Irene McDonald, who is to be married shortly, was also the recipient of a similar gift.

Royal Bridge Chapter

At a meeting of the Royal Bride Chapter, I.O.D.E., held yesterday, plans were made for a pumpkin tea, to be held on November 1. Mrs. Sydney Wood presided at the meeting and nine members were present. Mrs. J. H. Gillespie was a visitor to the meeting. Miss Nan Morley was welcomed to the chapter. Miss Elsie Friend was appointed assistant standard-bearer. The members were asked to assist with the Navy League tag day, and decided to donate an article of furniture to the new rooms of the Sea Cadets.

CANADIAN CLUB HISTORY TOLD

Booklet Presented at Coming-of-Age Tea Contains Stimulating Story

BIG EDUCATIONAL WORK

A stimulating example of successful club life was revealed yesterday in the history of the Women's Canadian Club of Victoria, published in the form of souvenir booklets presented to the guests at the coming-of-age tea held at the Empress Hotel. This attractive brochure, the cover of which was decorated in the blue and gold colors of the society, will be treasured by the hundreds of members who attended the interesting anniversary celebration, as it contains a resume of the outstanding activities of the club for the entire twenty-one years of its existence.

This history, built up from the records of the organization, begins with its inception on June 28, 1909, "when a meeting was called (through the press) of the patriotic women of Victoria, the object of which was to form a women's Canadian club."

Mrs. Fitzgibbon, one of the senior women journalists of Canada, was unanimously invited to take the chair and, again quoting from the secretary's notes of that important initial meeting, "Mr. A. E. McPhillips (now a justice of the Appeal Court) addressed the meeting on the advantages accruing nationally and socially through the organization of patriotic clubs of both men and women, pointing out a vast field of service in the building up of Imperial Canada, in which field women have a distinctive place."

OFFICERS CHOSEN

"Following this address, Mrs. Frank Andrews moved and Mrs. (Dr.) Hasell seconded that a Women's Canadian Club be formed. This motion was unanimously carried, and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. G. H. Barnard; first vice-president, Mrs. F. B. Pemberton; second vice-president, Mrs. Henry Croft; hon. secretary, Mrs. C. E. Wilson; hon. assistant secretary, Miss Belle Leeming; hon. treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Robertson; literary correspondent, Mrs. C. Fitzgibbon; executive members, Mrs. Richard McBride, Mrs. F. I. Clarke, Mrs. J. T. Reid, Mrs. C. Spofford, Mrs. A. Watt, Mrs. Lewis Hall and Miss Mara.

"Sixty-one charter members were enrolled.

"Mrs. Gordon Grant moved and Miss Dupont seconded that a constitution similar to that of the Men's Canadian Club be adopted.

"The membership fee was fixed at $2 annually."

Thus the Women's Canadian Club of Victoria was duly launched and set forth on its patriotic mission.

The activities of the club during its earlier years were directed chiefly toward entertaining distinguished visitors, amongst whom were Their Excellencies the various Governors-General of Canada and noted statesmen and their distinguished wives, outstanding educationists, authors and artists from all parts of the Empire; securing eminent speakers on topics of special interest to the club members, and in participating in local community enterprises.

ACTIVE IN WAR WORK

Following the outbreak of the World War the club, with its largely increased membership, threw itself unreservedly into war work. A Returned Soldiers' Fund was created from which temporary loans were made to returned men pending the period of rehabilitation and pension adjustments. By this means many distressing financial situations were relieved. Soldiers' wives were provided with all necessary aid during maternity. Substantial financial aid was given the military hospitals and other war institutions and everything that could add to the comfort of our soldiers was gladly furnished. For these purposes about $10,000 was raised, the amount secured on Returned Soldiers' Sunday, reaching the sum of $6,468.81. This good work was continued until 1920, after which time it was deemed unnecessary.

An avenue of maple trees with roots firmly embedded and branches now reaching up toward the blue above, today adorns the Victoria High School campus, a living memorial to the students who went overseas, and commemorating the unforgettable battle of Ypres, and and an immense silken banner, whose white stars and crimson maple leaves represent nurses and students who saw service at the front, were both the gifts of the Women's Canadian Club to the Victoria High School.

EDUCATIONAL WORK

The club's interest in educational work has always been keen, as shown by the fact that two bursaries of $100 each are annually presented to the boy and the girl matriculating with the highest record in the high schools of Greater Victoria and who continue their studies in the Victoria College. In recognition of the value of home Economics in the public school curriculum a silver service was contributed, to be competed for annually, and valuable gifts of books are given each year to the classes showing the best work in the courses in needlework. In addition to these prizes are given annually for Canadian history and Canadian civics in the Victoria High and the Margaret Jenkins schools. The latter is given as a memorial to Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, for many years the efficient and beloved president of the club and an honored member of the Victoria School Board.

Local public institutions have claimed the interest of the club in no small degree. A gift of $1,000 was given the Jubilee Hospital toward the establishment of a maternity ward and on the completion of the new hospital wing, a semi-private ward was fully furnished. The drawing-room in the new Y.W.C.A. was handsomely and suitably furnished, and each year very material assistance is given the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Y.M.C.A. at its annual tea.

PUBLISH BOOK

The most ambitious project of the club, undoubtedly, was the publication of "The Pioneer Women of Vancouver Island." This was undertaken as a patriotic duty, and was dedicated to the brave women who amid danger, often enduring many deprivations and lonely in their isolation, contributed in no small degree to the early settlement of Vancouver Island. The suggestion of this publication was received enthusiastically, and whole-hearted co-operation on the part the few remaining pioneers and of the descendants of many others, while valuable assistance was given by numerous friends who were deeply interested in the undertaking. The club felt highly honored in that Her Most Gracious Majesty Queen Mary consented to accept a copy of the book and in so doing expressed the sincere interest in all that pertains to the womanhood of Canada.

In connection with the publication, it is fitting to make mention of the gracious hospitality of His Honor the Lieutenant Governor and Miss Helen Mackenzie, when a reception at Government House was tendered to all pioneer women who were here prior to the year 1866. It was a day and an occasion that will live in the memory of those who were privileged to be present, among whom were two who had passed the ninety year milestone.

HIGHLY COMMENDED

Interest in the publication has not been confined to Vancouver Island alone. Canadian Clubs generally were greatly impressed with this laudable undertaking, while from various parts of Canada there have been received many expressions of highest commendation. Of the 2,000 copies issued only a few hundred remain in stock.

The club has been highly honored in that chatelaines of Government House have from time to time graciously consented to occupy the position of honorary president of the club, and the wife of the Premier of the day will, in like manner, fill the newly-created office of honorary vice-president.

CLUB PRESIDENTS

Presidents who during the twenty-one years have guided the destinies of the club are: Mrs. G. H. Barnard, Mrs. F. B. Pemberton, Mrs. I. Charlotte Hannington, Mrs. F. A. McDarimid, Mrs. Margaret Jenkins, Mrs. J. C. F. Hyndman, Mrs. H. P. Hodges, Miss Kathleen Agnew, Mrs. P. McNaughton, Mrs. C. Spofford, and Mrs. F. B. Scurrah.

This is but a partial review of the activities of the club, whose membership is now 1,300, set forth in the briefest possible manner; but the members believe that the record fully justifies the existence of the organization.

The Women's Canadian Club of Victoria today, as during the past, is holding fast its high ideals and is endeavoring to maintain its original objective, that of fostering patriotism by encouraging the study of the institutions, history, arts, literature and resources of Canada, and by endeavoring to unite Canadians in such work for the welfare and progress of the Dominion as may be desirable and expedient.

INSTITUTE PLANS ITS BIRTHDAY TEA

The members of the Lake Hill Women's Institute will hold their coming-of-age party on Monday in the Community Hall, corner of Quadra Street and Lodge Avenue from 3 to 5:30 o'clock. All members of the various Women's Institutes at the South end of the Island are cordially invited to help celebrate the twenty-first birthday.

The Institute was organized on September 28, 1909, in the fruit-packing station on Quadra Street, now a mission hall, by Miss Laura Rose, who was sent by the Agricultural Department of British Columbia to interest women in the study of home economics for women in rural communities.

The first regular meeting was held in the North Dairy School, now Lake Hill, on October 20, 1909, at which place the meetings were held until the Community Centre was built, in which undertaking the Institute took part.

Mrs. Service, a charter member, will be the general convener of the party on Monday and a musical programme has been arranged, to which Mrs. Ballantyne, L.A.B., Miss Watson, the pupils of Miss Violet Fowkes and Masters Reginald and Raymond Porter will contribuate. A scene will be put on by members of the Institute to represent their inauguration in 1909, and in which Mrs. S. F. Tolmie, the first president, will take part.

The Victoria Independent Theosophical Society will hold its usual weekly public meeting on Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Jones Building, Fort Street. The subject for the evening will be "The Roots of Theosophy."

Cardinals Defeat Pittsburgh to Capture National League Pennant

Register 10-5 Win In Deciding Game; Cubs Defeat Reds

10,000 Ardent Fans Brave Cold Weather to Watch St. Louis Crash Through to Flag—Will Meet Philadelphia Athletics

BY the simple process of continuing to win ball games, the St. Louis Cards and Chicago Cubs settled the first two places in the National League standing yesterday. The Cards clinched the title by defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates 10 to 5, and by holding their lead of three games until there were only two left to play. They can now lose both remaining games and finish a game ahead of the Cubs.

Chicago, also victorious by a 7-5 score over the Cincinnati Reds, treated New York and Brooklyn in the same fashion, although they failed to overtake the Cards. The Giants, with no games to play and Brooklyn with three, cannot reach the total of eighty-eight victories which the Cubs have attained. Both were idle yesterday.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26. — Slugging their way to a 10 to 5 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates here today, the St. Louis Cardinals clinched the National League pennant and earned the right to meet the Philadelphia Athletics, American League champions, in the 1930 world series.

Some 10,000 St. Louis rooters who shivered in weather more suitable for football went wild as the game ended and the Red Birds won the right to battle Connie Mack's team in the 1930 October classic. The fans danced, howled and cheered Manager Gabby Street and his hard-hitting Cardinals, rang cowbells and blew horns, while hats were tossed onto the field.

"GABBY" STREET IS HAILED AS "MIRACLE MAN"

Cards Pilot Earned Title Today by Club's Pennant Victory

BROUGHT TEAM TO TOP IN GREAT RACE

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26.—The baseball world tonight hailed a new "miracle man."

Charles "Gabby" Street earned the title today when he brought his St. Louis Cardinals triumphantly through one of the most heated National League pennant races on record and took a place alongside George Stallings, manager of the Boston Braves in 1914, as one of baseball's immortals.

Sixteen years ago Stallings led his team from nowhere in mid-season to a league title in October. Street tonight had duplicated that feat. The Red Birds have yet to win the World Series as the Braves did in 1914.

With the Red Birds some dozen games behind the league leaders half-way through the season, Street was always cheerful, always optimistic. Now another league pennant is to flow over Sportsman's Park here and to the team's grizzled manager goes most of the credit.

AL SIMMONS OUSTS GEHRIG FROM LEAD

Takes Command of First Place in American League Batting Race

Al Simmons had all the best of the three-way batting struggle among the American League members of the Big Six at Philadelphia yesterday. By making two safe hits, one of them a double which won the game, in four times at bat, he took the American League batting lead and third place in the Big Six away from Lou Gehrig, who made three hitless trips to the plate, dropped three points to .378. Babe Ruth hit once in four attempts, just enough to hold his last place mark at .358. The three National League representatives again were idle. The standing:

BRITISH GOLF TITLE WON BY WHITCOMBE

(Canadian Press Cable)

OXHEY, HERTFORDSHIRE, Eng., Sept. 26—Charles Albert Whitcombe, second of the famous Whitcombe trio, today won the Thousand Guineas Tournament and with it the right to bear the title of British professional champion when he defeated T. H. "Terry" Cotton, four up and two to go, in a sensational thirty-six hole match.

In defeating Cotton, Whitcombe broke the course record for eighteen holes. His morning round of sixty-eight was three less than the old time record set by the great Johnny Henry Taylor, a course which has always been regarded as difficult.

Cotton played his usual strong game in the morning, going around in seventy-two, six below Bogey, and yet was three down to Whitcombe at the end of the first eighteen holes. The men have often met before and Whitcombe is known as Cotton's "bete noir" for he invariably plays his best game when pitted against the redoubtable "Terry" and has robbed him of many titles and prizes.

VIRGINIA VAN WIE WINS GOLF CROWN

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Virginia Van Wie, Chicago's first ranking star, easily captured the seventy-two hole women's golf Derby title today with a total of 325 strokes, or but one shot over par for the distance over the Glenview Country Club course.

Eight strokes behind Miss Van Wie was Mrs. O. S. Hill, of Kansas City, who had a total of 333 strokes. Mrs. Stewart Hanley, of Detroit, finished third with a 353 total.

GOLF AWARDS PRESENTED BY J. O. CAMERON

MRS. SEMPLE AND COMMITTE PRAISED

The final ceremonies of the women's city golf championship, which has been in progress at the Uplands Golf Club since Monday, took place yesterday afternoon following the final between Miss Marjorie Todd, Oak Bay, and Mrs. E. Jackson, Uplands, in which the former won out, when J. O. Cameron, president, presented the prizes to the various winners.

In passing along the championship cup to the fifteen-year-old youngster, Mr. Cameron highly praised her on her wonderful victory and in doing so warned the veterans of the game to keep a careful eye on the younger generation in future tournaments. Miss Todd replied in her usual modest manner. The president also congratulated the plucky fight put up by Mrs. Jackson, medalist and holder of the Uplands club honors.

The winners of the various flights and the runners-up received prizes. Mrs. Walter Parry, wife of Walter Parry, secretary of the Colwood Golf and Country Club, highly praised Mrs. R. A. Semple, captain of the club, and her committee, who worked untiringly to make the tourney such a huge success. In return, Mrs. Semple thanked Mrs. Parry for her kind remarks.

JACK SHARKEY-CAMPOLO BOUT IS CANCELED

Doomed to Financial Failure, Proposed Heavyweight Mix Definitely Off

ARGENTINE WILL GO HOME ON OCTOBER 3

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The worst fiasco in all the fight history of Madison Square Garden sloughed into a ludicrous finale today with the abandonment of the ill-fated heavyweight match between Jack Sharkey and Victorio Campolo.

Doomed to financial failure through the complete indifference of the populace from the moment the articles were signed, saddled with a guarantee of $100,000 given Sharkey when the Boston sailor threatened to bolt the Garden auspices and battle with Primo Carnera in Chicago, the match, scheduled for last night at the Yankee Stadium, ran into a rainstorm and postponement.

With less than $50,000 in the box office and expenses surrounding the mill estimated at $154,000, Garden faced a flat loss of $100,000 until the fighters added complicated demands to the situation today and brought about a grateful abandonment of the entire proceedings.

The Garden stood to take its loss last night and announced the bout would be staged indoors October 3. Although commission rules here call for a postponement of only one day, weather reports indicated more rain would fall tonight and force a second postponement. Unfortunately, Campolo was not consulted before the Garden decision was announced.

Today the gawky Gaucho flatly refused to fight October 3, unless a new deal were made all around and he was given $20,000 for his services. He argued that he had accepted a guarantee of $7,500 for the bout and 15 per cent of the receipts above $200,000 in the belief the match would draw gate receipts approaching $350,000. Now that it wasn't going to do any of these things, he wanted more money. He offered, however, to fight Sharkey, who had trained poorly for the fight, for no pay at all if the Boston sailor would meet him tonight.

Sharkey, apparently not averse to the abandonment, headed for home this morning while his manager, Johnny Buckley, stayed behind to wind up affairs and collect $5,000 for training expenses.

Campolo made no request for expenses, and seemed so piqued at the situation that he announced he would sail back to Argentina October 3 and leave the American box fighting industry flat.

YOUNGSTER DOWNS MRS. JACKSON IN THRILLING MATCH

Fifteen-Year-Old Oak Bay Girl Scores 3 and 1 Victory Over Uplands Star in Finals of Women's Championship at Uplands Golf Club—Creates History

Winner Was Two Up at the Ninth; Mrs. C. H. Eve Wins First Flight

Marjorie Todd, fifteen-year-old youngster, bearing the colors of the Victoria Golf Club, ascended the throne as women's city golf champion yesterday afternoon at the Uplands Golf Club when she climaxed a week of brilliant golf by trimming Mrs. E. Jackson, Uplands club titleholder, in the final, 3 and 1, in a match that was nip and tuck from the first tee to the seventeenth green, where it ended.

Thrill followed thrill the entire journey and as the pair walked off the seventeenth carpet after Mrs. Jackson had missed her putt, they were given a great hand from the

By her victory, Miss Todd is the youngest member of the gentle sex ever to have the city crown rest upon her brow. Years gone by it has been the seasoned players that came through, but yesterday that age-worn phrase "Youth must be served" was fulfilled when Miss Todd crashed through golfdom's spotlight to uphold the colors of the younger generation.

Marjorie Todd, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Todd, Newport Avenue, first broke into prominence while holidaying with her parents at Jasper Park two years ago, when she traveled around that difficult layout in the low eighties. Last year she continued in the public's eye by reaching the final at the Oak Bay links, only to be beaten by Mrs. B. R. Philbrick, 2 and 1.

DROPS FIRST HOLE

The newly-crowned champion outdrove her opponent by seventy-five yards on the first hole but caught a bunker on her second shot and finally dropped the hole when she required a 6 to Mrs. Jackson's 5. Matters were squared on the next hole. Miss Todd sliced her tee shot and nearly went out of bounds, while Mrs. Jackson slammed one right down the centre. The youngster's second was slightly to the right, but in the clear, while Mrs. Jackson topped her brassie. Both chipped on and Marjorie holed a beautiful fifteen-footer to square things.

Again Miss Todd had fifty yards on Mrs. Jackson from the third tee. Both were short with their seconds and the hole was halved in fives. Marjorie's drive at the short fourth caught a gaping trap. Mrs. Jackson was straight but her chip shot was weak again and Miss Todd exploded from the sand to gain a half in fours.

Hooking her drive on the fifth nearly cost the Oak Bay girl the hole but she had that fighting spirit and sent a beautiful brassie nearly to the green. Mrs. Jackson was right down the middle but topped her second from a downhill lie. She chipped on twenty feet from the flag and sunk her putt, while Miss Todd missed an easy three-footer to take the lead. The next two holes were halved in fives and sixes respectively.

The champion went one up at the eighth when Mrs. Jackson sliced her second. She won the hole with a good par four. Miss Todd went farther in the lead by winning the ninth with another par four. Mrs. Jackson's drive caught a bunker on the left. She got well to the green but missed her putt to lose the hole.

TWO UP AT NINTH

Starting the last leg of the journey, the schoolgirl had a two-hole advantage. On the tenth she sliced her mat shot to the back of the trees on the twelfth fairway, while Mrs. Jackson laced one right down the centre. Miss Todd chipped through the woods to the right lane and then sent her iron within twenty feet of the pin. Mrs. Jackson received great applause when she nearly held her approach, the ball just trickled past the cup. After going all over the fairway, Miss Todd gained a half in fives.

Mrs. Jackson sliced Miss Todd's lead at the next hole when she smacked a lovely spoon shot to the far edge of the green, while Miss Todd was short with her iron. Mrs. Jackson won the hole with a par three. More trouble greeted Marjorie on the twelfth. She sliced her drive under an oak tree. Her second caught a bunker. Her third barely got out and she lost the hole by taking six.

With the match squared, things looked interesting from the spectator's viewpoint. Mrs. Jackson pulled her tee shot to the trees and Miss Todd stepped up and her drive whistled down the fairway, 240 yards away, a terrific smack for a fifteen-year-old female. Erraticness cost her the hole, however, as she took four shots from a distance of eighteen yards, and Mrs. Jackson was all smiles as she was contented with a half in fives after being in the woods.

TERRIFIC DRIVE

Apparently mad at herself for mussing up the last hole, Miss Todd put all she had in a drive at the dog-leg fourteenth. She made the gallery sit up and take notice as she laced one right around the corner of the trees, well over 200 yards away. Mrs. Jackson's was straight, but she dubbed her iron and went into the woods. In attempting to get out her ball hit a tree and bounded back farther among the tall timbers. She finally got out, but in the meantime Miss Todd placed her second pir high and won the hole with a birdie four to her opponent's seven.

Continuing her steady work, Miss Todd captured the sixteenth to be dormie two. Her iron shot on this short hole was on the green, while Mrs. Jackson's never got past the rocks in front of the green, and she required a four to Miss Todd's three. The match ended on the next hole when Marjorie caged another par and Victoria's youngest champion took over the title of "Queen of the Fairways."

In the finals of the first flight, Mrs. Cecil Eve defeated Mrs. R. A. Semple, 6 and 4. Both players are from the Uplands Club.

KARASICK AND KRUSE TO MIX AGAIN TONIGHT

Great Battle Expected When Russian Lion Opposes Portland Mat Man

BROOKS AND PROKAS ARE IN SEMI-WIND-UP

Al Karasick, the "Russian Lion," and Bob Kruse, youthful Portland exponent of the bone-bending and twisting game, will make a third attempt to decide which is the better man, when they appear in the eight-round main event of tonight's grappling show at the Tillicum gymnasium. In their previous exploits in the squared circle, the police intervened once, while the second bout, which by the way was staged here, ended in a draw, each man securing a fall.

Karasick, one of the best of the many top-notch men to appear here, ruled a slight favorite last night to defeat his more youthful rival. His greater experience, coupled with his more finished wrestling, is responsible for him being in the favored slot.

Kruse, who of late has come along like a house on fire, is no polooka in the mat pastime. Speedy, with a good understanding of the many punishing holds, the Portlander is sure to give the "Russian Lion" plenty of trouble.

EROOKS ON CARD

The semi-wind-up bout, scheduled to go five eight-minute rounds, promises to be another interesting affair. Here "Rocky" Brooks, Victoria mat man, will match his skill against Sam Prokas, St. Louis grappler. The latter appeared here last week in the role of referee and got into an argument with Brooks. Tonight he will be in the same ring, but this time he will be wrestling instead of officiating, and will have Brooks as his opponent to do with him as he sees fit.

The curtain raiser, which will get under way at 8:45 o'clock, will see Danny Pastroe and Clarence Bruce, local mat men, in action.

Tickets have been moving steadily with indications of a bumper crowd being on hand to witness what looms up as one of the best cards of the season.

Committee of Directors Will Look After J.B.A.A.

Affairs of Veteran Association to Be Handled in Different Manner—Membership Drive Urged—Miss Underwood Is President-Elect of W.A.

The affairs of the J.B.A.A. will be handled by a committee of directors for the ensuing twelve months, who will be responsible to the shareholders and members. This decision was reached at the fortieth annual meeting of the association held last night at the club's headquarters at the Gorge.

The directors will call upon the members to form sub-committees, which will be responsible to the board. The purpose of appointing directors is to expand the club and operate it in an economic manner, declared R. F. Taylor, president, in addressing the gathering. These committees will be formed at the next meeting and the election of officers will also take place.

ANNUAL REPORT

A. J. Fouracre, secretary, opened the meeting with the reading of his annual report. It dealt with the great progress the club members were making in the athletic world, the splendid work of the women's auxiliary and the fine improvements made to the building during the past twelve months. He highly praised the endeavors of the oarsmen who competed at the N.P.A.A.O. regatta at Brentwood and the Interior championships at Kelowna.

Basketball, softball, tennis and other sports were quickly summarized and the members competing were complimented for their efforts in the various leagues. In tennis the J.B.A.A. players have done exceptionally well, gaining five of the Esquimalt titles and reaching the semis in the others. The club net tourney was a huge success and the calibre of play was of a high standard, stated Mr. Fouracre.

PRAISES W.A.

"The women's auxiliary," continued the secretary, has done wonderful work. Regular dances and bridge drives were held, which proved most successful. A raffle was conducted for a cedar chest, which brought a substantial sum, the contents of the chest being supplied by the members of the auxiliary.

"Two silver teas, one in honor of Lieut.-Governor R. R. Bruce and Miss Helen Mackenzie, were held. Another tea was held in honor of His Honor and Miss Margaret Mackenzie," he continued.

"We regret that Mrs. A. H. Cox, president of the auxiliary, is resigning, but hope to have her advice and assistance during the year. Miss Sadie Underwood, the president-elect, will fill the post well, with her past experience and the loyal support which she will receive, we anticipate another successful year," Mr. Fouracre concluded.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

B. C. Nicholas, one of the directors, stated that the club was in a position to handle another 200 members. He reminded the meeting that the club was forced to borrow money and to repay it new members would have to be secured. "What we do need is an increase in our revenue. To attain that, we must have the co-operation of all members. I am quite confident that there is enough loyalty in the J.B.A.A. to bring our balance sheet to a proper standing," he concluded.

R. F. Taylor corroborated Mr. Nicholas' remarks. Mr. Taylor occupied the chair.

FINALS ARE REACHED IN SOUTHERN TENNIS

Allison and Van Ryn to Play Mangin and Bell in Doubles Title Event

The Allison-Van Ryn victory over Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, and Ellsworth Vines, Pasadena, was won in straight sets, 6-3, 6-2, 6-1.

In the other semi-final of the women's doubles, Mrs. L. A. Harper, Oakland, and Miss Marjorie Morrill, Dedham, Mass., moved into tomorrow's finals by defeating Mrs. Jack Bartosh and Miss Gladys Pats, Los Angeles, 6-1, 6-1. They will play the Cruickshank-Gladman combination.

The quarter-finals of the mixed doubles saw Gledhill and Weisel eliminated by Vines and Miss Helen Marlowe, 6-3, 6-3; Mangin and Miss Cruickshank defeated by Allison and Miss Dorothy Workman, Del Monte, 6-1, 7-5; and Mrs. William Henry and Jack Tidball, Los Angeles, eliminated by J. Gilbert Hall, Orange, N.J., and Miss Ethel Burkhardt, San Francisco, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5.

Joe Brown, Wing third baseman, was the game's hitting star, getting four safe blows. Wilkinson pitched for Louisville until he was relieved in the eighth by Penner.

GEORGE RICKARD TO BATTLE DEL WOLFE

Heavyweights Given Semi-Wind-Up Slot on Townsend—Divodi Mix at Vancouver Monday

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26.—A heavyweight battle over the six-round route between George Rickard, of Winnipeg, and the hard-hitting Del Wolfe, of Bellingham, has been signed to complete the card on which Billy Townsend and Andy Divodi, of New Ybrk, clash in a ten-round match Monday night. Rickard and Wolfe met here in a sensational main bout on the Fourth of July, and the rematching of the pair is natural.

Another good match was added to the card with the signing of Gordon Wallace, of Vancouver, to meet Jimmy Farrar, Yakima, in a four-round tilt.

Allan Foston, heralded as the best prospect in the Northwest, meets George Ainsworth in the special event on the card. Foston continued his winning streak by knocking out Harry Soo in four rounds in Bellingham on Wednesday night.

The interest in the clash between Divodi and Townsend exceeded anything previously staged here, and the pair have been drawing record crowds in their training quarters.

MANDELL WINS

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Sammy Mandell, former lightweight champion, opened his campaign for the welterweight throne by winning an easy ten-round decision over Tommy Herman, of Chicago.

BOBBY JONES FAVORED TO WIN U.S. GOLF

Atlanta Wizard to Battle Homans in Quest of Honors

Young Englewood Mashie-Wielder Only Barrier in Way of Jones Winning His Fourth Crown—Sweetser Goes Under, 9 and 8, at Hands of Bobby

Homans in Great Victory Over Seaver

By GRANTLAND RICE

MERION CRICKET CLUB, ARDMORE, Pa., Sept. 26.—There is now just one golf match between Bobby Jones and the all-time record of four major championships in one year.

The lone barrier is young Gene Homans, of Englewood, N.J., the tall, thin, bespectacled golfer from Princeton University, who was at one time five down against Charley Seaver, the young California athlete. Homans, against this handicap, turned in a magnificent 70 to win by one up with as fine an exhibition of golfing skill and true courage as anyone would care to see.

Bobby Jones has this one obstacle in his way, an obstacle thinner, physically, than a drink of water, but carrying the heritage of a stout, fighting heart, the type of heart that never knows defeat until the engagement is over.

Through the blistering heat of another sun-baked day, Bobby Jones beat Jess Sweetser by 9 and 8 with a remarkable exhibition of golf in the afternoon. He was four up when they started, and with this lead Jones was out in 33. He closed out the match with a birdie three on the tenth hole, a pace entirely too fast even for the stout-hearted ex-champion of the United States and Great Britain.

Eight years ago, Sweetser beat Jones 8 and 7 at Brookline. Today Jones added just one hole to this old figure to make his revenge complete. No man in golf has ever beaten Jones twice. When they beat once, as several have, they face annihilation in the next attempt.

Against those who have beaten him once, he has turned on a brand of golf that was beyond all stopping. For example, against Sweetser today he was four up at the fifth hole. Sweetser made a great rally and cut this lead down to one. There was every prospect of a hard-fighting, closely-contested match. Then Jones moved away to lead Sweetser four up at the finish of the morning round.

SWEETSER KEYED UP

You could see that Sweetser was keyed up for a big comeback. He was confident of carrying the match into the stretch, but in the afternoon test, starting four down, he suddenly ran into a brand of golf that would have burned the heart from anyone. For Jones played the next ten holes in four under par.

It was typical of the young Georgia attorney that, despite the fact that he was four up and had played the course in 72, he was far from satisfied with his game. To be downright honest about it, he was sorer than two boils, as he felt he had been below form all the week. So he stepped on the gas in the afternoon, and when he steps on the gas there is no one who can keep up.

Sweetser did all any good golfer could do to meet this last charge, but when you are four down and your opponent hands you a 36 for the next ten holes, four under par, there can be only one answer.

The battle in the semi-final turn between Charley Seaver and Gene Homans was far more dramatic. Young Seaver is a powerfully built athlete, weighting 185 pounds. He had all the physical advantages minus tournament experience. Homans is on the frail side, and at the start he looked to be worn down and faltering.

The two young stars from the East and West had dinner together the night before and then went to a motion picture show. They were two of the finest representatives high-class sport can show.

When Seaver finished five up in the forenoon he looked to be safely in. He was then an odds-on bet. But Young Homans is the son of the famous Shep Homans, of Princeton football fame in the days when, as an old timer remarked, "men were men and not forward passers."

BRILLIANT FINISH

Facing that killing deficit of five holes against a strong, young, game and skillful player, Homans set sail in the afternoon for a 70. He played the best golf of the field on Thursday when he was even 4's. He played a great round this afternoon with one of the most brilliant finishes yet seen in any championship.

The story of one hole shows his calibre. He was 1 down and 2 to play when they came to the 230-yard seventeenth. Homans hit a magnificent tee shot that barely missed the green. It stopped nine feet beyond. Seaver was off line, but came back with a fine recovery. Homans just missed his 2 and stopped two feet over the cup.

Seaver then laid him a stymie that looked deader than the dust on the mummies of the Pharaohs. His ball was on the lip of the cup, directly in a road. Here was a pretty pickle. Being 1 down, Homans had to take the big chance. He couldn't play safe with only one hole to go. But if he deviated by half an inch he would knock Seaver's ball in and lose by 2 to 1.

Under these harassing circumstances, he stepped up and with a cool head, a stout heart and flexible hands and wrists, he cut his short putt around the blockading ball. The putt ran to the right, spun its way slowly around and finally dropped in to win the hole. It was the big and killing thrust of the match and it called for all the world there is to play it the right way.

Homans then won the eighteenth when Seaver hooked his second and earned the privilege of being the final and ultimate barricade between Bobby Jones and his last charge up the slope of fame.

MET BEFORE

These two met once before in the second round at Minnikahda three years ago when Jones won 3 and 2, scoring 70. But even in this first meeting three years ago Homans, then nineteen, stuck along and made a fine fight all the way. A year ago, at Pebble Beach, he tied Jones for the medal round. So Homans has shown enough to prove that he is a real obstacle. He lacks the physique and the dominating muscular power to round out a week of hard golf, but he has the swing and the heart to make a match for anybody.

Jones in his semi-final round had a brilliant but an inconsistent day. He was two under par against Sweetser at the fourth hole. Then he slipped back and began to lose ground. You could see that he had a hard time of it keying himself up. But when Sweetser almost caught him Jones struck high speed again.

He was only 1 up playing the thirteenth. From this point on he played the last sixteen holes of the match in something like 6 under 4's. He was the old hurricane that swept the fairways of St. Andrews, Hoylake and Interlachen, the unbeatable champion, suddenly aroused. There was no chance then to block his road.

His long drives soared 280 yards up the middle of the fairway. His approaches popped around the pin and his approach putt went for the cup. There was no sign of a slip or a mistake in this murderous counter-attack which piled up a lead of 7 holes against one of the best match players golf has known.

I followed the afternoon round with Jerry Travers, the one star who still has Jones tied with four amateur championships. Travers made this record seventeen years ago. "I think it will leave the books tomorrow," he said, as he watched Jones play. "There is the greatest all-around of all time. There has been nothing like him in the history of the game when you take in the combinaton of skill, power, courage and brains. He has them all and that is all any great champion needs to be invincible."

Today was another hot, sticky, steamy day when another great milling crowd of 10,000 battled its way around the course, most of them chasing Bobby Jones. It would be something of a miracle if young Homans won out. But if he can play the golf he has shown through the last two days he will make even Bobby Jones step to win.

The odds are now terrific that the powerful young Georgian will storm the last of the ramparts and complete the single greatest season ever known in the history of sport.

Soccer in England Maintains Popularity

By P. J. WOODLEY

The first four weeks of the thirty-five which now constitute the soccer season of the English League have caused many surprises and not a few disappointments. With such a vast array of graded talent available, samples of which are required by the three sections of four units which comprise eighty-eight clubs in England, it is surprising that all of them are able to carry on. But year after year they reappear with smiling faces, ready again to take part in the ever-increasing struggle for honors in each of the four divisions.

There is not the least doubt but what the game is fully maintaining its wonderful popularity. With no lack of wholesome encouragement and support from the spectators and a desire on the part of many well known clubs to foster junior talent, the present season is being faced with no lack of confidence.

SHEFFIELD WEDNESDAY

Sheffield Wednesday, league champions for the second successive season, although they have not commenced their schedule as auspiciously as their supporters would have liked, are bent on emulating Huddersfield Town's record of winning the championship for the third year in succession. The emphatic manner in which the wonder team topped the First Division clubs after the final game last May indicates a distinct possibility of a hat trick for them this season. Even though there were two capable substitutes to fill his position it was a distinct blow to this great team to have to commence operations without W. Marsden, their international left halfback, who was not quite fit since his injury in Germany, while playing for the Football Association last Summer. They had no fewer than twenty-eight players on view in their practice games. After a convincing win over Newcastle United on the opening day, it was at Villa Park, Birmingham, that Aston Villa so early checked their aspirations two days later. At this corresponding date last year they had played five games, two of which were lost, for a total of six points. And yet they came through to finish at the head of affairs by a greater margin of points over the second place team than had been previously recorded in the whole history of league football in England. To date they have played seven games with one defeat, three victories and three draws, for a total of nine points. On Saturday they will perform at Upton Park, but the song the "hammers" have so far been singing will not appear very sweet music for Sheffield Wednesday's visit.

WOOLWICH ARSENAL

Arsenal, the cup holders, for their opening game, performed on pastures new at Bloomfield Road, Blackpool, taking the cup with them. Their talent and their popularity was sufficient to draw a record crowd to see how the newcomers to the First Division would perform against the visitors' Dutch goalkeeper, Keyser. Arsenal won by four goals to one with an attack which was then computed to be without a superior. Seven of the players I saw beat Leeds United in the opening game at Highbury last season, performed in this season's opening game against Blackpool. Since that time they have also beaten Bolton Wanderers, Leeds United, Blackburn Rovers, Sunderland and Leicester City, but received a check when they went to Ewood Park, Blackburn, on September 15, and only obtained a two-all draw. St. Andrews, Birmingham, will provide the venue for their next game on Saturday, and their present record of seven games with six wins and a draw and a score sheet showing twenty-four goals against thirteen should be convincing enough to pull them through with another brace. Last year at this corresponding date they led the First Division parade and then finished up in fourteenth position. Arsenal must have faint vision of league honors, too, on the horizon. They have material to now accomplish something they have never yet been able to do. If they have not, a healthy looking cheque book lies snugly in the safe ready to release its contents at any moment necessity arises. Cardiff City beat them for possession of the cup three years ago and Huddersfield Town, in accomplishing the hat trick, prevented Arsenal from experiencing the joys of league leadership in 1926.

ASTON VILLA

Aston Villa, trailing Arsenal by a mere fraction of a goal, finished last season's schedule in fourth place. I saw them soundly beaten at the Baseball Ground, Derby, by four clear goals, in their second game last season, and the huge Waring, who is doing wonderful things this year, was only then a moderate performer. In fact the Villa's six-foot centre forward experienced a very mixed season with only twelve goals to his credit, and might now have been playing in the red and white colors of Manchester United but for the wisdom of the directorate. So far he has obtained a brace of fours—one against Manchester United on the opening day and another against West Ham at Villa Park for the second Saturday in succession. On Saturday, Aston Villa must rely on the quality of Middlesbrough's performance at Ayresome Park if they hope for further points as a result of their visit.

EVERTON

Everton, who last season forfeited a cherished record by losing their place in the First Division, are using their experience in a gallant attempt to restore to their supporters the brand of soccer which, previous to this season, they have never known the loss of. They were the only original members of the league who had maintained a continuous membership, and are now making a meritorious effort to reduce their period of relegation to a minimum. Five victories in a row brought them fourteen goals against a debit account of six and it was not until the visit of the lowly Cardiff City on September 17 to Goodison Park that they lost a point. Even if the cup winners of three years ago have fallen on lean days, it is pleasing to note that, after five defeats they should go to Liverpool and score a goal and obtain their first point at the expense of a demoted club struggling to get back into elevated company again. Everton's last two games at Goodison Park only produced one point. Port Vale, the promoted team from the Northern Section of the Southern League, met last Saturday one of the First Division's demoted teams and handed the fallen club their first defeat of the season. Fresh from this triumph Port Vale entertained Bradford to an overwhelming defeat of eight goals to two on Monday at the Recreation Ground, Hanley. Everton are due at Valley Parade, Bradford, for their next game, the City team being their opponents.

GRIMSBY TOWN

Grimsby Town's second season in first class company has not been productive of a very good start, seven games only giving them three points. They have two seventeen-year-old recruits in Craven and Dodds and an outside left and a full back also in their teens. Recently they sold their promising centre forward, Joe Robson, who has just recovered from an injury received against Manchester City, to Huddersfield Town, who had previously disposed of Alec Jackson, their Scottish star, to Chelsea. Huddersfield coffers benefit by the deal. Even with the loss of so celebrated an athlete as Jackson, the final contestants for the Association Cup have won two games and drawn another since his departure.

CHELSEA

Despite the presence of their Scottish material—and there are now no less than five stars available for the front line in Jackson, Gallacher, Cheyne, Rankin and Andy Wilson—Chelsea are in a desperate mood and are finding great difficulty in adapting themselves to First Division methods after six seasons in the lower division. What a vast amount of money Chelsea has spent in a vain effort, so far, of trying to rub shoulders with Arsenal. Nearly a quarter of a million dollars this year for three players and approximately $30,000 for Andy Wilson from Middlesbrough seven years ago. Wilson captained the team at Stamford Bridge when Chelsea obtained their best victory over Manchester United by six goals to two, before 55,000 spectators on September 6. Seven games—two wins, three losses and two draws—nine goals for and nine goals against, for six points. That's their present standing—anything but a convincing one. But they will do better. Chelsea should develop into a perfect working machine, but they have found that a brilliant attack can be ineffective unless judicious feeding is forthcoming from the supporting lines. The wavering form of Liverpool just now should inspire Chelsea to obtain a couple of much-needed points at Anfield Road on Saturday.

Blackpool, too, are realizing that progress in better company is a far more difficult proposition than was the retention of Second Division leadership and forthcoming promotion last season.

GLASGOW RANGERS

In Scotland, Glasgow Rangers have suffered their first defeat at the instance of Celtic by two clear goals. Last season Rangers played thirty-eight First Division games, won twenty-eight, lost six and drew four. Next Saturday Rangers entertain Partick Thistle, whom they beat in both league games last season.

A complete list of First Division games scheduled for Saturday follows, the first club in each case being the home team: Birmingham vs. Arsenal; Bolton vs. Newcastle; Derby vs. Manchester City; Leeds vs. Huddersfield; Leicester vs. Blackburn Rovers; Liverpool vs. Chelsea; Manchester United vs. Grimsby; Middlesbrough vs. Aston Villa; Sheffield United vs. Portsmouth; Sunderland vs. Blackpool; and West Ham receive Sheffield Wednesday.

In the Second Division Port Vale will entertain Bury and the other newcomers will travel to the Hawthornes to engage West Bromwich Albions.

RANGERS TO MEET PARTICK THISTLE

Great Match Expected Today When Leading Scottish Soccer Teams Clash

LONDON, Sept. 26.—The close race between Arsenal and Aston Villa in the First Division of the English soccer league will not probably be materially altered after their engagements tomorrow. Both play away from home, the former at Birmingham and the latter at Grimsby. On form neither should get worse than a draw, in which case their unbeaten records will be maintained.

The Scottish Rangers, who were beaten for the first time this season last Saturday by Celtic, will run into another tough battle. They meet Partick Thistle at Ibrox Park. The Thistle are at present leading the Scottish First Division averages.

ESQUIMALT JUNIORS

FIVEPIN BOWLING LEAGUE ORGANIZED

Art Harness, Veteran Pin Spiller, Heads Olympic Loop—Entries Close October 15

Art Harness, veteran pin spiller, was named president of the Olympic Senior Fivepin Bowling League, at the organization meeting held at Kent's Music Store, Yates Street last night. Sid Jenkins, another exponent of the fivepin game, was named vice-president, and Art ("Rolly") Porter was elected secretary-treasurer.

Ten teams have already entered the new loop, but officials expect this number to be increased to fifteen before the league gets under way. The entries will close on October 15. Teams wishing to enter may do so by communicating with the secretary, or at the alleys. Clubs already entered include: Colonist (2), Times (2), Elks, B.C. Telephone, C.N.R., Huskies, Poodle Dog and Spencers.

Twelve alleys have been reserved for the league, with all matches being rolled on Tuesday nights between the hours of 9 and 11 o'clock.

A handsome challenge trophy for annual competition has been donated by Ker & Stephenson Limited.

Princess Louise Brings Valuable Consignment of Live Mink From Skagway

Five hundred dark, damp, little noses pressed entreatingly against strong wire bars, and five hundred little mouths screechingly crying at being so encaged, signified the arrival in Vancouver yesterday of the steamship Princess Louise from Alaska, with the largest shipment of mink to ever pass through British Columbia.

Raised in captivity by George Simmons, of Carcross, Yukon Territory, the furbearers are en route to Gothenburg, Sweden, with a few for United States points, where they will either serve milady's wardrobe or be distributed for the nucleus of mink farms in and around those territories.

Priceless in value, they are equally as priceless in temper, as the crew of the Canadian Pacific vessel will testify, some of whom stated that they sounded just like a particularly noisy children's party just before the ice cream is served.

STORAGE LIMITS OF BOSTON PIER TAXED

Atlantic Banks Still Seem to Maintain Prolific Supplies of Food Fish

In spite of the fact that fishing has been intensively prosecuted for a great many years along the Atlantic Coast of America, the total quantity of fish taken is well maintained from year to year. Boston Pier has always been a great fish depot. Its working facilities were taxed to the limit last week when 2,836,400 pounds of fresh mackerel and 4,977,000 pounds of ground fish were landed, from Monday to Saturday. Beside the fresh mackerel, the seining fleet also brought in 8,500 barrels of salted fish.

The bulk of the catch was made in the South Channel grounds and off Chatham. The fish were of mixed sizes, running from one to three pounds each. A considerable amount of bullseyes, weighing about a pound each, also were landed, but there was little call for them.

Swordfish were scarce, but the domestic supply was augmented by shipments from Cape Breton, where the fleet are just beginning to make catches. The fish have moved from Georges and are now largely concentrated on the peak of Brown's Bank. So far this season 12,060 fish have been landed there, as compared with 20,127 at this date last year, and 11,448 in 1928.

The new dragger Exeter, latest addition to the Boston fishing fleet, left the pier on August 2, on her maiden trip to the grounds. The new craft is 100 feet long and carries a crew of eleven men. She uses the otter trawl system of fishing, whereby the fish are scooped up in a huge conical-shaped net, drawn astern. She was built at Essex for the General Foods Company.

Minister Makes Statement About Close of Season

HAVING made a protest regarding the early closing of the salmon season in the Fraser River, W. H. Keary, secretary of the New Westminster Board of Trade, received a communication from Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Fisheries, stating the reason for the action. Mr. Rhodes pointed out that five angles had been considered before action was taken, including the unemployment situation and unusual efforts in alleviation at the moment being set forth; the seeding of the spawning area; the quality of fish, not only from the standpoint of wholesomeness for canning, but as affecting the standard of the British Columbia product as a whole; the international character of the Fraser River run and the share secured by Canada and the United States respectively; and the current year's pack in British Columbia and elsewhere, and the world-wide market conditions prevailing. The department permitted one week extra fishing, but decided it was best to close finally last Saturday.

SHIPPING INTERESTS AWAIT PARLEY RESULT

Chairman of Shipping Board Would Put Lines Under Regulatory Control

Pacific Coast steamship interests are awaiting the outcome of a meeting now being held in Washington, D.C., of representatives of the United States Shipping Board and intercoastal steamship operators on the question of bringing the lines to an agreement on intercoastal rate policies.

T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the Shipping Board, some weeks ago announced that unless the lines "put their own house in order" he would ask Congress for authority to place them under regulatory control. Such a move on the part of the board would be opposed by most of the operators. The lines were given until yesterday to get together and iron out their difficulties, but nothing was accomplished. Executives of the intercoastal companies are meeting with the board.

What the outcome will be none of the Seattle representatives of the intercoastal lines would make a guess. The American-Hawaiian Dollar and Luckenbach companies gave notice last Spring that they would resign fro mthe Intercoastal Conference on October 15.

DUE HERE NEXT WEEK

Taking the schedule of the Korea Maru, now laid up in Japan, the Shidzuoka Maru, Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner, is due to arrive at Ogden Point Piers from Yokohama, on October 4, according to advices received by A. H. Webb, local agent, yesterday. The Shidzuoka was formerly in this service, discontinuing it in March last when the Korea came on the run. The Shidzuoka has two first class and five steerage passengers for Victoria and eight first class and five steerage passengers for Seattle. Cargo for local discharge consists of sixty-five tons of general, fifty bales of raw silk and nine cases of silk goods. The Mishima Maru of the same line will sail from Ogden Point Piers for Japan on September 30.

DISABLED SHIP IS RESCUED BY PATROL VESSEL

Dropping Her Propeller, Dochet Was Adrift in Thick Fog

REPAIRS WILL BE MADE AT SEATTLE

PORT ANGELES, Sept. 26.—Her propeller lost, the Redwood intercoastal Ss. Dochet drifted helplessly in the thick fog in the Strait of Juan de Fuca today until rescued by the coast guard cutter Snphomish.

The propeller dropped off the vessel, carrying general cargo valued at $80,000 from the East Coast to Seattle, at about three a.m., seven miles northwest of here.

Radio messages that she was in distress were received by the Snohomish and the cutter, under Lieut.-Commander Robert Donahue, sped to her aid from this port. A few hours later the cutter returned towing the disabled liner. A tug was summoned from Seattle and will tow the Dochet to that port for repairs.

TUG FAILS TO FIND TRACE OF LOST SHIP

FORT WILLIAM, Sept. 26.—A foray across to Isle Royale by the tug James Whalen today failed to bring to light any substantiation of rumors that wreckage of the lost steamer Kamloops had been found in 100 feet of water. Bad weather broke across Lake Superior after the tug returned, reporting that the hulk had not been sighted, and the Whalen pulled in until clearer weather.

Stories of the lost freighter were brought to the city by Indian fishermen who returned from the vicinity of Isle Royale. It was thought the wreckage might be that of the steamer Kamloops, lost two years ago with all hands.

COAST GUARDSMEN REACH HOME SAFE

TWO RIVERS, Wis., Sept. 25.—After a six-hour battle against waves on storm-torn Lake Michigan, six coastguardsmen were safe at their home port tonight.

They put out this afternoon in answer to distress signals regarding the foundering schooner Our Son, which disappeared off Sheboygan after her crew was saved by the freighter William Nelson. The hood of the coastguard boat was smashed by waves.

Our Son was built in 1875. She had come through many storms, but today's blow, heralding the Fall season, was too much for the old two-master.

Mate Charged With Unskillfulness in Navigation

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Capt. Frank Turner, local inspector of hulls for the United States Bureau of Navigation, said today that Lee G. Clements, second mate of the Ss. Admiral Nulton had been charged with "unskillfulness in navigation" as a result of the collision between the Nulton and the fishing boat Orient in the Strait of Georgia.

Ten men lost their lives when the Nulton ran the Orient down.

"I refuse to specify exactly what the accusation is," said Turner. He added a letter had been sent to Clements informing him he would have to stand trial, either here or in Seattle.

Havoc Among Fishermen When Hurricane Breaks On Shores of Brittany

By CAMILLE LEMERCIER
(Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Daily News Foreign Service.)

PARIS, Sept. 26.—Fifty fishing boats are still missing, seven days after the terrific hurricane which, without any warning, swept the coasts of South Brittany.

The unsurpassed heroism of the fishermen fighting the gale in their tunny fishing boats now appears in full light. Survivors, who are now coming back to the little ports of Concarneau, Camaret, Douarnenez, Port Louis and Groix Island, tell impressive stories.

More than one thousand tunny fishing boats had left for their fishing spots about three hundred miles off the west coast, and were already fishing when the gale came with a suddenness unknown in European waters. The crews hadn't time to lower sail.

FIFTY MEN OVERBOARD

"In five minutes the sea became absolutely wild. Waves fifty feet high rushed toward us at a terrific speed and we all thought our last hour had come." All the survivors tell the same story in their simple, rude words.

For hours they fought prodigiously against the wild elements, attempting only to run before the gale. All the ships were badly crippled and nearly all lost their masts. The devastating strength of the waves was beyond human imagination, and the fishermen do not understand why all their ships were not wrecked. At least fifty men were washed overboard.

A GOOD BOY

"I was at the helm," says Yves Cellin, of Concarneau. "My two brothers were on deck trying to cut the ropes of the mast. I saw an enormous wave coming. I shouted a warning, but the water thundered on the deck, and my brothers were washed into the sea. We could do nothing to rescue them."

Three were drowned aboard another ship.

"The ship was half full of water and the pumps were broken," said the captain. "I ordered all the boys to work to empty the boat and our ship's boy took the helm. A good boy, you see. He remained at the helm for twenty hours—and what hours."

The ship boy laughed at hearing his captain.

"The saddest part was that we had only wet bread to eat," he said.

UNABLE TO CRY

These sea tragedies were paralleled by another tragedy at the ports. At Concarneau, at Douarnenez, everywhere, the whole population came out on the quays, eagerly watching for the return of their boats and men. They waited hours and days under the stormy rain, and the harrowing scenes so frequent in Breton life could be witnessed once more when ships, one after another, struggled back to their ports without mast, crippled, and with one, two or three men lost, and so many others badly injured.

Women and children who are waiting for men aboard ships still missing today, refuse to leave the waterfront. They wait silently, unable to cry, but refusing to admit that all hope is gone.

WILL NO LONGER WAIT

Despite the extensive search and rescue work of ten destroyers and the 10,000-ton cruiser Mulhouse, about fifty boats are still unaccounted for. Perhaps they await rescue somewhere on a sea now calm again. Perhaps they are lost. Brittany once more has to mourn "men lost at sea." More widows, more orphans, will no longer have to wait during nights of gales for husband or father. But the ships that came back to port without too heavy damages have already sailed again for their old fishing grounds.

AVIATION INDUSTRY REPRESENTS BIG SUM

Public Investment Will Total Billion Dollars by End of Year

That the aviation industry in the United States will represent a public investment of over a billion dollars before the end of the present year, is the prediction made by A. F. Hills, sales manager of the Grouse-Hinds Company, Syracuse, noted authority on airport lighting.

Despite the huge sum already represented in this investment, Mr. Hills believes that it is but the beginning of a capital inflow which, within the course of the next five to eight years, will place air transportation in the same financial class as railroad and steamship systems, steel mills, the automobile industry and other commercial activities constituting the basic source of national wealth.

As to the directional flow which this new capital entering the industry will take, Mr. Hills foresees the greater percentage of it going into new and more ground equipment, such as in airports, hangars, radio equipment, lighting units, markers and similar equipment essential for the maintenance of the up-to-date air terminal.

RELIABILITY TOUR FLYERS ARRIVE AT CINCINNATI SAFELY

CINCINNATI, Sept. 26—All eighteen flyers participating in the National Air Reliability Tour landed here safely today from Terre Haute within fifteen minutes of each other, Harry Russell, Detroit, was first to complete the Terre Haute-Cincinnati lap.

SEVEN DROWN AS BARGE FOUNDERS

MUSKEGON, MICH., Sept. 26.—Seven persons were believed drowned and six were saved as the barge Salvor went down in a gale on Lake Michigan off Muskegon this afternoon.

Those believed drowned included six members of the crew and a nine-year old boy, son of a woman cook.

Tonight, two bodies had been washed ashore and six members of the crew were in a hospital here in exhausted conditions. Just before darkness fell two others could be seen lashed to a derrick on the barge. The gale was increasing in intensity and had foiled all efforts to get a line to the derrick.

Waves were dashing over the wreck and little hope was held for the rescue of the two men. Among those saved were two women.

CRUISER WAS ADRIFT ON WAY TO SCOTLAND

HULL, Eng., Sept. 26.—The old British cruiser Conquest, with six men aboard, broke adrift on the squally North Sea today while being towed to Scotland for scrapping, and rolled helpless for hours until she was picked up tonight by a tug from Hull.

The master of the tug Seaman wirelessed for help, and another tug sped away to assist him. Both took the old warship in tow for the Humber estuary. The tugs were to stand by until morning.

TO TEACH FROM STORY OF NERO

Dr. Davies Will Picture the Burning of Rome in City Temple Tour Sermon

TRAVEL LECTURE OCT. 15

Stressing one of the great themes brought out in the Passion Play at Oberammergau, the divinity of humanity, Dr. Davies will develop that theme at the morning hour of worship at the City Temple. The morning anthem by the Temple choir will be "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears" (Field).

In the evening the pulpit theme will be "Nero and the Burning of Rome," in "Lessons Which We Can Learn Today." This will be one of the most fascinating of Dr. Davies' tour sermons, since he has some up-to-the-minute material gained on the spot in Rome this Summer to use in his discourse.

The evening anthem will be "Ye Shall Dwell in the Land" (Barnby), and Mr. James MacGrath, of the McLeod Players, will render a tenor solo entitled "Like as a Hart" (Allitsen). At the conclusion of the morning service there will be a brief meeting of the City Temple membership.

Plans have been completed for the lecture by Dr. Davies on October 15, which will encompass the thrilling journal of his entire tour of Europe. This lecture has been reserved especially for the City Temple membership and the citizens who attend. The material used by Dr. Davies will be entirely concerning his tour and not yet given out to the public. The lecture will be held at the Royal Victoria Theatre on Wednesday, October 15, at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Bates, superintendent of the North Pacific district, will preach the old-time gospel at both the services tomorrow at the Nazarene Church, 1213 Balmoral Road, 11 and 7:30 o'clock.

Chinese Church Suffered Much In Five Years

No fewer than thirty-three missionaries in China were killed and ninety-eight kidnapped between 1924 and 1929, according to the August number of The Chinese Recorder, of Shanghai. Of the former, twelve were Protestant missionaries and twenty-one Catholic priests, while of the latter, fifty-nine were Protestant missionaries and thirty-nine Catholic priests.

Commenting on this, The Recorder adds:

"It behoves us as a missionary body to learn in mind the significant fact that Chinese pastors and priests have suffered yet more. There are certain fields in which our workers itinerate where whole communities have been wiped out, where there remain nothing but ashes, where not only there is no pastor with his group of Christian followers, but where it is difficult to find among the ruins the remains of the Church building that was formerly standing. Even when we call attention to these facts, we must realize that the missionaries and the Chinese Church are only bearing a small share in the yet larger measure of suffering throughout all China today."

Stocks Continue to Slump On New York Exchange in Session of Heavy Trading

NEW YORK, Sept. 25.—After fluttering nervously until early afternoon, the stock market went into a fresh decline in the final hour today under the impetus of large selling orders. It was the most active session since late June, for sales aggregated 3,704,500 shares, considerably above the Wednesday turnover.

Except the late weakness of wheat, there was nothing to account for the slump, which brought net losses of 1 to 3 points in a representative list of prominent stocks.

Motor shares were acutely weak. There also was marked heaviness in the coppers, oils and rails.

The market opened lower and soon ran into an active decline that centred around Radio, which dropped a couple of points to a new low on large sales.

United States Steel closed 1-4 net lower after dipping through yesterday's bottom. General Electric's net loss was 1 3-8, while Can was heavier, off 3 1-2.

The break in Radio carried it down to 28 against the year's high of 69 3-8. Chrysler, one of the many stocks to record a new 1930 low, touched 20 1-8. Baltimore & Ohio, Rock Island, Missouri Pacific and St. Louis Southwestern, among the rails, in addition to a long string of coppers, oils and specialties, reached new minimums for the year.

Chrysler's net loss of 3 points was accompanied in the motor group by 1 to 2 point drops in Studebaker, Nash, General Motors, Mack Trucks and Hudson.

Net declines of 1 to 3 appeared in American Telephone, Bethlehem Steel, General Electric, Westinghouse, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Union Carbide, Canadian Pacific, Anaconda, International Harvester, North American, Radio, Gillette, Union Pacific, United Aircraft and National Cash Register. Missouri Pacific lost 4 and Allied Chemical 9 3-4.

Trading in the bond market was at a fast pace, the volume of business showing marked improvement over the previous session, as best grade railroad and utility bonds continued strong.

WEEKLY GRAIN REVIEW

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Wheat: The market was quite nervous during the past week, influenced to a great extent by the Russian news, both in this country and abroad, prices declining sharply with further liquidation together with hedging pressure, which brought about new lows for the season, the September selling at the lowest figure since 1906, coupled with reports of Russian selling of futures in this country. European markets were depressed by the selling methods of the Soviet agents in disposing of cash wheat abroad, prices being slashed far below the basis of other competitors in efforts to dispose of this wheat. Absorption appeared on a fair scale on the decline, with evidence of accumulation. Some of the Russian short wheat was believed to have been covered, and Liverpool and Winnipeg both showed substantial rallies. Prices late in the week, however, eased off again, with figures around a cent over the low point.

A feature in wheat that will be a strengthening influence of first importance is the practical assurance now that domestic consumption of wheat for stock and chicken feed will be on a tremendous scale. S. R. McKelvie, of the Farm Board, estimates this feeding will reach a total of at least 150,000,000 bushels and will mean higher prices this Winter. Reports from many States to various local houses which have been keeping a close check on this phase of the situation suggest that the estimate of domestic feed consumption will prove to have been too conservative.

Wheat is still relatively cheaper than corn and makes the ideal chicken feed ... good substitute as cattle feed and hog feed. So long as the present ratio exists between wheat and corn, heavy consumption of wheat will continue.

Hedging pressure is likely to diminish shortly. It is estimated that nearly fifty per cent of the Canadian surplus has been hedged, and this in a little more than a month. A large part of our su... of Spring wheat has also been moved into commercial channels, and hedging from now probably will be moderate. It is probably too soon for the removal of hedges to be expected against export business, as the movement will be fairly heavy until the close of navigation and hedging will probably offset the export buying for some time to come, but it will be less heavy.

Much of the Winter wheat belt needs rain. Russian cash wheat operations in Europe have overshadowed all other features, but it is still apparent that Europe is in much different shape than last year, needing more grain in spite of the Russian shipments, which are still far less than was being shipped by Argentina last year when Western Europe was already glutted with wheat. This year there is no glut anywhere. Reports in regard to the flour and cash wheat trade are encouraging. Prices for wheat are at a level where investment buying is indicated on the setbacks.

Corn: Prices have had a decline of about fifty per cent of the July-August advance, largely because of the weakness in wheat. Drought has continued in many sections, and Iowa reports state that feeding was becoming general on a full Winter basis two months before normal. This was significant, confirming the view that not only is the crop short, but will have to be spread over an abnormally long feeding period.

Oats rallied easily when other grains were strong, but declined in line with other cereals at other times. On its merits this grain looks to be in a strong position.

Rye is hopeless as an export proposition, but on basis of price gets some support when other grains are strong.

DEFAULT MADE BY PURCHASERS OF ACME STOCK

Brokerage Firm Suspended and Shares Are Removed From Toronto List

PRICE MAKES DROP OF 25 CENTS DURING DAY

TORONTO, Sept. 26—Directors of the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange this morning announced that G. F. Morrison of Southgate and Company, Limited, had been suspended from the Exchange. Announcement was also made that the shares of Acme Oil and Gas Company had been temporarily removed from the list.

The action of the board followed meetings yesterday and again this morning.

The activity of the shares of Acme Oil and Gas has featured trading on the mining exchange recently. In extremely heavy trading the stock climbed from twenty-two cents on September 12 to a high mark of sixty-five cents yesterday. Liquidation set in late in the afternoon and the price crumbled to thirty-nine cents, recovering to forty cents at the close.

"Removal of the Acme Gas and Oil shares from the list is only a temporary measure to allow the clearing up of a condition brought about through no fault of the company," declared E. P. Rowe, president of the company.

"This condition," he explained, "arose through the inability of purchasers to pay for the stock they ordered. Thus the onus was thrown upon the broker, who must make it good. It is a difficult situation. If one broker orders stock from another on behalf of a client, and when the transaction has been made, he finds that his buyer is unable or unwilling to pay for the stock, then the trader is necessarily in a difficult position, and that is precisely the case here. The company is not responsible in any way.

"The suspension of the brokerage firm which dealt in the stock transaction is only temporary, also, I believe."

In spite of the suspension, Acme Gas shares enjoyed an active market on the Dominion Stock Exchange. Opening practically unchanged from last night at forty, the price firmed to forty-three at one time, but reacted to thirty-seven, bid.

Officers of Acme Gas & Oil Company are E. O. Rowe, president; W. G. Rowe, vice-president; R. C. Southgate, director (partner in the suspended firm), and Dr. W. T. Pary, director.

Authorized capital stock of the company was increased from $1,000,000 to $1,500,000 at a meeting yesterday. Most of the company's properties are in Southwestern Ontario.

B. C. SILVER

(Miller, Court & Co.)

Interpreting the move as an indication that B.C. Silver is going ahead with its own mill, the market is looking with interest on the recent application of B.C. Silver for water power from the east fork of Cascade Creek. Development of B.C. Silver has been proceeding for ten years and has reached a stage where a mill has been recommended by the consulting engineer, C. A. Banks. For some years discussions have taken place between Premier and B.C. Silver with the object of amalgamating and using the large plant of the Premier company. Premier at one time made a bid for B.C. Silver, but the ore values arrived at by engineers representing the two parties were so widely different that the deal could not be consummated.

TORONTO STOCKS

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—The exchange experienced a rather severe sinking spell half way through the afternoon session when new lows were uncovered by several issues and equaled by others. The movement lasted only a few minutes however, before rallies set in.

Nickel hit a low of 21 and Brazilian dipped under 34, while Ford made a new low at 24½, as did Walkers at 7¼ and Massey-Harris at 17¼. These recovered part of a point subsequently. City Dairy, and Consolidated Bakeries were each down a point.

The oils went back, then picked up fractionally.

Abitibi common was unchanged at 17, but St. Lawrence preferred had a couple of points lopped off.

U.S. DEMAND IS GOOD, BUT EXPORTS SHRINK

Heavy Feeding of Wheat to Stock Is Confirmed at Chicago, but Europe Is Out of Market

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—The wheat market was weak again today with further scattered liquidation and hedging pressure. Cables were lower and reports that Germany was tightening rather than relaxing milling regulations regarding use of native wheat, increasing percentage from 60 to 80 per cent being a factor. Liverpool closed 1-2 to 7-8 lower. Export business was slow for our wheat, but Canadian sales were said to have been 2,500,000 bushels. Argentine shipments, 547,000. North American clearances, according to Bradstreets, were 9,353,000 bushels, or more than 4,000,000 larger than a year ago. Primary arrivals were 1,787,000 bushels against 1,826,000 bushels a year ago.

Cash demand here was fair and reports continue to confirm heavy feeding of wheat to stock. However, the general demand is slow, and recent declines in stocks has had some effect on sentiment. At the moment bulges are hard to hold.

Corn sold off with wheat, with scattered liquidation in evidence. The cash demand was good, and basis steady to 3-4c higher and sales 100,000 bushels. Country sales continue light and the movement West was 475,000 bushels against 806,000 a year ago. A charter was made for 100,000 bushels of corn to Georgian Bay. Local shippers report a good demand and also state corn is being distributed quickly in the East. Prices are down to where good support is likely to develop at any time.

Oats: Market sold off with other grains. Market position in oats looks sound, but it will take strength in other grains to help prices much. Primary arrivals were 382,000 bushels, against 491,000 a year ago.

Rye sold off in sympathy with wheat. Polish rye crop about 22,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago. Export trade looks hopeless.

Toronto Market

(MASON & DIESPECKER)

TORONTO, Sept. 26.—The mining market had an irregular lower trend during the forenoon session today, the absence of heavy trading in Acme Gas, which has been temporarily removed from the board, giving it a dull appearance.

Noranda was under selling pressure, the price dropping to $20, and Hudson Bay was off to $5.25. Nickel firmed, however, gaining a fraction to close 22 1-4 bid. Amulet and Waite Ackerman softened, and Sherritt Gordon dropped another ten to $1.25. Sudbury Basin recovered five to $1.20, Nipissing ten to $1.25, and Abana a point to 31.

Ajax was soft from the opening, falling to $2.04 at midday. It recovered somewhat later though, closing at $2.09. Mayland dropped to $1.35 and A.P. Con., Home and Eastcrest were off a few cents each. Nordon eased to 79. Calmont gained five to 80, and Baltac a point to 22.

Hollinger and Big Missouri registered small advances, but other golds were easier. McIntyre was off a quarter to 18.

Total sales were somewhat smaller at 390,000.

Whitney Says Further Drop Is Probable

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Sept. 27.—Whitney, of Wall Street Financial Bureau, says: The net result of the unfavorable turn of market action to which your attention was drawn here yesterday, has led to its unavoidable consequence, which is, that the market in the last few hours yesterday proceeded to break the August lows.

As pointed out, it was but a matter of two or three points before they would be broken, and with the market having done this, I think it will pay to consider what was considered the next possibility—this being a move which would closely approach, or moderately violate, the June lows. A decline of this extent means something around another ten points in the averages, the scope of this move entailing, of course, two or three rather bad days before it is completed. Therefore, I think we can do little hoping for any strong recovery until the second or the third day of next week, which means that today and Monday promise nothing but further decline.

What is primarily causing this situation, I believe, is not so much the modification of former business recovery estimates, as it is the actual liquidation of stocks going on right here and now. The business aspect does not point so much to further decline as it does to deferment of improvement, as a result of which it is not nearly as immediate a factor as the present liquidation of securities. This is coming from heavy selling by out-of-town banks in combination with some insurance companies whose reserves have been somewhat depleted by the shrinkage in common stock equities. The bank liquidation, which is perhaps the heavier of the two, simply results from the fact that at the time of abnormally high money rates, a little over a year ago, a tremendous amount of securities were placed with them to escape what the brokers, due to the high levels of call rates, were forced to charge on debit balances. Loans of this class were built up to terrific totals and, with the steady depreciation of the last year to a year and a quarter, the banks are finding that these loans, as a group, are not only insufficiently margined, but in many cases in the deficit category.

The decision by the banks to put their houses in order means liquidation, and while it will obviously run its course, it admittedly looks as if we would have to get more of it in here. In the absence of sufficient supporting factors, economic or otherwise, an unfavorable setting is being provided for digestion of these securities, so that for at least the next session or two believe we can not expect anything but somewhat lower prices.

WHEAT DIPS TO LOWEST CLOSE FOR 24 YEARS

Fractional Advances Made in Last Two Days Are More Than Wiped Out

EXPORT SALES ARE FEW; LIVERPOOL NOT BUYING

WINNIPEG, Sept. 26.—Two days ago wheat prices were battered down to the lowest levels in a quarter century on the Winnipeg market, but they snapped back before trading closed to score slight gains. After two days of fractional advances, prices went 2⅜ to 2½ cents per bushel downward—and stayed down.

The losses failed to place the market quite as low as it was at the lowest point Wednesday, but the closing levels were not far from those recorded in 1906, when October wheat touched 69 cents. Trading was only moderate for the day, but buying was light, and what weight there was, was with the bear side. Liverpool offered no support and exports were meagre—reason enough for an evenly-balanced market to take a sudden dip.

Talk of a grain embargo in the West was handed about again, and again it brought denials. Today, the 86,000,000-bushel lakehead elevators contain nearly 73,000,000 bushels, and more than 6,000 cars are in the yards awaiting unloading. But Prairie marketings and loadings have been slipping down a bit, officials note, and there is room for twice as many cars in the lakehead tracks.

Search for the man whose fake telegram sent havoc hurtling through wheat markets everywhere on Tuesday has been unavailing. Tonight, grain exchange officials who offered $1,000 reward for his capture had no information of the man who sent out bogus telegrams under the name of James Stewart, grain broker, saying that the wheat pool was tottering.

ONTARIO MINING NEWS

(Miller, Court & Co.)

Lake Shore, McIntyre and Teck-Hughes have merits from the standpoint of annual income because, at current prices, yields are favorable. The possibilities for appreciation in market prices is also good, because of the impending increase in earnings and favorable prospects that values and volume of ore will continue as greater depths are attained. The deposition of gold ore in nearly perpendicular breaks in the country rocks suggests this. Values and dimensions of veins have tended to increase with depth.

With regard to Hollinger and Dome, the outlook for developing further pay ore in volumes to assure an indefinite period of prosperity ahead is somewhat uncertain. Both companies have substantial ore reserves and large accumulated surpluses. The concentration of some eighty veins at the Hollinger became impaired in value seriously, due to the intrusion of a hard porphyry dyke. It remains to be seen whether values below the dyke will prove as good as those above the dyke. If this question is answered favorably to the company, Hollinger may continue its career of prosperity. If not, the mine will take on the nature of a liquidating proposition. Meanwhile the equities behind the stock, in some $13,000,000 liquid assets and some $46,000,000 in ore reserves, have a value probably in excess of the curent price of the stock.

Dome likewise has equities in excess of the current price of the stock, in liquid assets and ore reserves. There is at least four years ore in the mine, which should net between $7,000,000 and $8,000,000 and between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000 in liquid assets, or a total of between $12 and $13 per share. Considerable volumes of good ore are being developed in the underlying greenstone formation. The veins in this deeper formation so far have not proved to be of major importance. If important ore bodies are not disclosed Dome becomes more or less a liquidating proposition.

Conditions at the five mines as outlined above, account for the marked disparity between the yields prevailing on the different shares. Both Hollinger and Dome yield more than 10 per cent, while others yield from 5.15 per cent to 8.75 per cent, as follows.

Stock	Price	Div.	Yield
Hollinger	$ 6.10	$ .65	10.68
Dome	9.50	1.00	10.53
Teck-Hughes	6.70	.60	8.75

Calgary Oil News

CALGARY, Sept. 26.—Harvey S. Price, managing director, last night stated that Eastcrest No. 2 "A" well, in Turner Valley, struck a larger flow of gas at 7 o'clock. Drilling continued, he said, but operators could not tell at the time when the crew would be forced to withdraw tools. Depth was about 4,590 feet, more than 340 feet in the limestone.

Nearly 1,500 barrels of crude oil are being produced daily in the Red Coulee field. Of the total, 380 barrels are coming out of the ground on the Canadian side of the international border, where several offsets are under way and nearing completion.

George Harrison, director of Home Oil visited Turner Valley yesterday. He was inspecting the wells and discussing routine matters with Imperial officials. Mr. Harrison stated all Home Oils are flowing satisfactorily.

Reports from Red Coulee indicate the Celtic satisfactory with prospects of striking the Sunburst sands within the week.

Good progress is also reported from the Dixie well in the vicinity, Devonshire, north of Vanalta, was making hole at 1,650 feet.

Askalta, Canadian financed in the area, has resumed drilling in an intermediate horizon and is expected to reach completion in a month or six weeks, according to officials here.

GOLD SHIPMENTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A movement of $5,000,000 in gold to Canada was reported under way here today.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York announced that it had sent $1,000,000 to Canada yesterday, and that $5,000,000 was earmarked for Canada.

NEW YORK SUGAR

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—No sales were reported in the raw sugar market early today, but the undertone was easy, with sugars offered at concessions of 2 points or at 3.11 duty paid without finding buyers.

No changes occured in refined sugar, but demand was light and only of a hand-to-mouth character. Prices were listed at 4.35 for fine granulated by all refiners.

Leading Oil Issues Move Upward in Vancouver but Others Show Decline

MINES ARE MORE ACTIVE

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26. — An irregular price trend in both the oils and the mines marked trading on the Vancouver Stock Exchange today. Esstcrest proved the feature of the oil list with an advance of 12 cents to .42 on reports of an increased gas flow at one of the company's wells. Snowflake featured the mines with a gain of 2 cents to .07 1-2 on greatly increased activity. Interest in this issue, which has been at a standstill for some time, was enlivened on reports that a New York concern had taken an option on the company's treasury shares.

Other firm spots among the oils included Home, up 10 cents to 3.90, and Mayland, up 4 cents to 1.47. Soft issues included McLeod, off 5 cents at 1.20, and Hargal, off 3 cents at .28.

Big Missouri and Premier Gold were slightly firmer among the mines, while Planet and Oregon Copper were a little softer.

Metropolitan Chain Sores Are Sold to Grand-Silver Firm

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. — Directors of F. W. Grand-Silver Stores, Incorporated, yesterday approved purchase of the entire Canadian chain of Metropolitan Chain Stores, Incorporated. Physical possession of the stores will be taken on or about September 29. This transaction will mark the entry of Grand-Silver into Canada, adding fifty-two stores to the chain and giving the company a total of 203 stores, with a sales volume estimated in excess of $40,000,000 per year.

Grape Growers of California Face Disastrous Year

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 26.—Lacking a favorable market and confronted with the most serious economic conditions experienced since the vineyard industry came into existence in California, the state's growers of grapes are facing the most disastrous year in their experience, it is revealed by a survey of the industry now being made.

Growers possessing crops of grapes on the vines, aver they are unable to locate cash buyers who will risk money to make purchases. Others who have taken a chance on the consignment market and rolled their product to the nation's markets, report that in most instances the net received after deducting transportation charges and 7 per cent commissions, leaves them in red ink, or insufficient to defray the costs of harvesting and packing.

And to make matters more serious, the rains that visited the northern sections of the state several days ago are already causing grapes to begin rotting about the stem, and in a short time the fruit will be absolutely worthless for shipping purposes.

PRODUCTION IN U.S.A.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Industrial production, except in steel, is still bumping along the August bottom, showing somewhat less than seasonal improvement, and primary distribution continues a bit backward, but building projects, especially residential, are doing better than was expected at this season and general trade has shown more than seasonal expansion in September, says The Business Week in its report covering this week.

PLANET OUTPUT

Planet is now intending to double its power capacity, which will enable the plant to handle an additional 50 tons a day. Planet started shipping in December, 1929, and up to July, 1930, gross smelter returns were $80,728, made up of gold $45,173.82, silver $20,989.46, lead $11,350, copper $3,314.51.

Gigantic New Merger of Power and Paper Firms Rumored to Be Under Way

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The Wall Street Journal in its news story yesterday concerning the resignation of Col. John H. Price as chairman of the Newsprint Institute of Canada, says:

"Resignation of Colonel Price as head of the Newsprint Institute of Canada, so closely following the announcement of the alliance of Hearst with Canada Power & Paper, apparently presages a breakdown of the institute and a resumption of price-cutting on newsprint.

HEARST AND CANADA PAPER

"Hearst two years ago signed a five-year contract with International Paper Company, which has until December 31, 1933, to run. This contract, however, was for only one-third of Hearst's newsprint requirements, enabling him to place his surplus requirements where he pleased. The contract with International was significant, however, because it was the first time in about fifteen years that International had obtained any of his business. The reason for the switch to International was the fact that Hearst's previous contract with Canada Power & Paper had ended in litigation.

"That Hearst should now be willing again to contract with the factors with whom he had previously experienced difficulty is explained, some interests maintain, by concessions through stock interest, or otherwise, although any price cut has been officially denied. International Paper Company, under the conditions, could not obtain the contract for Hearst's additional requirements because it is adhering to its one-price policy.

PRICE BROTHERS BREAK LOOSE

"With various interests in the Newsprint Institute feeling that the present price of $55.20 a ton has been shaded by Canada Power, it is doubtless it will be difficult to hold them in line. Since Price Brothers & Company is a low-cost producer, it would be in a position to wage a good fight for a larger share of the total consumption that it now obtains, and the resignation of Colonel Price from the leadership of the institute might well be the forerunner of such action.

ON PACIFIC COAST

"While the Eastern newsprint market was becoming unsettled by recent developments, on the Pacific Coast the announcement of a price of $58 a ton by the Powell River Company was followed by the announcement that Crown-Zellerbach would meet this price."

"The new alliance between Canada Power & Paper Corporation and William Randolph Hearst, following closely on a similar alliance between Canada Power and Lord Rothermere, is seen in local newsprint circles as advancing the time when the Canadian newsprint industry will be dominated by one or two powerful groups, who will be able to stabilize the paper price and regulate the expansions of the industry.

GIGANTIC NEW MERGER

"For some time there have been rumors of negotiations looking to the formation of a gigantic newsprint company, with Canada Power interests as the dominating influence. With the Hearst and Rothermere agreements in his pocket, involving two of the choicest contracts in the world, J. H. Gundy, Canada Power president and associate of Sir Herbert Holt, Royal Bank of Canada president, in the Holt-Gundy banking firm, is believed to be in a much beter position to press negotiations.

"Both Abitibi Power & Paper and the new St. Lawrence Corporation are mentioned as likely affiliates of Canada Power in a new grouping. Other companies also probably would be included.

"Consummation of a huge newsprint merger, in the opinion of newsprint leaders, is as good as announced by the resignation of Col. John. H. Price, of Price Bros. & Co., Ltd., as chairman of the Board of Governors of the Canadian Newsprint Institute.

"Without the knowledge of many of the executives of the various companies of the institute, some of the newsprint leaders, led by J. H. Gundy, have been working on a merger of Abitibi, Canada Power & Paper, Anglo-Canadian and St. Lawrence.

MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—The Montreal Star today says: "Rumors were current in the financial district today that the price of newsprint had been sharply cut as a result of recent developments culminating in the resignation of Col. J. Price, chairman of the Canadian Newsprint Institute. One report went the length of saying the price had been reduced from $55.20 to $44 per ton.

DRILLING RESULTS AT TREADWELL SATISFY

Treadwell Yukon has cut twenty feet low of grade material in the northwest crosscut at the 1,500-foot level. This zone is nearly 800 feet from the shaft, and is the first aheared area to be located. Copper and nickel values show, but where the crosscut went through the deposit it is too low grade to be considered of commercial value. However, the mineralization and the structure is similar to the margins of ore bodies found on the 300 and 500-foot levels, and officials believe that higher grade material would be soon picked up by drifting. This was the experience in opening up the upper levels.

Though only a few diamond drill holes tapped the Treadwell ore zone below the 500-foot level, sufficient information was gained to show the most favorable area is to be run through in the next 400 feet of cross cutting. Allowing for the rake of the ore east, the crosscut was purposely driven west to get under it. The general plan of exploration will be to push work east on any promising intersections in the crosscut.

Treadwell officials are well satisfied with the conditions found in the 1,500-foot level work. When the sinking of the shaft to 1,000 feet below the 500-foot level was projected, the idea was that if the ore bodies were found to extend to the lower horizon a sufficient tonnage would be indicated on which to go ahead with the proposal of a large mill and other plants, to recover the metals and prepare them for marketing. A 2,000-ton plant has been frequently talked of.

While the ore-dressing problem has been worked out by the 300-ton experimental mill, that plant continues to operate, and is paying a fair proportion of mine development charges.

Short Selling of Soviet Wheat at Chicago Is Barred

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—Selling of grain futures on the Chicago Board of Trade by any foreign government is objectionable and must be ended, the directors of the board stated in a resolution adopted today after consideration of the problem arising from short selling of wheat by the Soviet Government. The directors instructed the board's business conduct committee to take "vigorous measures" to stop bear raids and price manipulation, and advised the committee that unduly large short sales as distinguished from hedging may be regarded as evidence of improper selling.

Canadian Issues Show Power to Resist Pressure—Offerings Well Taken

NEWSPRINT INDUSTRY SITUATION UNCERTAIN

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

MONTREAL, Sept. 26.—Diverse influences continued to work against the markets yesterday, but Canadian stocks showed once again a power to resist pressure. In certain cases where fairly large selling orders made their appearance it was noted that these were readily absorbed. This is rather an indication that there is a developing demand for the good stocks.

The news that Maple Leaf Milling had passed the dividend on the first preferred stock due in October did not rank as an unsettling influence. The lowest closing prices on wheat on the present reaction, however, caused a certain amount of nervousness.

Uncertainty continued to hinge around the newsprint industry, but most of the shares held above the day's low. An interesting feature was the trading in Abitibi preferred around 67. Also the narrowing of the spread between Steel of Canada common and preferred stocks attracted comment in view of the approaching calling of the dividend appeal before the Privy Council.

Noranda showed resistance to pressure when it got down to around 20 and it seemed to be well taken at that figure. Montreal Power, Dominion Bridge, Shawinigan and Power Corporation acted very confidently and were well supported.

The fresh easiness in the oil stocks is difficult for the Street to explain except that possibly their tone may reflect the tendency among the oils in Wall Street and also the news of the recent cut of two cents a gallon in United States gasoline prices. Massey Harris continues to be subject to pressure and slipped off fairly easy today. Gypsum moved up a small fraction on the session. Hamilton Bridge ruled around 21, the Street recognizing a currently unsettled business situation for this company.

Taking the market as a whole, its action on the day seemed to bespeak a confident note, but the list was again largely under the influence of the trading elements, and each successive swing brought out a good volume of turnover.

A number of problems are presently awaiting solution, including newsprint, coffee, wheat, copper, employment, and general industrial operations. If stability were to be set up for leading commodities affecting Canadian securities a better tone for the stock markets would speedily ensue. Therefore the action of commodities would seem to warrant the close study in the next little while.

SAVINGS BANK INTEREST

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—A reduction in savings bank interest rates through New York is under serious consideration and may come at any time, it was learned yesterday. At a meeting held last week several of the smaller banks are reported to have said they could not make money if they continued to pay current general rate at 4½ per cent on deposits. The reason advanced was generally depressed state of money market in which call money has loaned as low as 1 per cent and commercial loans are down to about 3 per cent. Another reason given was sharp restrictions on investment which savings banks are allowed to make, together with small amount of first mortgages paying 5 to 6 per cent, which are available at the present time.

MINING MAN DIES

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26.—Duncan McIntosh, seventy, one of the best-known mining men in Central and Southeastern British Columbia, died this morning in the General Hospital, where he went two weeks ago for a minor operation, but pneumonia developed.

His most notable success was in the development of the Bell mine on Wallace Mountain, near Greenwood, the profits runing to about $50,000 a year.

MONEY MARKET

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Money, 1¼ per cent. Discount rates: short bills, 2 per cent; three months', 2 to 2 1-16 per cent.

AT NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Sept. 26. — Call money steady, 2 per cent, all day. Time loans easy: 30 days, 2 per cent; 60 days, 2 to 2¼ per cent; 90 days, 2¼ to 2¼ per cent; 4-6 months, 2¼ to 2¾ per cent. Prime commercial paper, 3 to 3¼ per cent. Bankers' acceptances unchanged.

SILVER MARKET

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Bar silver 16 3-4d per ounce.

AT NEW YORK

TASTE AND STATE OF MIND DIFFER WITH THE INDIVIDUAL

Advertising being a form of salesmanship and taste a state of mind which differs with each individual, and changes with fashion, the political and spiritual outlook, it is more necessary for the mail or newspaper advertiser to employ the services of those whose business is devoted to the art of advertising than to put before the public haphazard publicity lacking the "punch" of expert advertising knowledge. JAPAN SHIPS GOLD

YOKOHAMA, Sept. 26. — The Yokohama Specie Bank today shipped 5,000,000 yen gold coin (about $2,500,000), aboard the liner Asama Maru, which sailed for San Francisco today. This bank is Japan's official exchange organ.

Although private banks have shipped the yellow metal freely since the embargo on gold exports was removed on January 11, this was the official bank's first consignment. Others are expected in the near future. The total export may reach 100,000,000 yen.

SAYWARD FAIR EXHIBITS SHOW HIGH QUALITY

Weather Is Fine, Attendance Large—Sports in Afternoon—Dance

MANY VISITORS COME FROM OUTSIDE POINTS

SAYWARD, Sept. 26.—The annual agricultural fair, the one big event of the year here, was held at the Sayward Community Hall on Monday, and was favored by most beautiful weather. The exhibits, although not quite as numerous perhaps as other years, nevertheless compared favorably with any displayed at the big exhibitions, according to the judges, and in many instances would have beaten the best seen this year.

The Sayward Women's Institute served lunch, tea and supper, in a large tent nearby. Baseball and sports were on the afternoon programme, and a dance in the hall concluded the day's entertainments.

As usual, the hall was crowded with visitors, many coming from outside the valley. Letters received by the fair committee, regretting inability to be present, came from the Lieutenant-Governor, Premier Tolmie and Dr. G. K. MacNaughton, M.L.A., member for the district, all conveying cordial good wishes.

Burgess Bedtime Stories

Impy Learns From Timmy

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Always be prepared to learn;
The wise will never knowledge spurn.
—Old Mother Nature.

"I've seen you before," said he

Two odd little cousins sat on the old stone wall in the midst of the Black Shadows. They were Impy the black Chipmunk and Timmy the Flying Squirrel. Impy should have been at home in bed. Yes, sir, that is where he should have been. But he liked to be out in the early evening and it was all on account of that black coat of his. It gave him a feeling of safety which he would not have had in the usual striped coat of the Chipmunk family. Until Timmy had suddenly landed beside him, Impy hadn't known that he had such a cousin.

"I've seen my cousin Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel and my other cousin Chatterer the Red Squirrel. I have seen them many times. Why have I never seen you before?" said Impy.

Timmy chuckled. He seemed to be full of chuckles. "I've seen you before," he said.

"I'd like to know when," cried Impy.

"Several times," replied Timmy. "I've watched you when you didn't have the least idea I was anywhere near. That's what comes from having the right kind of eyes for seeing at night."

Impy leaned forward and looked closely at Timmy's eyes. "They are large," said he. "Do you really think you can see better than I can?"

"I don't think anything about it; I know," replied Timmy. "Do you see that beetle over there crossing that stone?"

Impy looked where Timmy pointed, but he saw no beetle. In fact, he could do little more than make out the outline of the stone. "I don't see any beetle," said he, "and I don't believe you do either."

Instead of replying, Timmy suddenly darted forward and in a moment he was back. He had a large beetle. "Here it is," said he, and proceeded to pound it on the stone on which they were sitting. Then he ate it and smacked his lips. Meanwhile, Impy was feeling very foolish. He realized that Timmy really had seen that beetle and that, therefore, Timmy's eyes must be better than his own.

"Why have I never seen you in the daytime?" Impy asked.

"For the same reason that I never see any of your family at night," replied Timmy. "Chipmunks are day folk; Flying Squirrels are night folk."

"Can't you see in the daytime?" asked Impy.

"Yes," replied Timmy. "But the light hurts my eyes. I don't like it. So I sleep through the day and come out when the Black Shadows arrive. When it is time for jolly round, bright Mr. Sun to climb up in the blue, blue sky in the early morning, and the Black Shadows are hurrying back to the Purple Hills, I go home to bed. But aren't you taking a chance? One who can see no better than you can should not be out at this hour. Supposing Hooty the Owl should come this way."

"I've heard of him," said Impy. "Can he see as well as you can?"

"Just as well," replied Timmy. "I don't know but that he can see a little better. I have to watch out for Hooty the Horned Owl and Spooky the Screech Owl every night, just as you have to watch out for members of the Hawk family during the day. If you'll take my advice, cousin, you won't venture far from your doorstep after shadow time."

The next story: "Impy Has Chills."

Silver Crest Mine Shareholders Make Counter Proposal

VANCOUVER, Sept. 26.—Shareholders of Silver Crest Mines, at a meeting held here today refused to accept an offer made by Tacoma interests to expend $100,000 on property prior to 1932 with right to withdraw at any time.

A motion was made that the group making the offer be communicated with and the following proposal made to them: Silver Crest will negotiate on the understanding that they will spend not less than $250,000 on the claims prior to December 31, 1932, and it will be stipulated that $100,000 must be spent during 1931. There will be no right of withdrawal allowed. Title of property to be held in escrow as outlined in previous offer.

This motion was unanimously carried. It was explained at the meeting that similar offers had been made to the Silver Tip and other properties adjoining the Silver Crest and Big Missouri and that these offers had been refused.

Bank of Montreal's Crop Report Issued

Below will be found a brief synopsis of telegraphic reports received at the head office of the Bank of Montreal from its branches. The branch managers have complete and intimate knowledge of each local situation and are in close touch with crop conditions in all sections of the districts mentioned.

Taking the Prairie Provinces as a whole, threshing is well advanced, with wheat 70 per cent completed. Recent wet weather has impeded harvesting, particularly in the northern sections of Saskatchewan and Alberta. Yields are better than those of last year and up to the present the grains are good, but following the recent wet spell some deterioration may result. In Quebec wet weather has delayed the completion of harvesting. Threshing shows a heavy yield of good quality. In Ontario threshing is nearing completion under favorable weather conditions. Grain yields on the whole are above the average and of good quality. In the Maritime Provinces the weather has been seasonally good. Grain harvesting is practically finished and the crops are a good average. In British Columbia the weather has been cooler, with a touch of frost reported in the Interior of the province. The threshing of grain is completed and the crop is about 90 per cent of average and of good quality. Details follow:

PRAIRIE PROVINCES

Alberta, Northeastern Area — Threshing is about 10 per cent completed; wheat yields are from eight to thirty bushels, oats about thirty bushels. Southeastern Area—Threshing is 65 per cent completed; average wheat yields, nine to twelve bushels, chiefly grading No. 1 Northern. Western Area—Threshing has begun in the north and 75 per cent is done in the south; yields vary from ten to thirty bushels, grading No. 2; oats yield about thirty bushels; the digging of beets has commenced earlier than usual.

Saskatchewan, Northern Area — After a week of steady rain, threshing, of which about 60 per cent is completed, is now being resumed and ten to fourteen days will be required for completion; rain has caused sprouting in some sections with resultant deterioration in grade. Southern Area—Threshing is 90 per cent completed; recent rains in some localities will assist Fall cultivation.

Manitoba—Heavy winds and intermittent rains have interrupted threshing operations, which are, however, 90 per cent completed and have now been resumed. Good quality grains are being harvested. Wheat yields averaging approximately eighteen bushels, while coarse grains are a good average crop. There is a tendency not to market coarse grains owing to low prices.

British Columbia—All fruits are coloring well and are being harvested under ideal conditions. Apples are of excellent quality and a good yield is assured. Frost has damaged tomatoes in some districts, but the yield is estimated at 100 per cent of average. Potato and vegetable crops are reported as well up to the average. Other percentages are as follows: Pears, 90 per cent; plums, 100 per cent; hops, 100 per cent. Pasturage has benefited by recent rains, but more moisture is required to insure sufficient feed for the Winter.

MONTREAL, Sept. 26. — The Montreal Star says "A thirty-day working option has been taken on the Sullivan gold mine by the Timmins interests, but whether this is a personal step on the part of N. A. Timmins or is for Hollinger is not presently known.

"The Lindsley interests were negotiating for an important interest in the Sullivan company and a firm offer of 25 cents per share for a large block of stock is said to have been made. The Timmins offer is said to have been more advantageous to the Sullivan people.

"The Sullivan mine, which has been inactive for some time, will be dewatered at once, and an examination commenced by the new interests.

As a general rule when playing at a No Trump declaration, the Declarer should choose as the first suit to be established that in which the combined hands are the longer. Like all good rules, however, it must have its exception.

In the above deal, which West plays at No Trump, he must choose for establishment the shortest of the three suits which adversaries did not open. The reason for this is readily seen. Although there are six Clubs in the combined hands, there are four in West's hand, two of which he must make since the Ace and King have been driven out while West still holds the Ace and Queen of Diamonds.

Although the combined hands hold seven Spades and seven Diamonds, each of those suits can take care of themselves as to top, while, if the adversaries are allowed to take a trick in either, the Ace and King of Clubs must also naturally make. These three tricks together with the two which North and South will obtain in Hearts would set the contract if one of the adversaries should happen to have Spades stopped a second time.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING

Contract: South, West and North pass and East opens with one Spade. South passes and West bids two No Trumps, for he has the Diamonds and Clubs surely stopped and also has a potential stopper in Hearts. Likewise the hand is much stronger than his partner would have any right to expect after he had passed as second hand. North passes and East bids three No Trumps, concluding the bidding.

Auction: South, West and North pass and East bids one Spade. South passes and West bids one No Trump, concluding the bidding.

THE PLAY

North opens his fourth best Heart. Although the Club suit is stronger as to actual top cards held, the Heart apparently presents the better opportunity of establishing one of the lower cards. If this can be done, the Ace of Clubs will assure an entry for the long Heart while the Jack of Hearts would probably not be an entry for the long Club even though it could be established.

East plays the seven and South takes the trick with the Ace. South returns the five of Hearts and North's Jack is taken by the King in Dummy. The ten of Clubs is now led from Dummy and South immediately goes up with the King in order to lead his remaining Heart while North still has a possible Ace of Clubs. This trick is taken by the ueen in Declarer's hand and the Queen of Clubs is led. North takes the trick with the Ace and leads his thirteenth Heart on which East discards a Diamond, South a Club and West the five of Spades.

East and West can now take the remaining tricks without resorting to a Spade finesse, for although South has four Diamonds to the ten, West's three of Diamonds may be discarded on one of East's two high Spades.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

WHY DO WE CALL IT "ZERO?"

In the wide realm of knowledge, the story of "Zero" is one of the most fascinating and astonishing.

For hundreds of centuries mankind did without the figure we know by the name of "zero." There was none. Then an unknown Hindoo mathematician, pondering over the imperfections of a new system of numeration, accidentally hit upon "zero" as an arithmetical device. To it he applied the Indian term "Sunya," meaning a "void."

In the tenth century, the Arabs adopted the Indian system of arithmetic and translated the Hindoo "Sunya" into the Arabic term for "blank" "sifr."

Spreading throughout the civilised world, the Indo-Arabic system of mathematics was introduced into Italy in the thirteenth century. In Italy the Arabic "sifr" became the Latin "zephirum," which, during the course of the next hundred years, was simplified to the form in which we have it today—"zero."
